WILSON WARNS AMERICANS TO LEAVE MEXICO AT ONCE BUT OPPOSES INTERVENTION AND DEMANDS NEUTRALITY

FRANK WILL REPLY TO DORSEY IN LONG PUBLIC STATEMENT

Convicted Factory Superintendent Preparing Exhaustive Answer to Solicitor General's Argument to Jury

DECLARES ARRAIGNMENT CONTAINS MANY FLAWS

Health Unimpaired, Frank Resumes Routine Life in Jail. Indictment of Conley as Accessory May Come Friday

Leo M. Frank, sentenced to hang on October 10 for the murder of Mary Phagan, is preparing an answer to the closing argument to the jury of Solicitor General Hugh M. Dorsey. He began work on the statement Wednesday morning and expects to have it ready for publication before the end of the week, perhaps by Thursday. It is said that he will take up each point made by the solicitor and give his version.

Frank is quoted by friends who called at his cell as having said that the solicitor's argument was as "full of holes as a sieve."

"Public sentiment against me overwhelmed the jury and made it impossible for them to give me a fair trial," the prisoner is reported to have remarked Wednesday morning before he began work on the document. "I want my version to go before the public and let them judge which is true. Their first opinion is sometimes unjust, but the ultimate decision of the world is usually right."

The announcement of Frank's intention was made when Rabbi David Marx, M. Klein and others left his cell early Wednesday afternoon. According to one of these gentlemen Frank has already started his work. He is provided with a short-hand transcription of Dorsey's remarkable argument and has announced that he will take it point by point and answer each exhaustively.

ARGUMENT DECIDED JURY.

Frank, it is said, is of the opinion that had the case gone to trial without argument—if it had closed when he completed his four-hour statement, he would have been acquitted in fifteen minutes. It was public feeling and the arguments of Frank A. Hooper and Solicitor Dorsey that led the jury to find him guilty, it is said.

Frank is of the opinion that, in the event of another trial, after public sentiment has changed, as he predicts it will, his time alibi would remain unbroken and convincing.

The convicted superintendent's work on the statement so far, it is said, has been the bisection of Solicitor Dorsey's argument. It is considered probable that when he has all the details more thoroughly in his mind and his reply mapped out, he will call upon his wife to take down in short hand at his dictation, the answer. Mrs. Frank is an expert stenographer and to her Frank dictated the original statement he made to the jury when he took the witness stand in his trial.

NO OUTWARD SIGN.

Conviction of murder and a sentence of death apparently have had no effect on Leo M. Frank's mode of living. Wednesday he resumed the daily routine which he practiced in his cell in the lower during the three months preceding his long trial. He is the same Frank, so far as outward appearance go, welcoming friends wholeheartedly, shunting interviewers and the curious. He

"OLD BILL" MINER HAS AGAIN ESCAPED DEATH

Veteran Train Robber Fools Prison Doctors as He Has So Many Guards

"Old Bill" Miner, the veteran bank burglar and train robber, who is serving a twenty-year sentence at the state prison farm near Milledgeville, and who had a life sentence hanging over him in the dominion of Canada, has given a slip to Death. Just as he has escaped from so many prisons and eluded so many guards "Old Bill" has side-stepped the Grim Reaper.

Ten days ago the physicians at the prison farm announced that "Old Bill" had but two or three days to live at the longest. He was very ill with gastritis and was unconscious. But the aged convict did not share the apprehensions of his keepers. He informed them that he was not going to die, and it was his stolid, unwavering determination to live that pulled him through the attack, for he is now much improved in health, although the doctors do not believe he will ever be able to leave his bed again.

The double shackles have been removed from "Old Bills" legs and he has been placed in a comfortable and cheerful room. He smiles when he notes the absence of the chains and anklets and jokingly remarks that "It is well enough as for I am too weak to even walk across the room, much less to make a getaway."

"Old Bills" present ailment dates from the time he made his escape from the prison farm in the early summer last year. He hid himself in the swamps of the Oconee river for more than two weeks and during this period lived upon blackberries and wild fruit. He also drank the swamp water, which brought about the stomach trou-

FREE, BRAM ASSERTS HE SERVED 17 YEARS FOR ANOTHER'S CRIME

Thomas M. C. Bram, One Time Mate on American Bark, "Herbert Fuller," Smiled His Way to Liberty

HE NOW ASKS WORK AND VINDICATION OF NAME

"It's Glorious, From Prison Life to Liberty," He Said as He Stepped From Prison—His Story

Wednesday morning there walked from the gates of the federal prison a thick-set man whose thin hair is white and whose mustache is white.

He was free—for the first time in seventeen years. He had come out to ask the world for a living, and to clear his name of a fearful triple crime which since the first day of his arrest he has maintained he did not commit.

His name is Bram—Thomas M. C. Bram, one time first mate of the Americano bark, "Herbert Fuller."

He smiled through his tears as he entered the sunlight of liberty and stepped into an automobile waiting for him at the gate. He smiled because a man well may feel happy in a moment like that. The tears were there because he had just bidden good-bye to his fellow prisoners and to Warden Moyer and to the other officials of the great fortress.

A few minutes later he was seeing the city of Atlanta for the first time—looking over her streets, gazing up at her buildings, watching her thousands of citizens hurrying at their daily tasks, marveling at the life and bustle of a city at whose very gates he had dwelt for years, but which he never had seen.

On his back were freeman's clothes that did not mark him as one apart from all the others whom he saw.

In his pocket were five dollars—the first money that had been there in seventeen years.

In his soul was a profound joy.

Behind him lay prison. Before him stretched the future, and mayhap in it a vindication of the name which he maintains has never been smirched by crime.

HE WANTS WORK.

He wanted nothing but work—a beginning; anything that a man may turn his hand to and earn his daily bread. That was all he asked: work—and a little time or a long time to prove beyond the doubt of any man that not he, Bram, had murdered three fellow humans.

Atlantians who had been working fervently for the imprisoned man because they believed he could not be guilty—they were there at the threshold of freedom to welcome him. Citizens of others waited. Their interest and their pledge that he would be given a chance, were responsible for his liberty.

In February of last year The Journal published, one Sunday, a story about a federal prisoner who was smiling his way to freedom; an unselfish prisoner who maintained his innocence, who lived and conducted himself like an honorable man though there was a prison uniform upon him; who nursed others when they were sick and cheered them when they were downcasted; who was more of a cherished associate than a prisoner even among the men whose duties made them guard him. That man was Bram. He was waiting then for the justice that he always has believed would triumph some day. He believes that the triumph is not yet complete. He believes that some day the world will say of him, "There goes an innocent man who served seventeen years in prison for a crime that he did not do."

KEPT ON HOPING.

Last Monday morning, when he went about his usual daily routine in the hospital kitchen of the prison, Bram faced a life in prison and a felon's grave at the end of it. Hope was within him; but he was a prisoner. He busied himself in the preparation of tempting edibles for the sick prisoners—in the brewing of broths and the toasting of golden bread and the cooking of simple healthful dishes.

That day, in Washington, his parole was signed. On Tuesday it reached the prison. And Wednesday morning he was liberated.

Twenty-four hours later a Journal man found him in the tailor shop of Freeman & Perkerson, at Five Points. George Freeman and Harry Perkerson, the two members of the firm, had been among those most active in his behalf. They were measuring him for a good suit of clothes.

"Ah, it's glorious!" exclaimed Bram, squaring his sturdy shoulders and breathing deeply of the open air. "From one extreme to the other, it has been. From prison for life, to liberty—it's a big change!"

HE TELLS HIS STORY.

Then he told again his story. It is an interesting one.

In June, 1896, the bark "Herbert Fuller," laden to the rails with a cargo of lumber, was bound down the Atlantic coast of this country from Boston to the River Platte, in South America. On the night of the 12th, First Mate Bram had taken his watch on deck at midnight. Aft, in the cabin, almost buried beneath lumber, slept the captain and his wife and the second mate of the vessel. There, too, was a passenger named Monks. Bram, standing on the lumber in the waist of the ship, was startled by a cry from the cabin, and ran back to ascertain its cause. Half way he met the passenger, Monks.

"There's been murder," shouted Monks. And in a few moments the mutilated bodies of the three slain

RESOLUTION PASSED AUTHORIZING PROBE OF SPEER CHARGES

House Adopts Clayton Resolution by Which Sub-Committee of Judiciary Committee Takes Up Case

BY RALPH SMITH.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 27.—The house passed unanimously today the Clayton resolution authorizing the judiciary committee to investigate the official conduct of Federal Judge Emory Speer of the south Georgia district. The action of the house marks the first direct move in a proceeding that may result in the impeachment of the well known jurist.

The passage of the resolution followed a short debate, during the course of which Judge Clayton summarized the charges against Speer, as contained in the report of the special examiner of the department of justice.

The consideration of the resolution was heard by one of the largest crowds that has visited the capitol this year. The galleries were packed with persons, who had been drawn to the capitol to hear President Wilson's message on the Mexican situation, and the Speer case served to entertain them pending the arrival of the president. After the passage of the resolution Judge Clayton told The Journal correspondent that owing to Judge Speer's ill health at this time, the judiciary committee will not begin its formal examination of witnesses until later in the fall. This work which begun, will be conducted by a special subcommittee, and sessions will be held probably at Macon, Savannah Augusta, Albany and Valdosta.

"The committee will not delay consideration of this case, however," said Judge Clayton. "The report of the department of justice will be considered in detail, and the general scope of the inquiry outlined so that there will be no delay when the inquiry is finally begun."

JUDGE CALLAWAY ON HAND.

Judge Enoch Howard Callaway, of Augusta, reached Washington this morning in the interest of Judge Emory Speer, whose impeachment by congress is threatened as a result of a sensa-

HERE'S WILSON'S MESSAGE ON MEXICAN SITUATION

WASHINGTON, Aug. 27.—President Wilson in person addressed congress today on the Mexican situation as follows:

"Gentlemen of the congress:

"It is clearly my duty to lay before you, very fully and without reservation, the facts concerning our present relations with the republic of Mexico. The deplorable posture of affairs in Mexico, I need not describe, but I deem it my duty to speak very frankly of what this government has done and shall seek to do in fulfillment of its obligations to Mexico herself, as a friend and neighbor, and to American citizens whose lives and vital interests are daily affected by the distressing conditions which now obtain beyond our southern border.

"Those conditions touch us very nearly. Not merely because they lie at our very doors. That, of course, makes us more vividly and more constantly conscious of them, and every instinct of neighborly interest and sympathy is aroused and quickened by them; but there is only one element in the determination of our duty. We are glad to call ourselves the friends of Mexico, and we shall. I hope, have many an occasion in happier times as well as in these days of trouble and confusion, to show that our friendship is genuine and disinterested, capable of sacrifice and every generous manifestation.

PEACE IN MEXICO MEANS MUCH TO UNITED STATES

"The peace, prosperity and contentment of Mexico means more, much more, to us than merely an enlarged field for our commerce and enterprise. They mean an enlargement of the field of self-government and the realization of the hopes and rights of a nation with whose best aspirations, so long suppressed and disappointed, we deeply sympathize. We shall yet prove to the Mexican people that we know how to serve them without first thinking how we shall serve ourselves.

"But we are not the only friends of Mexico. The whole world desires her peace and progress; and the whole world is interested as never before. Mexico lies at last where all the world looks on. Central America is about to be touched by the great routes of the world's trade and intercourse running free from ocean to ocean at the isthmus. The future has much in store for Mexico, as for all the states of Central America. But the best gifts can come to her only if she be ready and free to receive them and to enjoy them honorably.

AMERICA WAITS ON MEXICAN DEVELOPMENT

"America, in particular—America north and south and upon both continents—waits upon the development of Mexico and that development can be sound and lasting only if it be the product of a genuine freedom, a just and ordered government founded upon law. Only a can it be peaceful or fruitful of the benefits of peace. Mexico has a great and enviable future before her, if only she choose and attain the paths of honest constitutional government.

"The present circumstances of the republic, I deeply regret to say, do not seem to promise even the foundations of such a peace. We have waited many months, months full of peril and anxiety, for the condition there to improve and they have not improved. They have grown worse rather. The territory in some sort controlled by the provisional authorities at Mexico City has grown smaller, not larger; the prospect of the pacification of the country, even by arms, has seemed to grow more and more remote; and its pacifi-

HE TELLS MEXICANS PLAINLY UNITED STATES WON'T STAND FOR HARM TO ANY AMERICAN

Nation's Executive Bares Mexic Conditions to Both Branches of Congress and Declares for Strict Neutrality Forbidding the Exportation of Arms or Munitions of War of Any Kind From Any Part of the United States Into Mexico

BARES HUERTA'S REJECTIONS OF TERMS AS PROPOSED AND DEMAND BY HIM OF IMMEDIATE RECOGNITION

United States Must Be Patient, Declares Mr. Wilson in Personal Talk to Congress—Reading of Startling Message Marked Ocasion Not Paralleled in More Than Century. Huerta's Reply Rejecting Peace Proposals Read

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 27.—President Wilson appeared in person before congress today and revealed to the world details of this nation's efforts to bring about peace in Mexico; the facts concerning Huerta's rejection of the peace proposals and the policy to be pursued now by this government.

The president announced the position of the United States to be as follows:

No armed intervention.

Strict neutrality, forbidding the exportation of arms or munitions of war of any kind from the United States to any part of the republic of Mexico.

Under no circumstances to be "the partisans of either party to the contest that now distracts Mexico, or constitute ourselves the virtual umpire between them."

URGES AMERICANS TO LEAVE.

To urge all Americans to leave Mexico at once and to assist them to get away in every way possible.

To let every one in Mexico who assumes to exercise authority know that this government "shall vigilantly watch the fortunes of those Americans who can not get away, and shall hold those responsible for their sufferings and losses to a definite reckoning."

"That can and will be made plain beyond the possibility of an understanding," declared the president.

Negotiations for the friendly mediation of the United States are open to resumption at any time upon either the initiative of this government or of Mexico.

REPLY OF HUERA GOVERNMENT.

Accompanying the president's address was the reply of the Huerta government rejecting the American proposals. It was written by Foreign Minister Gamboa. It suggested the following alternative policy for the United States:

Reception of a Mexican ambassador in Washington.

That the United States send a new ambassador to Mexico, without restraints.

Strict observance of the neutrality laws and "see to it that no material or monetary assistance is given to the rebels."

The unconditional recognition of the Huerta government.

OCCASION UNPARALLELED.

The occasion had not been parallelled in more than a century. No other president since George Washington has appeared before congress on a foreign affair. The senate and house assembled in the house chamber. The president stood at the clerk's desk and read his address in his easy conversational tone.

First pointing out that it was his duty, "without reservation," to lay all the facts concerning the relations of the United States with Mexico, the president outlined what the United States had done "as a friend and neighbor." The president declared that "we shall yet prove to the Mexican people that we know how to serve them without first thinking how we shall serve ourseves."

President Wilson outlined how "war and disorder, devastation and confusion seem to threaten to become the settled fortune of the distracted country." As friends, he said, this country could wait no longer for a solution of things in the sister republic.

INSTRUCTIONS TO LIND.

President Wilson read his instructions to John Lind.

"All America cries out for a settlement," read the note Mr. Lind bore to Mexico. "A satisfactory settlement seems to us to be conditioned on—"An immediate cessation of fighting throughout Mexico, a definite armistice solemnly entered into and scrupulously observed.

"Security given for an early and free election in which all will agree to take part.

"The consent of General Huerta to bind himbself not to be a candidate for election as president of the republic at this election and

"The agreement of all parties to abide by the results of the election and cooperation the most loyal way in organizing and supporting the new administration."

The president said he was led to believe the Huerta government rejected the American proposals "because the authorities at Mexico City had been grossly misinformed and misled," upon the spirit of the American people in the matter and "upon a mistaken belief that the present administration did not speak for the people of the United States." So long as such a misunderstanding continued, the president asserted that this nation "could only await the time of their awakening to a realization of the real facts."

In conclusion the president predicted that the "steady pressure of moral forces will before many days break the barriers of pride and prejudice down and we shall triumph as Mexico's friends sooner than we could triumph as her enemies."

Senor Gamboa's note which was appended to the president's address as an exhibit was not read by the president but furnished to congress as a printed document.

MRS. WILSON PRESENT.

Mrs. Wilson and her daughters and Secretary Bryan were in the executive gallery. Other members of the cabinet were on the floor. Every head of the chamber had been bowed and the solemnity of the occasion was impressive as the chaplain, Rev. Henry D. Couden, in his prayer, said:

"Rule Thou in the hearts of our rulers and sway the minds of these, Thy servants, that as a nation we may move forward to all that is pure and noble until all the peoples of all the world shall recognize the purity of our motives."

Although a deafening volley of applause rang out as the president appeared, he proceeded into the reading of his message without delay.

The president finished reading at 1:21 o'clock. Another great roar of applause broke out. Then the joint ses-

MAY BE FIVE IN RACE FOR MACON MAYORALTY

Three Candidates Already in Field—Two More Prominently Mentioned

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

MACON, Ga., Aug. 27.—Municipal politics is daily arousing more interest. With three men in the race for mayor, in addition to the aldermanic ticket of each, voters of the city find plenty of time to debate among themselves the probable success of the different candidates.

Bridges Smith's supporters have opened campaign headquarters at a prominent place on Cherry street, and the Wallace Miller following have done likewise. A. L. Dasher, Sr., third candidate, has his headquarters in the Georgia Life building.

Last night a meeting of the Young Men's Business ticket, headed by Wallace Miller, was held, and further plans for his campaign were discussed. The meeting was largely attended.

It is being rumored that Attorney Julian Urquhart, former recorder, will announce himself a candidate for mayor on September 1. Colonel W. A. Huff is also mentioned as a probable candidate, making five in the race.

Annual Hay Fever Convention Meets; Oldest Sneezer 88

(By Associated Press.)

BETHLEHEM, N. H., Aug. 27.—The United States Hay Fever association began its annual convention here today with delegates from many eastern cities present to exchange reports of their sneezing affliction.

The oldest sneezer present is Major Richard Muckle, of Philadelphia, whose eighty-third birthday was celebrated at a dinner by twenty-five officers of the Hay Fever association.

Major Muckle has been a sufferer from hay fever for seventy-five years and was for seven years president of the association, the fortieth anniversary of which is marked by the present convention.

"BITING" FLY NO CAUSE OF INFANTILE PARALYSIS

Director of California's Hygienic Laboratory Explodes Report of Danger

(By Associated Press.)

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Aug. 27.—The stable or "biting" fly, which has been suspected by scientists of being a factor in infantile paralysis, was exonerated in a report to the state board of health today by Dr. W. A. Sawyer, director of the state hygienic laboratory.

Dr. Sawyer's report is the result of a series of seven experiments in which he and Prof. Henas, of the University of California, were unable to transmit infantile paralysis to sick or well monkeys through the agency of the suspected insect.

The experiments were ordered after the announcement last September by Dr. Rosenau, of Harvard, that under laboratory conditions it was possible for the fly to transmit the disease.

LONG, FRUITLESS SEARCH FOR GIRL'S ASSAILANT

Maryland Posse Scours Country All Night Long in Vain Effort

(By Associated Press.)

BETHESDA, Md., Aug. 27.—Empty handed, Deputy Sheriff Whalen and posse returned today after an all-night search for the strange man who attacked the pretty seventeen-year-old daughter of a prosperous farmer. He seized the girl late yesterday, while the girl was returning to her home along a lonely road. She fought the man, who was roughly dressed, and her struggles and cries for help eventually frightened him off. She is resting easily today, although still under the care of a physician.

The police of Washington and Baltimore were notified, as were the authorities of the surrounding counties. The arrest of the assailant is expected before night.

FORTY-FIVE TEAMS IN FINALS OF RIFLE SHOOT

Elimination Work Consumes Time Wednesday—Team Match Thursday

(By Associated Press.)

CAMP PERRY, Ohio, Aug. 27.—Forty-five teams were lined up today for their final tryout on the ranges preliminary to the opening of the national team match tomorrow morning. Elimination work will be completed by this evening.

The French, Swedish and Swiss teams were scheduled to arive today to take part in the international team matches.

NEW YORK PAINTERS ON STRIKE, 15,000 STRONG

NEW YORK, Aug. 27.—Residents of Fifth avenue and other fashionable sections who went away for the summer leaving their houses in the hands of decorators may find upon their return that the work has been completely tied up by the strike of the International Painters and Paperhangers' union, which began all over the city yesterday. It is the largest strike of painters New York ever had. According to Max Gafft, manager of the union, 15,000 workers went out and 5,000 more are expected to quit today.

Double Murder Arouses Citzens of Nashville

Farmer Returns From Revival to Find Wife and Niece Murdered—Bloodhounds on Trail of Slayer of Women

NASHVILLE, Tenn. Aug. 27.—Meager reports of a terrible double murder in the Rock Springs neighborhood, four miles west of the village of Smyrna, reached Nashville today. The victims were Mrs. William Cook, wife of a prosperous farmer, and a niece, Miss Lucy Stanford, a young woman teacher in a nearby school.

Last night Mr. Cook attended a revival service at Smyrna, returning home about 10:30 o'clock. Mrs. Cook was not in her room, but thinking she was in her niece's room, he retired. When he awoke this morning he saw no signs of his wife having retired, but going out on the back porch he found her dead body covered with blood.

In the niece's room was the latter's dead body. The wife's body had apparently been dragged from the girl's room. Cook gave the alarm at once, a neighbor telephoning to the sheriff of Rutherford county at Murfreesboro, who went to the scene with bloodhounds.

Early reports did not indicate the probable motive of the murder.

CONDEMN POUNDS OF COLD STORAGE MEAT AND EGGS

New Cold Storage Act Results in Ordering of Arrest of Dealers

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Aug. 27.—More than 100,000 pounds of meat and eggs which have been in the cold storage houses of this city since 1906 were condemned yesterday by agents for the state dairy and food commission and warrants were issued today for the arrest of the dealers responsible for the "unfit products."

In addition, 40,000 pounds of game which was stored in 1911, was tagged as unfit for food.

Under the new cold storage act, which went into effect August 14, there is a penalty of $500, or imprisonment or both for storing beef more than four months; pork, sheep and lambs, six months; veal three months; butter and fish, nine months; fowls (drawn) five months; undrawn, ten months.

STORE KEEPER ASSAULTED FOR NOT GIVING CREDIT

Awaked at 3 o'Clock in Morning, Asked for Credit and Refused

ROME, Ga., Aug. 27.—When J. L. Anderson, an aged storekeeper of North Lindale, refused to extend credit to an intoxicated stranger at 3 o'clock Sunday morning, he was roundly cursed and roughly dealt with, as was his seventy-two-year-old wife. The offender in the case is said to be a well-known young white man of Lindale.

Warrants have been issued, charging him with carrying a concealed weapon, and with assault and battery. According to the merchant's story he was aroused at 3 a. m. and asked to put up crackers, cheese and other edibles. When he had complied with the request, he was coolly told to charge them and when he refused to do so, and retained his hold on the lunch, he was threatened with a pistol.

Court At Rome Looked Much Like a Pink Tea

ROME, Ga., Aug. 27.—When the case of Rose Miller, alleged kleptomaniac, with a passion for stealing only flowers, was called in police court yesterday afternoon, the court room resembled a 5 o'clock tea rather than a forum of justice. The case against the woman was for the alleged theft of flowers from the veranda of Mrs. Paul C. Jack. The flowers were found in her possession by police officers, and with them other plants, alleged to have been stolen.

The prisoner stated that she had purchased the plants from a white man for $1.25. The police officers failed to show that she had stolen the flowers, and she was not bound over. Other warrants have been taken out against her.

TO PROHIBIT CONGRESS MEETING DURING SUMMER

WASHINGTON, Aug. 27.—The tedious grind of a summer session of congress in Washington heat has had its effect on the new members of the house. Representative Thompson, of Illinois, a Progressive, indicated this by introducing a bill to prevent summer sessions. He proposes that congress shall assemble once every year and that in the year of the long session it shall convene in October instead of December, thus preventing extending the session into the heated term. Congress, under the bill, would meet in December only in congressional election years.

Girl Who Survived Messina Disaster Restored to Father

(By Associated Press.)

CHICAGO, Aug. 27.—Joe Andranco, happier than he has been for years, is in New York waiting the arrival today from Italy, of his daughter, Tillie, who until a few weeks ago, he believed, was lost in the disaster at Messina. It was nine years ago that Joe kissed Tillie "goodby" and left her with her grandparents in Messina. Then the earthquake came and no trace of the girl could be found. She was mourned as dead.

But Andraco often dreamed that his child was alive and two months ago when he procured his naturalization papers he told United States Commissioner Foote about his dreams. The commissioner sent a letter to the consul general at Genoa who located Tillie in a city hospital there.

The consul general learned that Tillie had been caught in some wreckage and washed to a hillside by the tidal wave at Messina. Ther eshe was found three days later by Queen Helena, who accompanied Red Cross nurses to the scene of the catastrophe.

BRAVERY IN NAVY GETS PRAISE FROM DANIELS

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 27.—Five heroic enlisted men of the navy saved the lives of three drowning persons and their bravery has been commended by Secretary Daniels in letters which they will receive today.

E. H. Smith, a machinist's mate, of the torpedo boat Jenkins, T. J. Glavin, a quartermaster, and W. D. R. Proffit, a hospital steward of the torpedo boat Perkins rescued and resuscitated an enlisted man who went to the bottom at Newport, R. I., when a flat bottom boat sank. Two men were drowned but Smith and Glavin searched until they found the man they rescued.

Otto Hutlanel, boatswain's mate on the battleship Kansas, will receive commendation for rescuing a shipmate who accidentally had fallen into the water. Timothy Collins, seaman on the Wasp, gains Mr. Daniel's commendation for jumping overboard and rescuing a small boy who fell off a pier in New York.

AVIATOR WOULD CIRCLE ENGLAND AND SCOTLAND

Tries Flight of 1,600 Miles to Win Prize of $25,000

(By Associated Press.)

ORAN, Scotland, Aug. 27.—Harry G. Hawker, English aviator, who is trying to fly round the coasts of England and Scotland, a distance of approximately 1,600 miles, within seventy-two hours, left here early this morning to finish his journey.

He had to go 700 miles within the next twenty-four hours to win the prize of $25,000.

In the first six stages of his flight he covered 826 miles in 555 minutes' flying time.

Hawker had to alight at two more control stations before reaching the finishing point near Southampton. His next stop was to be Dublin, the second Falmouth.

Hawker ascended in his hydro-aeroplane at 6:40. Engine trouble caused him to descend on the Irish coast at Larne, a distance of about 110 miles, and the airman lost a precious hour in effecting repairs. His flight was stopped again near Portraine, twelve miles from the control station here, by the fracture of one o fthe wings of his hydro-acroplane. Coast guards went to his assistance.

It was his intention to fly today from Oban by way of Dublin to Falmouth, a distance of 502 miles, thus leaving 202 miles for his final dash in the morning from Falmouth to Southampton, where he must arrive at 9:30 tomorrow morning in order to be successful.

Officer "Pulled" Brother and Now Must Arrest Son

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

ROME, Ga., Aug. 27.—A. P. Duncan, bailiff of the Lindale militia district, in this county, has a reputation for impartially in the enforcement of the law, he having been called upon during recent weeks to arrest a number of his close kinspeople.

Now he has in his possession a warrant for his own son, Clifford Duncan, charged with using obscene language in the presence of females, and the bailiff asserts that it will be served at once and his son brought into court.

Not long ago, when he resided in Murray county, he arrested his own brother and brought him before Judge Fite. Duncan states that it is not pleasant to arrest one's one kinpeople, but that sometimes it has to be done.

Hand Bag Found

A woman's hand bag, that he believes was snatched by a thief, rifled and then thrown away, was found in the rear of 185 East Fair street Wednesday by Detective Croker. Remaining in it was the card of Mrs. H. F. Mattox. The owner may have it by calling at the police station.

FOUND WITH THROAT CUT; WIFE ARRESTED

Joseph Sharp, on Point of Starting to New Orleans, Has Throat Slashed

(By Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, Aug. 27.—Joseph Sharp, who had been employed as a steward in a restaurant here pending the settlement of the estate left by his parents in New Orleans, was found dead with his throat cut last night.

Although Mrs. Sharp insisted that her husband had killed himself after slashing her with a razor, the woman was arrested charged with murder. Mrs. Sharp was badly injured. The couple had quarreled, declared the wife, and in a fit of temper, Sharp attacked her as she lay in bed. She telephoned for aid before collapsing from weakness due to loss of blood.

The charge against the woman, the police said, was prompted by contradictory stories she told and by her statement that Sharp after he cut his throat, exclaimed: "Well, I did it!" This, said the physician who examined the body for the authorities, was an impossibility, as death from the throat gash had been practically instantaneous.

SLAYER IS RUSHED TO ATLANTA FOR SAFETY

Fearing Lynching, Meriwether County Sends Black to Atlanta Station House

Walter Brewster, negro slayer of L. C. Marchman, prominent Meriwether county farmer, is held in the Atlanta police station. The black was captured in the northern part of Heard county by J. M. Wingo, a farmer, at whose house he sought refuge, and later in the day was brought to this city to save him from possible violence at the hands of persons who lynched another negro, suspected of complicity in the killing. Sheriff J. B. Jerrell, of Meriwether county, brought the negro to Atlanta. The prisoner admits his guilt.

Marchman was forty-two years old and leaves a wife and five children. He had lived near Greenville, where he had large holdings, his entire life.

The crime was committed last Wednesday. According to Brewster's version of the affair, on that day Marchman upbraided him for neglecting his work. Brewster drew a revolver, aimed it at the farmer, and pulled the trigger. The chamber was empty and Marchman took the weapon from him, subdued him and put him in a buggy with the intention of turning him over to the authorities at Greenville. The trip to town led by the negro's house. When they reached this place he sprang from the buggy, ran into the shack, procured a shotgun, and shot the farmer as he was stepping from the buggy to give chase.

He fired twice, one load entering the hip and another the back of the head. Brewster ran five miles to the home of Mr. Wingo, who captured him when he appealed to some negro hands for a night's lodging.

Virgil Swanson, another negro, sought by the Meriwether county officers as an accomplice, was lynched last Monday night. His bullet-riddled body was discovered hanging from a tree in a lonely spot Tuesday. The coroner held an inquest and a jury found that the negro had come to his death at the hands of persons unknown.

ALL THREE JUDGES OF ATLANTA CIRCUIT AWAY

Judge Bell Will Return Thursday, However, Ready to Sign Papers

A precedent of a number of years is being broken by the absence from Atlanta of all three judges of the superior court, Atlanta circuit.

When the courts are not in session it has been customary for years for one of the three judges to remain in the city for the purpose of signing injunctions and similar papers, where time plays an important part, and to hear habeas corpus and similar cases.

Judge George L. Bell, who has been absent for only about a week, will return Thursday, however, and the lawyers again will have a chance to request his signature on official papers.

Judge Bell is in North Carolina. Judge W. D. Ellis is visiting relatives in South Carolina, and Judge John T. Pendleton is making a tour of the north and east.

MACON BOOSTER TRAIN TO TOUR SOUTH GEORGIA

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

MACON, Ga., Aug. 27.—Business men from the chamber of commerce have decided on another booster train for Macon. Those interested in the trip first proposed to operate the train through the north, but owing to the inability to secure a sufficient number of passengers, it was decided to operate the train through central and south Georgia.

An itinerary has already been decided on. Some of the largest towns in central and south Georgia will be visited. The train will leave Macon on the morning of September 16 and return four days later. A hundred passengers in addition to the Macon drum and bugle corps will be carried along.

MUSICAL BENEFIT TO BE GIVEN AT AUDITORIUM

Proceeds Will Go to Help Festival Association and Fifth Regiment Band

A brass band and organ concert will be given at the auditorium Thursday evening of this week, under the joint auspices of the Fifth Regiment band, national guard of Georgia, and the Atlanta Music Festival association.

The proceds of the concert will be for the benefit of the band and association. The association will use its part in helping pay for the free Sunday concerts, which have become a permanent popular feature of Atlanta's musical life. The program will be as follows:

March, "Grand Entry."—Barber.
Overture, "Tancredi"—G. Rossini.
Descriptive, "A Hunting Scene"—P. Bucalossi.
Selection, "The Sunny South"—Lampe.
Organ Selection—Sheldon.
Overture, "Rosamonde" (organ accomp.)—Schubert.
Medley-overture, "Remicks Hits 1913"—Lampe.
Grand Fantasia. "Home, Sweet Home the World Over." (Dedicated to John Phillip Sousa, descriptive of the manner in which he had to play "Home, Sweet Home" to each nation on his famous "around the world tour.").

The band leader will be Chief Musician C. E. Barber, of the Fifth regiment, and the organist will be Charles Sheldon

Owing to the keen popular interest in the concert, particularly among friends of the Fifth regiment, it has been decided to make the prices of admission 25 cents and 10 cents. It is hoped that the auditorium will be crowded. The program, it will be noted, is of a decidedly popular tone. The band selection, a grand march, is the composition of Mr. Barber.

BLEASE GREETS SULZER AS NEW YORK GOVERNOR

COLUMBIA, S. C., Aug. 27.—In a letter today oGvernor Blease recognezd William Sulzer as governor of New York and scored Lieutenant Governor Glynn for his conduct in attempting to assume the duties of the office. Governor Blease states that he too has felt the sting of persecution though impeachment was not attempted, reference being to the action of the investigation committe eof last summer.

"Trust in God and the white people and you will always be a winner," is the South Carolina governor's advice to the impeached governor of New York.

PRIMARY DATE A TRICK, SAYS MAYOR WOODWARD

Says City Political Ring Is Striving to Perpetuate Its Control of Council

Mayor Woodward asserts that the action of the city executive committee in fixing September 30 as the date for the city primary reveals a plot by Atlanta's city political ring to perpetuate its control of the general council.

City primaries in the past have usually been held toward the latter part of October. This year the city executive committee moved the date back nearly a month and decreed that the registration for the primary shall close on September 5.

"It is an outrage," Mayor Woodward declares. "The politicians are afraid of the people. They won't trust their political future to the voters."

It is the mayor's belief that the politicians, fearing a new charter ticket in all wards, quietly lined up the situation and then had the date for the primary hurried up in the hope that the advocates of a new charter would not have time to formulate a definite platform and bring out candidates in sympathy therewith.

Also, Mayor Woodward declares war on the new charter framed by council, which was passed by the recent legislature and which will be submitted to the people at a special election set by the legislature for September 24.

"It is time for the people to wake up and take an interest in city affairs," says the mayor. "Despite the fact that the politicians have fixed a date to suit themselves, for the primary, it is still not too late to bring out a ticket of candidates who have no political axes to grind and whose only interest will be to give the people a straightforward, businesslike administration of city affairs."

ATLANTA AS MARKET INTERESTS THE WORLD

Chamber of Commerce Industrial Bureau Receives Letters From All Nations

The world is becoming interested in Atlanta as a manufacturing and commercial center. The statement may seem broad, but letters which are coming daily to the new Industrial Bureau of the chamber of commerce indicate that the city's fame is being spread to many portions of the globe.

South American, European and Asiatic countries are among those sending inquiries as to trade conditions and resources of Atlanta.

Tuesday, W. H. Leahy, of the bureau, received a letter from Valencia, Spain, inquiring as to the market for peanuts, saffron, almonds, onions, and other products. The writer said that he was much interested in securing information along these lines and also information about general trade conditions.

A few days ago a letter was received from South America, asking about the general trade condition and for specific information about Atlanta's chamber of commerce and the industrial bureau.

These are but two of hundreds of letters that are pouring in, and the bureau is steadily widening the scope of its correspondence and its usefulness.

DR. BARNARD SPEAKS AT TABERNACLE WEDNESDAY

Rev. John E. Barnard, of Franklin, N. C., will preach at the Tabernacle Baptist church Wednesday evening. In his discourse he will tell of the meeting at Anniston, Ala., at which 500 converts were gained in one night.

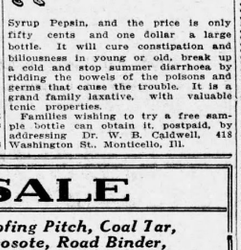
Now Are the Days Children Need Care

Summer Heat Dangerous to Little Ones Whose Bowels Are Neglected

A mother cannot do better for her children than to teach them from their earliest days regularity of the bowels. Regularity can be promoted without the child knowing it by watching its food and by so varying the food that all the elements of digestion are used, when nature will do the rest. The future health of the child depends upon this.

But try as you will there are times when the little one will become constipated and bilious. In hot weather immediate attention is necessary, as many serious diseases result from stuffed-up bowels. Don't give salts or cathartics or purgatives, as they are too harsh, but try a gentle, pleasant-tasting bowel stimulant like Dr. Caldwell's Cyrup Pepsin. It has been used by the children of this as well as a former generation, and thousands of families are proud to speak well of it, among whom we can mention Mrs. Jennie Reynolds, 909 Jackson st., Lynchburg, Va., who is glad to recommend it, and Mr. Chas. W. Allen, Mamer, Tex., who writes that he often felt 100 years old, but feels younger now than his years.

Every druggist sells Dr. Caldwell's



Syrup Pepsin, and the price is only fifty cents and one dollar a large bottle. It will cure constipation and biliousness in young or old, break up a cold and stop summer diarrhoea by ridding the bowels of the poisons and germs that cause the trouble. It is a grand family laxative, with valuable tonic properties.

Families wishing to try a free sample bottle can obtain it, postpaid, by addressing Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 418 Washington St., Monticello, Ill.

SULZER BARES HIS TROUBLES TO O'NEAL

"The Grafters Are Hounding Me," He Writes, "but They Cannot Hurt Me"

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

MONTGOMERY, Aug. 27.—Governor Sulzer, of New York, in a measure, has laid bare his troubles to Governor Emmet O'Neal, in a letter to Alabama's chief executive. The letter was in answer to a communication sent to the New York governor inviting him to attend the governor's conference.

In his letter of invitation Governor O'Neal expressed his sympathy for Governor Sulzer in the serious trouble he is now having with the New York legislature and the Tammany Hall forces and expressed the hope that the matter might be amicably adjusted.

Governor Sulzer's reply to Governor O'Neal's letter was a lengthy one and he took occasion to deny the charges made against him by "boss" Murphy and other Tammany leaders and declared that he has no fear of the ultimate result in his struggle against the forces that are trying to down him. Governor Sulzer wrote that he is beset with the greatest difficulties; that his enemies are seeking to destroy him for political reasons only, but "they will not, in the last analysis," hurt him.

"You have no conception of the obstacles in my way," wrote Governor Sulzer. "Neither have you any idea of the difficulties that beset me. Often I am sick at heart; but then words of assurance like yours come to hand and I take renewed hope, go forward with determination, come what may.

"When the political boss found out that he could not control me and make me a rubber stamp, he did everything in his power to destroy me politically. However, I have no fear of the ultimate result. The truth will prevail and right makes might. In the future, as in the past, you and all my friends can rely on me to do my duty as I see the right and God gives me the light regardless of personal consequences.

"The grafters are hounding me. Mr. Murphy and his hirelings are traducing me and trying in every conceivable way to get mud to throw at me. However, I can assure you there is little or nothing in the charges made against me. Most of the stuff Murphy and his agents put in the newspapers about me is baseless and pure fabrication. They know this and they know it will not in the last analysis hurt me; but they also know it disconcerts me and worries Mrs. Sulzer.

"When Boss Murphy told me he would destroy me if I did not do his bidding, I defied him to do his worst, and declared I would continue to do my best. No matter what comes of me, the fight for good government will go on, and ultimately will triumph. With the aid of the decent people of the state I shall go forward. I cannot do otherwise."

SHORTER COLLEGE LOOKS FORWARD TO A BIG YEAR

Many Improvements Made Throughout Summer—Anticipate Large Registration

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

ROME, Ga., Aug. 27.—Great improvements are being made at Shorter college, Rome, Ga., during the vacation months. Workmen have been busy giving the walls of every room a beautiful coat of fresh paint; all bath rooms have been enamelled, and all floors, every one of which is of reinforced concrete, have been freshly painted.

The grounds are also receiving attention; a large out-of-door gymnasium, 150x400 feet, is probably the greatest thing that the college has ever done for its students. There will be room for four or five tennis courts, several basket ball games, and sufficient space for all kinds of gymnastics, calisthenics, etc. Shorter is spending several thousand dollars on its athletic field, which will be one of the best in the south. Electric lights will be arranged on the grounds, so that the girls may use the tennis courts and basketball grounds in the evening.

The attendance for the next session at Shorter will be very large. The registration is far in excess of that of any previous year, and it is predicted that many girls who apply late will be refused admission because all rooms will be taken.

EASTERN RAILROADS TO ARBITRATE SATURDAY

Seth Low Will Be Chairman of Board Appointed Under Newlands Act

(By Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, Aug. 27.—Preparations have been made by the managing conference committee of the eastern railroads for the arbitration hearings by the board of six appointed under the Newlands act. Briefs have been prepared by the managers and by the representatives of the trainmen and conductors for submission to the arbitrators.

It is expected that Seth Low, one of the two arbitrators selected to represent the public, will be made chairman of the board of arbitration. Elisha Lee, chairman of the conference committee of managers, will act as attorney for the railroads and A. B. Garretson, of the Order of Railroad Conductors, and W. G. Lee, of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, will represent the men.

The hearings will be held Saturday in this city.

Who will become the bride of Mr. Thornton M. Fincher Wednesday afternoon.

—Photograph by Mead.

Before Wednesday night, Miss Thelma Harrell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Harrell, will be Mrs. Thornton M. Fincher, and on her way to Canada for an excessive wedding trip.

The announcement of the approaching wedding, which marks the culmination of a unique romance, will come as a distinct surprise to the friends of the young people. As a matter of fact, Mr. and Mrs. Harrell and Miss Harrell's brother, Frank Harrell, manager of the Aragon hotel, were very much surprised Wednesday morning when apprised of the intentions of the young couple.

The fact that an engagement existed was an open secret to the members of the family, but the thought of such an early marriage had never entered their minds. The date had not been set and no definite plans had been decided upon until early in the morning.

Mr. Fincher, who is prominently known in real estate, investment, and loan circles of the city, found that it was necessary for him to make an extended business trip through the east and parts of Canada that would possibly keep him away from Atlanta for several weeks. This he told Miss Harrell and they were not long in deciding to get married at once rather than be separated for so long a time. Miss Harrell immediately told her parents that she and Mr. Fincher had decided to marry without the formality of a big wedding, invitations and "sich" being counted unessential.

And so it was settled in less time than it takes to tell it. While the bride-to-be was down town shopping, the hotel attaches were busily engaged in decorating the parlor of the Harrell apartments in a suitable and attractive manner for th occasion. The wedding will be a simple one, with only the immediate families of the young couple present. The ceremony is planned for 4:30 o'clock and a little more than a half hour later the bride and groom will be on their way north.

Miss Harrell is one of Atlanta's most attractive and popular young women. She is fond of outdoor exercises and spends most of her time in the open air, motoring, swimming, golfing, or playing tennis. She is an accomplished horsewoman and can ride with the best of them.

Upon their return to Atlanta, the bride and groom will be at home to their friends at the Aragon hotel.

Uniform Circulars Tempted Not Vet To Join the Army

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

DALTON, Ga., Aug. 27.—Declaring that he has seen enough army service in fighting for the southern Confederacy, G. W. Hamilton, of this city, refused to be tempted by the attractive pictures of uniforms in catalogues sent him by numerous uniform houses of the country.

Mr. Hamilton began receiving the catalogues Monday, each train bringing in a new supply, but he put them all aside, as he has about all he can do to look after the Crown Cotton mills, of which he is president, and which is the biggest manufacturing plant here.

The trouble was started when a news dispatch from Washington made the announcement that of the applicants who stood the examination for second lieutenant in the marine corps, G. W. Hamilton, of Dalton, Ga., was one of the successful ones. A telegram received here today from Congressman Lee says the G. W. Hamilton who will be commissioned is a resident of New York state.

Barbarian's Word For "Umpire" Was "Thief or Robber"

(By Associated Press.)

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Aug. 27.—Franklin Dalate, eleven-year-old son of an Igorrote head hunter of northern Luzon, arrived here in the care of Rev. A. E. Sibley, an Episcopal missionary, who has spent five years among the Luzon tribesmen and is educating the boy.

The Filipino lad and his guardian were singled out by interviewers when the vessel docked and the young man promptly remarked that he knew about the United States. He understood baseball, he said, though he called it "mika fula."

"So you know baseball?" one questioner remarked. "What do you call th umpire?"

"Tell him," Mr. Sibley prompted when the youngster hesitated.

"Thief sometimes, but robber mostly." the boy answered.

VERY PAINFUL ECZEMA ON HANDS

So Sore Could Hardly Put Them in Water, Pimples on Arms Itched and Burned Badly. Cured by Cuticura Soap and Ointment.

Bienville, La. — "I was troubled with eczema in my hands for several years. The skin would break and look like it had been cut with a knife and my hands were so sore I could hardly bear to put them in water and could hardly use them. When I used them the blood would run out. They would heal a little and then they would get worse than ever again. They were very painful. The eczema got to breaking out on my arms in pimples which itched and burned very badly.

"I used different remedies, also used all kinds of facial creams and ——— on my hands and arms and I did not get any relief until I used Cuticura Soap and Ointment. I cured my hands and eczema with Cuticura Soap and Ointment." (Signed) Miss Fannie Mostiller, Oct. 5, 1912.

GOVERNORS IN SESSION ON TOP MOUNT MANITOU

9,500 Feet Above Sea Level, in Shadow of Pike's Peak, Executives Meet

(By Associated Press.)

COLORADO SPRINGS, Aug. 27.—An executive session, 9,500 feet above sea level, on top of Mount Manitou, in the shadow of Pike's Peak, was a feature of today's program of the governors' conference.

An improvised banquet hall was arranged to accommodate several hundred and luncheon was served to visiting executives in the mountainside pavilion. Burro races along the mountain trails, in which the governors took keen delight, were a feature unexpectedly provided for their entertainment.

Governor Ernest Lister, of Washington, spoke on "A State Department of Efficiency and Economy," taking the place of Governor Cruce, of Oklahoma, on the program.

CHARLTON FACES TRIAL FOR MURDER OF WIFE

Policemen and Carabineers Will Guard Him When He Arrives in Naples

(By Associated Press.)

NAPLES, Italy, Aug. 27.—Porter Charlton, when he arrives on Thursday to be tried for the murder of his wife at Lake Como three years ago, will be taken in charge by a body of policemen and carabineers, according to orders issued today by the prefect of police.

The instructions state that Charlton must not be allowed to communicate with outsiders.

Neapolitans consider Charlton's arrival a good opportunity to gamble in the local lottery. Booths spread over the city display large placards today calling on the people to "play the numbers corresponding to the American millionaire who murdered his wife—18, 46, 90."

This means that those desiring to engage in the lottery should select the tickets, the numbers of which end with the figures mentioned.

The Italians give a designation to each figure up to ten in a lottery and usually choose the word which strikes their fancy. In this instance the number 18 corresponds with the word "blood," 46 to "ill assorted couple" and 90 to "lake."

MOTION FILMS TO SHOW BUSY BEE MAKING HONEY

U. S. Department of Agriculture Getting Out "Movie" on Insects

WASHINGTON, Aug. 27.—New fields of endeavor for "the busy little bee" that is said in posey to "Improve each shining hour" have been found by the scientists of the department of agriculture, who announced today they had completed a motion picture film of the winged workers engaged in honey maying.

The film is declared to be one of the most remarkable ever taken by the department. It is to be included in the series the government is getting out for educational purposes along agricultural lines.

L. S. Sullivan, for years the official photographer of the department, is the man "behind the camera," to whom credit is given. The films will disclose the progress of honey manufacturer from the time the bee leaves the hive in search of the blossoms until his return with the trophy of sweets.

COMMISSIONER PRICE IS "SOME ORATOR"

Agricultural Commissioner J. D. Price is in demand as an orator. Since he took over his office on June 28 he has made no less than a half dozen addresses to different parts of the state.

On Thursday he will deliver an address at Watkinsville, in his own home county of Oconee. A big district school convention is in progress at Watkinsville, as is also an Odd Fellows' meeting. Mr. Price was invited by his fellow-farmers of Oconee to come over and tell the folks at home what he has done and is doing for agricultural interests of the state. He gladly availed himself of the opportunity.

EFFORT TO INCREASE AMOUNT INCOME TAX

Bristow Submits Amendment to Tariff Bill to Levy Maximum of Over 10 Per Cent

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 27.—Renewal of the effort to increase the amount of the new income tax upon the larger incomes of the country was commenced today when the senate resumed consideration of the tariff bill. Senator Bristow, who had given notice yesterday of an amendment to levy a maximum tax of over 10 per cent on $100,000 incomes, submitted his amendment to the senate.

Democratic leaders were hopeful of completing the income tax sections of the bill by tomorrow night. The advocates of the larger tax, however, were prepared to fight for many changes in the bill. Many Republicans favored increasing the exempted income from the $3,000 figure of the senate bill, to the $4,000 agreed upon in the original bill.

Merchant Disappears

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., Aug. 27.—The disappearance of E. W. Reed, local manager of the Woolworth stores, on August 9, was disclosed today. Mrs. Reed, who is visiting in New York, does not know of her husband's action. No shortage has been found in his account, but a mild sensation has resulted.

COMMITTEE TO HEAR BANKERS' CHANGES

Proposed Amendments to Currency Bill Will Be Considered Next Tuesday

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 27.—Bankers who participated in the Chicago conference last week, at which many changes in the administration currency bill were recommended, will be heard next Tuesday by the senate banking committee.

Chairman Owen said today that all of the changes proposed by the bankers had been fully considered when the bill was being constructed.

"We will give the bankers a full hearing, however, out of abundance of caution," he said.

TROUP COUNTY COTTON SELLS AT 12 1-2 CENTS

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

LAGRANGE, Ga., Aug. 27.—The first bale of cotton reached LaGrange yesterday about noon, having been raised by James B. Bass, whose farm is located about twelve miles southeast of LaGrange in Troup county. Mr. Bass is one of the largest and most progressive of Troup county farmers. The cotton brought 12 1-2 cents a pound.

DEPUTY WARDLY MAKES FIRST ARREST IN ROME

Illicit Distilling Keeps Revenue Officers in Walker County Busy

ROME, Ga., Aug. 27.—Despite the efforts of the revenue officers, illicit distilling continues to keep United States Commissioner Printup busy. The latest arrest was that of Tuck Pilcher, a white man from Walker county, who was bound over in the sum of $200. Pilcher was the first man to be arrested by Deputy Marshal Wardlaw, appointee of Marshal Howard Thompson, who has just succeeded Deputy Marshal W. L. Cates.

people were revealed in proof of what he said. He had waked and found the first mate dead.

That was Monday. Charles Brown, one of the sailors, had been at the wheel since midnight. He was the only person known to have been near the cabin. Brown had him placed in irons, under suspicion of having committed the crime. Shortly after daylight a bloody hatchet was found on deck. On the following Sunday Brown accused the chief officer. "I saw him in there killing them," said Brown. "I saw him with my own eyes. He did it."

BOTH MADE PRISONERS.

The dead bodies of the captain and his wife and the second mate could not be buried overboard. They must be carried to port as evidence. Back the bark had turned, making the fastest time and the nearest port that the winds allowed. Several days later the ship put in at Halifax, Nova Scotia, with the dead bodies in a jolly boat at the end of a long tow line astern. And Brown and Bram were made prisoners by the port authorities.

From then until Wednesday morning Bram did not again taste liberty.

Because he was an American citizen and because the bark was an American vessel, the whole matter was sent to the United States, and in the federal court at Boston Bram was tried for murder upon the accusation of the seaman, Brown. There was no circumstance to connect him with the crime, said Bram. There was nothing against him save the accusation of Brown, who swore "I saw him do it." And upon that, Bram pleaded, and was sentenced to be hanged by the neck until he was dead. But his lawyers believed him innocent; and to this day they believe that. Under date of August 6 one of Bram's lawyers in that trial wrote to him from Boston, where the lawyer is United States district attorney, now, discussing steps in Bram's behalf, and concluding with those words: "I am, with best wishes, and with great admiration for the courageous and manly way in which you are bearing your great affliction," the signature following.

CONVICTED SECOND TIME.

A new trial was secured for the doomed man and he was tried again. But again Brown swore just as positively "I saw him." And again Bram was convicted. But this time he was sentenced to life imprisonment. The lawyers gave up hope, and Bram began the service of his unending term. Already he had been in one jail and another for two years.

Bram was committed to the Massachusetts state prison, and served there during the next fifteen years and a month. Then, in 1906, he was transferred to the new Atlanta penitentiary.

William Schley Howard, congressman from Georgia, became interested in the case of Bram. Warden Moyer, believing that an injustice had been done and that an innocent man had been made to suffer, lent his approval to every new friend who appeared to work for Bram. Mr. Howard, in Congress, introduced the bill which now is a federal statute and which permits the parole of life prisoners (others having been provided for previously) after they have served fifteen years. Dan W. Rountree, the Atlanta lawyer, enlisted his own powerful efforts with those of Bram's other friends. Mr. Rountree pushed the application for parole, and agreed to assume his own responsibility for the welfare of Bram outside of prison.

BECAME ELIGIBLE JULY 12.

On July 12, just a few weeks ago, Bram had served fifteen years and was eligible under the new law. His application was filed, argued, heard and approved at once by the parole board. Then somehow the papers got into a pigeonhole at Washington, through the carelessness of some clerk. They were discovered there last week when an investigation was started at the instance of several Atlantans. Immediately they were sent to Atlanta, and Warden Moyer signed them last Friday and returned them, saying nothing to Bram about his impending good fortune. And on Monday, as fast as the mails could bring them, they started back for Atlanta.

"Brown accused me falsely," said Bram, very solemnly, yesterday morning. "I do not know who committed the crime. But I hope to know some day. I know only that I did not do it. The aim of my life is to find for myself that. I would be willing to suffer his own punishment for him in order to clear my name."

But the immediate problem lay before the liberated man of getting work to do. He cannot go to sea, because that would put him outside the jurisdiction of the United States department of justice, and he must report to one of its agents once each month. Yet the life of a sailor is what he knows best. He is strong, intelligent, of good appearance and educated speech.

POWLER BELIEVES IN HIM.

Of him Dr. A. L. Fowler, then prison physician, said in the story published by The Journal last year: "I never have seen a man of kinder heart. He would get up at any time of night to prepare some dainty nourishment for the sick men. From the moment he is up in the morning, till he lies down at night, he is continually doing someone a kindness. A man of simpler, warmer heart I never have known. Never does he think of himself, and never does he lose hope or despond. Could such a man be a murderer? Could a criminal be unmurmuring for endless days in prison?

Bram's father was a Hollund Dutchman and his mother was a British woman. He was born on the island of St. Kitts, in the Caribbean sea, and became a naturalized American citizen when he attained manhood. At the age of twenty-four he was captain of the brig "Twilight." Later he was captain of the schooner "Chime." He has sailed into every port on the north Atlantic.

In the little bundle which he brought from prison with him were his Bible, his dictionary, and a few books and trinkets. Those were his worldly possessions.

"The first thing I am going to buy," said he, who had bought nothing for seventeen years, "is a bunch of flowers; and I'm going to send them to Warden Moyer. He has been kind to me. Then I am going to get me a room, and go into it by myself and have a good cry. I've got to have that cry before I can realize it's true. Then I'll start to pray a little. And after that I want work."

formal report made by the department of justice. Callaway expects to confer with Chairman Henry D. Clayton, of the judiciary committee, concerning the charges against Speer and the method of procedure to be followed in conducting the preliminary investigation. He will attempt to get a copy of the charges.

Judge Clayton declined to furnish Callaway a copy of the examiner's report, and referred him to the summary [illegible] save the house.

[illegible] Republican [illegible] considera- [illegible] Sylvester-day," said Callaway. "As I understood it, nothing can be done until the house formally authorized an investigation, and as a friend of Judge Speer I think it important that this authority be conferred immediately."

Callaway expressed satisfaction at learning that out of deference to the wishes of Judge Speer the taking of testimony in the case will not be begun until after a frost.

"Judge Speer's health at this time is such that it would prove a great hardship if he were compelled to enter upon the investigation," said Callaway.

While Callaway has not been formally retained by Judge Speer as counsel in the threatened impeachment proceedings, his appearance in Washington is regarded as indicating that he will represent the jurist in the preliminary investigation and subsequently if impeachment is ordered by the house.

It is understood that Judge Andrew Cobb, of Athens, will be associated with Callaway in the defense of Speer, and it is believed probable that Orville Park and George S. Jones, of Macon, may be also retained. They represented Speer in the contempt proceedings against W. A. Huff.

NUMBERS OF TELEGRAMS.

Members of the Georgia congressional delegation continue to be bombarded with telegrams from Georgia in the interest of Judge Speer. They have been impressed with the similarity of all these messages, which come from various sections of the southern district.

The following is a fair specimen of the telegrams:

"Judge Emory Speer's record of nearly thirty years on the bench in Georgia has accomplished much in creating respect for government and law in the state. Criminals and violators of the law fear his court because the guilty rarely escape conviction when tried before him. In the administration of the law, I have never known him to be a respecter of persons, his court being one where justice is meted out to the strong and the weak, the rich and the poor alike. Georgia people generally have great confidence in him and his fearless enforcement of the law. Consideration of Judge Speer's record on the bench as well as those parts of it that seem to have been selected for attack should in justice to him be given."

Congressman Tribble, of the Eighth district, explained today that his failure to meet with the Georgia delegation with reference to the Speer case is due to the fact that he regards the proceedings as entirely irregular.

"I may be required to pass on the case in the capacity of a juror," he said, "and I do not think it proper that I should prejudge the matter."

The fact that the examination of witnesses in the case will be delayed until frost will make it impossible, of course, for the committee to make its report and recommendations at this session of congress. Therefore if impeachment is decided upon, the formal move will not be made until congress meets in regular session in December, and the trial by the senate will not be held until next summer.

CLAYTON GIVES CHARGES.

Judge Clayton in summarizing the charges against Speer said:

"Mr. Speaker, in view of the publicity given to this matter through the medium of the press, and the desire of the judge and his friends to know what these charges are, I deem it important to give a summary of them to the house at this time.

"They charge the judge with having violated section 67 of the judicial code in allowing his son-in-law, Mr. A. H. Hayward, to be appointed to and employed in offices and duties in his court.

"With the violation of the bankruptcy act, in allowing compromises in excess of the provisions of that act to a trustee who was his personal friends; a violation of the laws in drawing juries.

"A violation of a mandate of the supreme court of the United States.

"Oppressive and corrupt use of his official position in deciding cases unjustly in favor of his son-in-law.

"Unlawful and corrupt conduct in proceedings in cases where his son-in-law had a contingent fee.

"Corrupt and unwarranted abuse of his official authority in using court officials who were paid by the government, as private servants, without rendering any service to the government.

"Oppressive and corrupt conduct in allowing the dissipation of assets of bankruptcy estates by the employment of unnecessary officials and the payment of excessive fees.

"Oppressive and corrupt abuses in granting orders appointing receivers for property without notice to the owners and without cause, resulting in great loss to the party.

"Oppressive and corrupt abuse of authority in refusing to allow the dismissal of litigation for the purposes of permitting relations and favorites to profit by the receipt of large fees.

"Improper, if not corrupt, abuse of authority in taking from causes to be taken money from the court fund for his private use.

"Oppressive conduct in entertaining matters beyond his jurisdiction, fining parties and the like.

"Unlawful and oppressive conduct in defying the mandate of the circuit court of appeals.

"Oppressive conduct in allowing money to remain on deposit without interest, in banks in which relatives or friends were interested.

"And there is also some evidence adduced before the committee of the judge having allowed excessive fees to receivers for improper purposes, and also corrupt conduct in raising the amount of fees allowed to others in order that his son-in-law might profit thereby.

"Attempted bribery of official appointed to act as custodian.

"Oppressive conduct in unlawfully seizing and selling property.

"Use of drugs, impairing his mental faculties.

"General unlawful and oppressive conduct to serve his own private ends."

Judge Speer has forwarded from Macon, Ga., Mount Airy, Ga., his summer home, to the house judiciary committee a sworn affidavit from his physician, Dr. R. R. Rodgers, stating that while Judge Speer has fine general health, it would be dangerous for him, as a hay fever sufferer, to come to Washington now.

The affidavit avers that Judge Speer has an habits which would receive the disapproval of his physician. This declaration answers a charge alleging a personal habit which has been among the accusations brought against him.

The judiciary committee probably will meet tomorrow and probably will accede to the request of Judge Speer so that the examination of witnesses will not begin until late autumn. This is not only a convenient accommodation on account of his health, but also is due to pressure of pending legislation in congress.

WILSON WARNS AMERICANS TO LEAVE MEXICO

sion dissolved, the house adjourned and th escnate filed back to its side of the capitol.

Gamboa's Reply to United States' Proposals

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 27.—The text of Senor Gamboa's reply to the proposals submitted through John Lind, by instruction of the president, is in part as follows:

"The government of Mexico has paid due attention to the advice and considerations expressed by the government of the United States; has done this on account of three principal reasons:

"First—Because Mexico entertains the highest respect for the personality of his excellency, Woodrow Wilson; second, because certain American friendly governments with which Mexico cultivates the closest relations of international amity having in a most delicate, respectful way, highly gratifying, be made use of their good offices to the end that Mexico should accord you a hearing, inasmuch as you were the bearer of a private mission from the president of the United States; and third, because Mexico was anxious, not so much to justify its attitude before the inhabitants of the republic in the present emergency, the great majority of whom have signified their adhesion and approval, as to demonstrate in every way the justice of its cause.

"The imputation in your instructions that no progress had been made toward establishing in the capital of Mexico a government that could enjoy the respect and obedience of the Mexican people, is unfounded. In contradiction with their gross imputation, which is not supported by any proofs, principally because there are none, it affords me pleasure to refer, Mr. Confidential Agent, to the following facts:

"The Mexican republic is formed by twenty-seven states, three territories and one federal district. Eighteen states, the three territories and the federal district (a total of twenty-two political entities) are under absolute control of the present government, which, aside from the above, exercises its authority over almost every part in the republic and consequently over the custom houses.

"Its southern frontier is at peace. My government has an army of 80,000 men in the field with no other purpose than to insure complete peace in the republic, the only national aspiration of the present provisional president. The above is sufficient to exclude any doubt that my government is worthy of the respect and obedience of the Mexican people.

"My government fails to understand what the United States means by saying that it does not find itself in the same case with reference to the other nations of the earth concerning what is happening and is likely to happen in Mexico. Conditions of Mexico at the present time are fortunately neither doubtful nor secret; it is afflicted with internal strife which has been raging almost three years and which I can only classify in these lines as a fundamental mistake. With reference to what might happen in Mexico, neither you, Mr. Confidential Agent, nor I, nor any one else, can prognosticate, because no assertion is possible on incidents which have not occurred.

Senor Gamboa says his government appreciates the good offices tendered by the United States, "but if such good offices are to be of the character of those now tendered to us, we should have to decline them in the most categorical and definite manner."

"Inasmuch as the United States is willing to act in the most disinterested friendship it will be difficult for it to find a more propitious opportunity than the following: If it would watch that no material and monetary assistance is given to rebels who conspire, and provide themselves with arms and food on the other side of the border; if it should demand from its minor and local authorities the strictest observance of the neutrality laws, I assure you, Mr. Confidential Agent, that the complete pacification of this republic would be accomplished within a relatively short time.

"His excellency, Mr. Wilson, is laboring under a serious delusion when he declares that the present situation of Mexico is incompatible with the compliance with international obligations, with the development of its own civilization and with the required maintenance of certain political and economical conditions tolerable in Central America. Strongly backing that there is a mistake, because to this date no charge has been made by any foreign government accusing us of the above lack of compliance, we are punctually meeting all o four credits we are still maintaining diplomatic missions.

Senor Gamboa says a contract has been signed with a Belgian capitalists which means to Mexico the construction of about 5,000 kilometres of railway. Continuing he declares:

"In one thing I do agree with you, Mr. Confidential Agent, and it is that the whole of America is clamoring for a prompt solution of our disturbances."

"Saying that Mexico can not take into consideration the four conditions which President Wilson proposed Senor Gamboa recites these reasons therefor:

"An immediate suspension of the strugle in Mexico, a definite armistice solemnly constructed and scrupulously observed is not possible, as to do this it would be necessary that there should be some one capable of imposing it, without causing a profound offense to civilization, to the many bandits, who under this pretext are marauding toward the south and committing the most outrageous depredations; and I know of no country in the world which may have ever dared to enter into agreement or to propose an armistice to individuals who, perhaps on account of a physiological accident, can be found all over the world beyond the pale of the Divine and human laws. Bandits, Mr. Confidential Agent, are not admitted to armistices. The firs action against them is one of correction and when this unfortunately fails, their lives must be severed for the sake of the biological and fundamental principle, then the useful sprouts should grow and fruitify.

Bacon Says Message Will Have a Sobering Effect

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 27.—Senator Shepperd, of Texas, interpreted President Wilson's address today as such a full recognition of the belligerency of the constitutionalists that he announced he would not press his resolution for the recognition of Carranza followers.

Chairman Bacon, of the senate foreign relations committee, declared he believed the president's address would have a sobering effect on the American people and that it was not to be regarded as a finality in the negotiations.

New Bear at Park Has Never Allowed Public to See Her

Atlanta's park department has a grizzly bear in th ezoo at Grant park that not a person has ever seen since she was put in her den at the cave, with the possible exception of Park Manager Dan Carey and Zoo Keeper Boyd.

And Manager Carey declares that he has only seen her once, which was the day she arrived and they hauled her to Grant park. Since that time he has not had the pleasure of laying eyes on her, though he has made frequent visits to the bear cave in an effort to ascertain how the new arrival is getting along, etc.

It is a mother bear, of enormous size (weighing 1,100 pounds) and there are two husky bear cubs. The cubs delight to exhibit themselves in the cage outside of the cave, but the old lady retired to the privacy of th ecave the first day she arrived and hasn't poked her head out since, unless it was at night.

Telling about the grizzly bear and her cubs reminded Manager Carey of a good story concerning one of the two baby lions which recently were born in the zoo home at Grant park.

Some way in playing and tumbling in the lion cage the little fellow, who is about the size of a full-grown bull dog, hurt his right front leg, or shoulder—the zoo keeper wasn't sure which.

So they bundled up the young king of beasts and took him to Grady hospital, where the surgeons applied the X-ray and discovered a broken bone in the leg, below the shoulder. They set it, put the leg in splints, and the cub was taken back to the cage in the zoo house.

That night the cub carefully removed each and every splint and piece of bandage, and Keeper Boyd found him limping around the cage next morning, worse off than ever. Back to Grady hospital they took him, and this time the surgeons didn't let hi moff with simple splints and bandages. They put th eplaster of Paris to him, good and strong.

"Reckon that'll hold him a while," they said, and it did. The cub hasn't been able to get rid of a particle of the plaster, which is hard as bone, and he cannot move the broken leg to save his life except at the shoulder joint, where it makes no harm to move it.

A Criminal Hates His Crime

Is the criminal so because he wants to be so? No more wicked fallacy was ever foisted upon a credulous world than this. Nobody at any period of the world ever wished to be criminal. Everyone instinctively hates and fears crime.

Everyone is honest by nature. It is inherent in the soul. I have never met a criminal who did not hate his crime even more than his condemners hate it. The apparent exception is when the man does not consider his act a crime. He has killed because his victim exasperated him to it. He has robbed society because society made war on him. The offender hates his crime.

"But he is not ashamed of it?"

Now, that is true. He is not ashamed of it in the current sense. He hates it, he fears it, but it does not fill him with a sense of sin.

Here Is Mexican Message of Wilson

cation by the authorities at the capital is evidently impossible by any other means than force.

HUERTA HAS FAILED TO MAKE GOOD HIS PROMISES

"Difficulties more and more entangle those who claim to constitute the legitimate government of the republic. They have not made good their claim in fact. Their successes in the field have proved only temporary. War and disorder, devastation and confusion seem to threaten to become the settled fortune of the distracted country.

"As friends we could wait no longer for a solution which every week seemed further away. It was our duty at least to volunteer our good offices—to offer to assist, if we might, in effecting some arrangement which would bring relief and peace and set up a universally acknowledged political authority there.

"Accordingly I took the liberty of sending the Hon. John Lind, formerly governor of Minnesota, as my personal spokesman and representative to the City of Mexico, with the following instructions:

INSTRUCTIONS WILSON GAVE TO GOVERNOR JOHN LIND

"'Press very earnestly upon the attention of those who are now exercising authority or wielding influence in Mexico, the following considerations and advice:

"'The government of the United States does not feel at liberty any longer to stand inactively by, while it becomes daily more and more evident that no real progress is being made toward the establishment of a government at the City of Mexico which the country will obey and respect.

"'The government of the United States does not stand in the same case with the other great governments of the world in respect to what is happening or what is likely to happen in Mexico. We offer our good offices not only because of our genuine desire to play the part of a friend, but also because we are expected by the powers of the world to act as Mexico's nearest friend.

ACTED FOR THE GOOD OF MEXICO'S FUTURE ALONE

"'We wish to act in these circumstances in the spirit of the most earnest and disinterested friendship. It is our purpose in whatever we do or propose in this perplexing and distressing situation not only to pay the most scrupulous regard to the sovereignty and independence of Mexico—that we take as a matter of course to which we are bound by every obligation of right and honor—but also to give every possible evidence that we act in the interest of Mexico alone, and not in the interest of any person or body of persons who may have personal or property claims in Mexico which they may feel that they have the right to press.

"'We are seeking to counsel Mexico for her own good and in the interest of her own peace, and not for any other purpose whatever. The government of the United States would deem itself discredited if it had any selfish or ulterior purpose in transactions where the peace, happiness and prosperity of a whole people are involved. It is acting as its friendship for Mexico, not as any selfish interest, dictates.

"The present situation in Mexico is incompatible with the fulfillment of international obligations on the part of Mexico, with the civilized development of Mexico herself, and with the maintenance of tolerable political and economic conditions in Central America. It is upon no common occasion, therfore, that the United States offers her counsel and assistance. All America cries out for a settlement.

"'A satisfactory settlement seems to us to be conditioned on—

HUERTA ASKED NOT TO BE PRESIDENTIAL CANDIDATE

"'(A)—An immediate cessation of fighting throughout Mexico, a definite armistice solemnly entered into and scrupulously observed.

"'(B)—Security given for an early and free election in which all will agree to take part.

"'(C)—The consent of General Huerta to bind himself not to be a candidate for election as president of the republic at this election, and.

"'(D)—The agreement of all parties to abide by the results of the election and co-operate in the most loyal way in organizing and supporting the new adminstration.

"Mr. Lind executed his delicate and difficult mission with singular tact, firmness and good judgment, and made clear to the authorities at the City of Mexico not only the purpose of his visit but also the spirit in which it had been undertaken. But the proposals he submitted were rejected, in a note the full text of which I take the liberty of laying before you.

"I am led to believe that they were rejected partly because the authorities at Mexico City had been grossly misinformed and misled upon two points. They did not realize the spirit of the American people in this matter, their earnest friendliness and yet sober determination that some just solution be found for the Mexican difficulties; and they did not believe that the present administration spoke, through Mr. Lind, for the people of the United States. The effect of this unfortunate misunderstanding on their part is to leave them singularly isolated and without friends who can effectually aid them.

"So long as the misunderstanding continues we can only await the time of their awakening to a realization of the actual facts. We cannot thrust our good offices upon them. The situation must be given a little more time to work itself out in the new circumstances; and I believe that only a little while will be necessary.

"For the circumstances are new. The rejection of our friendship makes them new and will inevitably bring its own alterations in the whole aspect of affairs. The actual situation of the authorities at Mexico City will presently be revealed.

IT IS OUR DUTY TO BE VERY PATIENT.

"Meanwhile, what is it our duty to do? Clearly, everything that we do must be rooted in patience and done with calm and disinterested deliberation. Impatience on our part would be childish, and would be fraught with every risk of wrong and folly. We can afford to exercise the self-restraint of a really great nation which realizes its own strength and scorns to misuse it. It was our duty to offer our active assistance. It is now our duty to snow what true neutrality will do to enable the people of Mexico to set their affairs in order again and wait for a further opportunity to offer our friendly counsels. The door is not closed against the resumption, either upon the initiative of Mexico or upon our own, of the effort to bring order out of the confusion by friendly co-operative action, should fortunate occasion offer.

"While we wait, the contest of the rival forces will undoubtedly for a little while be sharper than ever just because it will be plain that an end must be made of the existing situation and that very promptly; and with the increased activity of the contending factions will come, it is to be feared, increased danger to the non-combatants in Mexico as well as to those actually in the field of battle.

URGES ALL AMERICANS TO LEAVE IMMEDIATELY

"The position of outsiders is always particularly trying and full of hazard where there is civil strife and a whole country is upset. We should earnestly urge all Americans to leave Mexico at once and should assist them to get away in every way possible—not because we would mean to slacken in the least our efforts to safeguard their lives and their interests, but because it is imperative that they should take no unnecessary risks when it is physically possible for them to leave the country.

"We should let every one who assumes the air of authority in every part of Mexico know in the most unequivocal way that we shall vigilantly watch the fortunes of those Americans who cannot get away and shall hold those responsible for their sufferings and losses to a definite reckoning. That can be and will be made plain beyond the possibility of a misunderstanding.

NO ARMS OR MUNITIONS ALLOWED TO EITHER SIDE

"For the rest I deem it my duty to exercise the authority conferred upon me by the law of March 4, 1913, to see to it that neither side to the struggle now going on in Mexico receive any assistance from this side of the border. I shall follow the best practice of nations in the matter of neutrality by forbidding the exportation of arms of any kind from the United States to any part of the Republic of Mexico—a policy suggested by several interesting precedents and certainly dictated by many manifest considerations of practical expediency. We cannot in the circumstances be the partisans of either party to the contest that now distracts Mexico, or constitute ourselves the virtual umpire between them.

"I am happy to say that several of the great governments of the world have given this government their generous moral support in urging upon the provisional authorities at the City of Mexico the acceptance of our proffered good offices in the spirit in which they were made.

WILL TRIUMPH AS MEXICO'S FRIEND INSTEAD OF ENEMY.

"We have not acted in this matter under the ordinary principles of international obligation. All the world expects us in such circumstances to act as Mexico's nearest friend and intimate adviser. This is our immemorial relation towards her.

"There is nowhere any serious question that we have the moral right in the case or that we are acting in the interest of a fair settlement and of good government, not for the promotion of some selfish interest of our own.

"If further motive were necessary, than our own good will towards a sister republic and our own deep concern to see peace and order prevail in Central America, this consent of mankind to what we are attempting, this attitude of the great nations of the world towards what we may attempt in dealing with this distressed people at our doors, should make us feel the more solemnly bound to go to the utmost length of patience and forbearance in this painful and anxious business.

"The steady pressure of moral force will before many days break the barriers of pride and prejudice down and we shall triumph as Mexico's friends more than we could triumph as her enemies—and how much more handsomely, with how much higher and finer satisfactions of conscience and of honor!"

"The government of the United States will be glad to play any part in this statement or in its carrying out which it can play honorably and consistently with international *right. It pledges itself to recog*nize and in every way possible and proper to assist the administration chosen and set up in Mexico in the way and on the conditions suggested.

"Taking all the existing conditions into consideration, the government of the United States can conceive of no reasons sufficient to justify those who are attempting to shape the policy or exercise the authority of Mexico in declining the offer of friendship thus offered. Can Mexico give the civilized world a satisfactory reason for rejecting our good offices? If Mexico can suggest any better way in which to show our friendship, serve the people of Mexico and meet our international obligations, we are more than willing to consider the suggestion.'

THEME FOR WILSON

tells those he talks to that he is innocent and it is plain that he hopes to gain freedom ,notwithstanding the fact that he is sentenced to die on October 10. The verdict of the jury must have been a severe blow to Frank say his friends. And they have nothing but admiration for the way he received it.

It has been disclosed that, had an acquittal resulted, he would have returned to New York to live with his mother and father. Now it is probable that his mother may remain in Atlanta to be near her son until the appeal which his attorneys will take is definitely decided. This may be months.

Emil Selig, Frank's father-in-law, was the first visitor to the Tower Wednesday. He appeared about 8 o'clock with the prisoner's breakfast. A few minutes later Sig Montag, of Montag brothers, principal owners of the National Pencil factory, called. He remained over an hour and when he left Mr. Selig was still in the cell.

It was 10 o'clock before the next callers came. Several arrived and were ushered into the jail between then and early afternoon.

Frank slept soundly, jailers say. He arose about 7 o'clock, took his morning bath, devoted fifteen minutes to calisthenic exercises and was dressed and ready for breakfast when his father-in-law arrived.

Neither the convicted man's mother nor wife called Wednesday morning, although Mrs. Frank remained with her husband Tuesday afternoon until after 4 o'clock, eating her dinner in the cell with her husband.

Frank is physically as fit as the day he entered the jail. He has not had an ill moment since his incarceration, according to Dr. *H. J. Rosenberg, the fam*ily physician and a close personal friend. The only medicine administered, even during the trying days of the trial, was a mild tonic to stimpulate his appetite.

No legal moves in the Frank case are expected for several weeks. Attorney Reuben R. Arnold, of counsel for the defense, is now at Bedford, Pa., where he will remain several weeks. Luther Z. Rosser is hard at work on the amendment to the motion for a new trial, which will be argued before Judge L. S. Roan on October 4. The preparation of the amendment to the motion is a tedious procedure, owing to the length of the record in the case, and will probably not be concluded for some days.

Frank's Cornell Friends Believe in His Innocence

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

NEW YORK, Aug. 27.—In an attempt to clear the character of Leo M. Frank, a Cornell graduate, formerly of Brooklyn, who was convicted of the murder of a girl of 15 in Atlanta, Ga., on Monday and sentenced to death, White Fehr, of No. 1867 Seventh avenue, sent letters today to Oscar S. Straus and several Cornell graduates and professors asking their aid in proving Frank is a man who could not commit the crime of which he stands convicted.

Fehr in a letter which he wrote today to Frank in the county prison, Atlanta, says until he was told Frank was a Cornell man of the class of 1906 he was unaware he was a man he had known in the university.

The letter in part reads:

"My confidence in your innocence is not the least disturbed by the verdict against you. As speaker of the Cornell congress and man active in debating circles in the university. I knew you as a thoroughly ambitious and hard working student. Your activity also as a member of your class basketball team for four years makes me firm in the conviction it would be impossible for a man of your mental and physical caliber to have committed the crime with which you are charged.

"As an observer of court proceedings for the past four years I have seen many cases of injustice worked in the form of law, but none so tragic and apparent as that of which you are the victim."

In his letter to Straus, Fehr says:

"As a gentile and as a New Yorker, I appeal to you as a Hebrew and Georgian to enlist your powerful influence in behalf of my college friend, Leo M. Frank, who was sentenced yesterday in Atlanta for murder in the first degree.

"I am firmly convinced the testimony of two negroes against him, prompted by the desire to throw suspicion from themselves, was only accepted because of prejudice."

Fehr today wrote letters calling attention to Frank's scholastic and athletic activities in Cornell to Prof. George Gleason Bogert, of Cornell; Prof. Charles H. Turck, of Cornell, and Woodford Patterson, editor in chief of the Cornell Alumni and News in Ithaca.

Conley Probably Will Be Indicted on Friday

The Fulton county grand jury will hold a meeting Friday morning at which in all probability, a bill presented by the solicitor general charging James Conley with being an accessory after the fact of Mary Phagan's murder will be considered.

There are more than 100 felony cases awaiting the attention of the grand jury and only a small number of them can be acted on Friday. However, Conley has been in jail for many months and it is said that his case will be one of the first to get the jury's consideration.

Solicitor General Hugh M. Dorsey would not say positively that a bill against Conley will be presented Friday, but stated that in all probability it would be given to the grand jury then.

The present grand jury made an effort to indict Conley several weeks before the trial of Leo M. Frank commenced, as a principal in the murder, the effort was blocked, however, by the solicitor.

In view of the fact that a jury has returned a verdict of guilty against Frank there is little probability of the jury's attempting to indict him now as principal.

When Conley is arraigned in court following his indictment, he will necessarily enter a plea of guilty. The maximum penalty on conviction of being an accessory after the fact of a murder is three years in the penitentiary.

COUNTY ROAD ENGINEER HANDS IN RESIGNATION

August E. Christhilf Goes Back to Baltimore to Head New Paving Company

August E. Christhilf, who came to Atlanta some months ago from Baltimore to accept the position of highway engineer of Fulton county, will tender his resignation Wednesday afternoon to the public works committee of the county board, and while the committee will be reluctant to accept it, and will urge Mr. Christhilf to postpone his resignation, it is probable that he will sever his connection with the county at an early date.

Recently there was organized in Baltimore a new and large paving company, and Mr. Christhilf has been tendered the position of president, with an interest in the business. The inducements held out to him are stronger than the Fulton county board can offer, although his salary is $5,000 per year, and Mr. Christhilf has definitely made up his mind to go back to Baltimore.

Before coming to Atlanta Mr. Christhilf was chief engineer of the opening of streets under the city government of Baltimore, which position he held for seven or eight years. As highway engineer of Fulton county he has supervised the construction of the Moreland avenue pavement, the pavement of Peachtree road beyond Buckhead, the pavement of Marietta street from Exposition mills west, and the pavement of Georgia avenue as far as the latter has progressed. The county board considers him a very efficient man and regrets to give him up.

The fact that both of the men employed by the county board for the position of highway engineer were taken away from us by superior inducements shows that we picked good men," states Sheley Smith, chairman of the board. "The first man we got was C. A. Proctor, of Detroit, and as soon as the city council of that city saw he was going to come here they held a special meeting and raised his salary several hundred dollars more than we could afford to pay him. Now we lose Mr. Christhilf because he is offered a position which he can not afford to decline. His work while here has been highly satisfactory and has demonstrated the fact that Fulton county needs a high-class, progressive man to supervise the construction and maintenance of its highways. The county board will immediately set about to find a successor to Mr. Christhilf.

Edward E. McCall, Tammany Candidate For. Mayor of New York City

NEW YORK, Aug. 27.—Charles F. Murphy, the boss of Tammany Hall, has again startled his enemies, who think he is stupid, with a flash of political daring that has taken them off their feet for the moment. His selection of Edward E. McCall, former justice of the state supreme court and present chairman of the Board of Public Service commissioners, in place of Mayor William J. Gaynor, who sought the nomination with all his strength, was not expected.

Beyond that Murphy has just unhorsed a governor of the state. Few persons thought he had the nerve to fight William Sulzer to a finish. Yet he is doing so. With that contest still on his hands he has dared to turn down Gaynor, perhaps the most powerful and resourceful mayor of any large American city. He has thus made deadly enemies of the governor of the largest state, and the very shrewd mayor of the largest city—on the eve of an election.

If Murphy wins both fights he will be the strongest boss a state has known in many a year.

Mr. McCall's brother was John A. McCall, whose administration as president of the New York Life Insurance company was not savory. He is the kind of a man who will have the backing of Wall street and the moneyed interests of New York city. His opponent, John Purroy Mitchel, collector of customs, an independent Democrat, has the backing of the Roosevelt Progressives, the Republicans, the independent Democrats, and the Wilson administration. Most politicians think he will win.

Mayor Gaynor is disgruntled. An hour after he learned he would not be selected by Murphy he came forth with a vicious attack on the boss, the first criticism he had made in his four years in office. He threatens to run as an independent.

ILLITERACY DECREASING SAYS GEORGIA CENSUS

State Department of Education Gives Figures to Show the Progress of Schools

Illiteracy among children of school age—from six to eighteen years—has decreased in Georgia 2.4 per cent during the past five years, according to the 1913 school census just compiled and published by the state department of education.

This census shows the number of children of school age to be 796,203 as compared to 735,471 in 1908, the increase being 60,732. Of the total number 429,460 are white children and 366,743 colored. The increase in whites is 43,233, while that of the colored is 17,499.

White males of school age number 215,337; white females 211,123; colored males 178,988; colored females 187,755. It will be seen that the white males outnumber the white females but that the reverse is true of the colored children.

The total number of illiterate children in 1913 is 72,840 against 84,430 in 1908. White illiterates total 15,310 and colored 57,522. The per cent of white illiteracy is 3.6 while that for colored is 15.7.

There are 312 blind children of school age—174 white and 138 colored. Total number of deaf and dub is 331—202 white and 128 colored, as compared to a total of 303 in 1908—171 white tnd 132 colored.

The body will be taken to Homewood Wednesday evening for interment. He is survived by his father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. T. M. Marriott, and a brother, T. C. Marriott; all of whom live in Homewood, and a brother and sister in Atlanta, H. R. Marriott, and Mrs. J. Cheston King.

SEVENTEENTH TO ATTEND CHICKAMAUGA EXERCISES

Announcement was made from the offices of headquarters of the Second brigade of the First division by Lieutenant Colonel Charles H. Barth Wednesday morning that the Seventeenth infantry stationed at Fort McPhson would attend the fiftieth anniversary exercises of the battle of Chickamauga to be held on the famous battleground September 15.

In the approaching event the Seventeenth will join with the Grand Army of the Republic, under whose auspices the celebration is being arranged. Colonel Barth stated that it was probable that Colonel J. P. Van Orsdale, commander o fthe regiment, would leave for Chickamauga within a few days to make plans for the attendance of the Seventeenth and its part in the proceedings.

GOVERNMENT TO SELL SEAL AND FOX SKINS

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 27.—To test the American fur market the government will sell seal and silver fox skins valued at about $100,000 at St. Louis this fall. The skins are the season's kill on the Pribilif Islands and are now on the way from San Francisco. They are to be cured and prepared and then sold at auction.

Under the terms of the Pelagic seal treaty the skins heretofore were sold at London, that being the market designated. The government now will seek to establish a fur market in this country to escape the cost of transportation to London and return. The present shipment contains 2,269 seal and 500 silver fox skins.

LIEUT. JOHN DAVIS MAY RUN FOR MACON CHIEF

MACON, Ga., Aug. 27.—If Lieutenant John Davis should be a candidate for chief of police in the event Bridges Smith is elected mayor, he will have opposition in the person of Harry Griggs, proprietor and manager of the Riberta hotel. Griggs has announced that should nobody else oppose Davis he would enter the race against him.

Davis announced several days ago that he would not be a candidate for the office, but it is reported that he is working for the place. W. B. Chapman, the present incumbent, has announced that will not be a candidate for the office again under any consideration. He has held the office for the past four years.

25 CENTS BRINGS A FORTUNE

The small sum of 25 cents was spent by a young English singer, who had suffered for years with indigestion, for a vegetable which was recommended as having wonderful digestive properties by a well-known French doctor. The singer prepared a sauce with this vegetable, which he added to his food adn also in the cooking. The name, Waw-Waw (an obsolete South American Indian word for vegetable) was given to the sauce and soon a company was formed which gave to the singer a large sum for the recipe. Housewives in England have found it a necessity in the cooking, and, with soups, salads hot and cold sauces and fish it gives a flavor unsurpassed.

Ask your grocer for Waw Sauce. If he cannot supply you, write to Waw Sauce Co., Wholesale Distributors.

CAREY RAPS PROPOSED RULES FOR COMMISSION

Says They Seem to Indicate That Board Is Trying to Force Him to Resign

A new set of rules and regulations to govern the board of park commissioners and the general manager of parks have been drawn up by the rules committee of the board for introduction at the next regular meeting, and a copy of the same has been furnished to the general manager, Dan Carey, in advance.

To newspaper reporters Wednesday morning Manager Carey expressed the belief that the rules were drawn with the idea of forcing him to resign his position.

"The rules which apply directly to myself seem to indicate a disposition on the part of the gentleman who drew them to force me to resign," said Manager Carey.

"For instance, there is a rule requiring me, instead of the board, to report absences of board members to council, there being a city ordinance that two consecutive unexcused absences by a member of any board automatically deprives him of his place on the board. Of course if I, and not the board, have to report absences, I'll always be having board members on my hands who are sore with me personally. There is a rule saying that the general manager shall have authority to suspend the various park superintendents and other officials working under him, but not to discharge them, which is contrary to good discipline. Under the rule, the general manager suspends, the board gives a hearing, and the general manager may or may not be sustained. Another rule says the general manager shall not order material or supplies, and shall not direct any permanent improvements to be made without the authority of the board. The other day I directed the superintendent of Piedmont park to build some cement steps from the playground down to the rest house level. That was a permanent improvement. Under the proposed rule I would have been compelled to call a special meeting of the board before I could have had that work done. These are samples. There are more."

T. O. Cochran, president of the board, declares that Manager Carey has entirely mistaken the intention of the committee in drafting the new rules.

"I believe that on reading the rules a second time and giving them matures reflection Mr. Carey will change his mind," said Mr. Cochran Wednesday. "The chairman of the rules committee is Mr. Van Houten, who is perhaps Mr. Carey's strongest friend on the board. The board desires and thinks it proper that it should control in matters of park policy and park finances. As to the details of administration, the board is perfectly willing to leave that to the general manager. The main feature of the new rules is that they prohibit the general manager from spending money or making contracts without the consent of the board, and that is no more than the city law requires in all departments of the city government."

Never Stops

(National Food Magazine.)

"Children," said the minister, addressing the Sunday school, "I want to talk to you a few moments about one of the most important organs in the world. What is it that throbs away, beats away, never stopping, never ceasing, whether you wake or seep, night and day, week in and week out, without any volition on your part, ticking away, as it were, in the depths, unseen by you, throbbing, throbbing, rhythmically all your life long?"

And during the pause of reverential effort came a small voice: "The gas meter."

Absolutely Necessary

(Argonaut.)

It was Sunday, and two small boys were industriously digging in a vacant lot, when a man who was passing stopped to give them a lecture.

"Don't you know that it is a sin to dig on Sunday unless it be a case of necessity?" asked the good man.

"Yes, sir," timidly replied on of the boys.

"Then, why don't you stop it?"

"'Cause this is a case of necessity," replied the little philosopher. "A feller can't fish without bait."

CITY CANDIDATES WILL PAY DEAR FOR THE RACE

The Entry Fees Range Somewhat High, There Being Fewer Than Usual

Candidates for general manager of the city waterworks department will pay an assessment fee of $150 each.

Candidates for aldermen for the full term will pay $95 each. Candidates for aldermen for expired terms will pay $50 each.

Candidates for council will pay $70 each.

These are the fees for the city primary, as fixed Wednesday by the subcommittee of the city executive committee.

The entry list will close at 12 o'clock noon on September 12, and all entry fees must be paid by that hour.

The entry fees this year are larger than usual, because the number of candidates is fewer.

BIG POWER MERGER IS FORMED IN ALABAMA

Twenty Million Dollar Corporation Formed From Uniting of Five Companies

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Aug. 27.—A merger of nearly all the water power interests in Alabama is announced in papers recorded with the secretary of state telling of the formation of a $20,000,000 corporation out of five former corporations. The merger is to be known as the Alabama Power company, which concern is backed by English capital, and which has already, within the past year started gigantic operations on the Coosa and Tallapoosa rivers for the purpose of developing almost inexhaustible water power. The headquarters are in Birmingham.

The merged corporation is composed of the following concerns:

Alabama Power company, Alabama Electric company, Wetumpka Power and Electric company, and the Alabama Power Development company.

The papers entered with the secretary of state are in the nature of an agreement between the companies as to their future operations. Under the impact the Alabama Power company is authorized to issue bonds of $20,000,000 secured by a mortgage on its properties.

Pura Water

TRADE MARK REG'D PERFECTLY PURE

The water you drink is next in importance to the air you breathe. Impure water is dangerous to health.

All raw water, whether from well, river or spring, contains impurities—often disease-breeding germs.

Filtering and boiling do not effectively remove these impurities—and only DISTILLED water is absolutely pure and SAFE to drink.

Pura Water is distilled by modern scientific processes and is the true HEALTH water.

With one of our perfect water coolers in your office, store or other place of business, you can have always a supply of absolutely pure, germless water to drink.

We install these coolers, keep them constantly supplied with Pura Distilled Water and iced daily, for a moderate charge.

RENEWED BULL SUPPORT CAUSED RISE IN COTTON

Market in New York Closed 16 to 23 Points Higher Than Previous Close

(By Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, Aug. 27.—The cotton market was less active this morning. Offerings were restricted, the firm cables also had a stabilizing effect. After opening firm at an advance of 9 points August and 4 to 7 points on other months, active positions sold 14 to 15 points net higher. Realizing checked the upward movement and the market lost 6 or 7 points of its gain.

Southern advices to a local spot firm made the condition of the crop 73.9 per cent against 81 last month and the last government report of 75.6.

Rumors of a southern report making the condition 69.3 per cent and reports of very high temperatures southwest fired the market, with active months above 14 to 15 points net higher at noon.

A condition report of 69.4 against 80.7 last month by a Chicago house, private advices of a southern report making the condition 69.5 per cent combined with reports of very high temperatures in the southwest, firmed the market up late in the morning with active months about 14 to 16 points net higher at midday.

Estimated receipts today 23,000 bales.

The early market continued strong in the early afternoon, but heavy realizing, apparently largely from western sources, was well absorbed on reactions of 7 to 8 points, and active months were 13 to 17 points higher toward 2 o'clock.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

(By Associated Press.)

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 27.—Cotton futures opened steady at an advance of 6 to 7 points, except on August, which stood 26 up. Cables were about on the bid line, strength at the mouth and the weather map caused heavy buying around the opening. The August position appeared to be increasing and three sales went at 9 points over yesterday's close, touching that. There were the only transactions in that month in the early hours. It is generally accepted that the August is light and that there are only a few contracts remain to be liquidated. After the call the new crop months stood 20 to 21 up but profit taking became heavy and they fell off, standing at the end of the first half hour or so 12 points up to 1 point off, both compared with yesterday's close.

The local weather map showed little change in weather conditions for the belt and caused increased buying, which put the new crop 14 points over yesterday's last quotations. August sold several times at 12.15@c, but then suddenly dropped to 12.05c and then to 12.00c. This caused freer offerings of new crop cotton, and the whole list reacted; the most active months on one time selling one point under yesterday's closing level. Toward noon prices rallied again at the highest levels, and at noon they showed a net advance of 11 points. August was inactive.

COTTON GOSSIP

Times-Democrat says: "Last year, the crop began to move in volume, the ginners favored the widest advantage, and a large requirement. Speculative apathy throughout the season was the result. This year the same program was not initiated, basic conditions, however, are different. Last year, the widest possible movement was done early in the season, and the presence of many long hedges proved a bulwark of contract market strength. This year ginners have not been buying ahead in the usual volume and the demand for cotton has been very limited. When speculators began to lift the market under the influence of crop damage reports of the past few days, there was little supplied the contracts required. Thus on the face of the returns, the hedge interest is short this year, whereas at this time last year it was long. Absence of hedge pressure should be a feature. If that this years cotton market starts out after two years of remarkable man made activities. But the basic law of supply and demand is against it.

May makes increasing cloudiness western states and Atlantics. Light showers northwest Texas, good rains Atlantic coast districts. Indications are very good for continued cloudiness and more general rains western states and Arkansas within three days. Temperatures will be well absorbed on reactions of 7 to 8 points, and active months were 13 to 17 points higher toward 2 o'clock.

GRAIN GOSSIP

Bartlett, Frazier & Co. say: Wheat—Don't look for much change in prices although bear sentiment is rather bearish.

Corn—Max shows no rain and high temperatures prevailed generally yesterday in the southwest. We continue to feel friendly to the market, although purchases on the bulges.

Oats—The course of prices will depend largely on weather and the pressure from the increase in offerings from the country is to continue or not.

Omaha bulletin: No rain in Nebraska; clear, highest temperature yesterday 104 degrees at Fairbury.

Houston Fible & Co., Kansas City, say: Hundred degree temperatures prevailing over southwest again, with no rain. Corn here is beyond injury, it is dead. Pressure that top of wheat will certain come on in Iowa and Illinois. Pastures all that remain here to be damaged. Without rain soon there will be no fall pasture and the feeling demand will be that much more. Corn is being shipped to Kansas now and is being retailed to farmers at 85 cents a bushel.

Grain belt forecast: Illinois, Indiana, Missouri, Dakotas, Nebraska and Kansas: Fair, cooler; Michigan, Wisconsin, Minnesota and Iowa, probably showers, not much change in temperatures.

HAYWARD & CLARK COTTON LETTER

NEW ORLEANS, La., Aug. 27.—Liverpool came in about 4 points lower than due on futures, but rallied in the last hour on the strength of the weather map 2 higher; sales 6,000. Cables continue to report small business. A very conservative London settlement concludes tomorrow. American stocks in London quiet and irregular. Average of twenty Industrials declined .01. Twenty rails remain declined .04.

It will probably be another day of uncertainty regarding the Mexican situation until after President Wilson's address to congress. The firm undertone displayed by the stock market is encouraging and any news of a favorable character over the weekend would bring about a sharp rally and prices.

JOURNAL OF COMMERCE REPORT

NEW YORK, Aug. 27.—Special reports to the Journal of Commerce state that cotton has improved 10 points generally during the past month. Late planted cotton suffers considerably from shedding, but early cotton is generally fruiting well and fruited, danger from frost on account of being two weeks late. Picking will not be general before the middle of September 10. Condition that state will show improvement over July 25, but South Carolina condition will also show improvement over last month. Picking in Georgia will be about September 10. Condition that state will show improvement over last month

RICH PARENTS BESIEGE MARTHA BERRY SCHOOL

But It Is Institution for Poor Boys and Girls, and Must Decline All Others

Surprising as it may seem, the Martha Berry school near Rome, Ga., which is a Christian industrial school for country boys of limited means, is being besieged with applications from wealthy parents who prefer this school to any other for their boys and girls, but the school is compelled to decline such applications because its aim is to educate not rich, but poor children who cannot get an education elsewhere. Desirous of getting their sons and daughters away from the city and into a wholesome atmosphere, where they may receive not only high class academic training, but training for homebuilding, citizenship and parenthood, a great many fathers and mothers of liberal means have decided that the Berry school is exactly the right institution. Numbers of parents have gone to the school in person to urge their applications, and have offered sums of money far in excess of the regular board and tuition as an inducement.

The school finds it impossible to consider these applications, because, first, it was established for country boys and girls of the south who are unable to attend schools charging the actual cost of board and tuition; and, second, because it cannot accommodate all the boys and girls from the country who desire admission, turning away fifty or more every year.

Another reason why it cannot take city boys and girls whose advantages have been superior, is that such pupils would be far ahead in their classes of country pupils of similar ages.

In a recent letter emanating from the office of Miss Martha Berry, director of the school, the following comment is made in connection with the above-stated facts:

"It is a pity that so many youths from the best homes in the land should be denied the privilege of a much needed Christian industrial education for efficient and independent citizenship. Why cannot our churches provide it in the sectarian schools? Why cannot private educators provide it, as they provide other forms of classical education? How long must the children of the rich and the children of the city dweller lack the opportunities of a real education because no one has provided a place where these advantages can be secured at any price?"

BANKERS' SECRETARY TO LOOK ATLANTA OVER

Every Effort Being Made to Secure Convention of American Bankers' Association

With the view of examining Atlanta's facilities for taking care of the 1914 convention of the American Bankers' association, at which over 3,000 of the leading financiers of every section of the United States will be present, Fred E. Farnsworth, secretary of the association, will visit Atlanta soon.

The Bankers' association has not yet decided upon the 1914 meeting place. Several places are under consideration and all are being visited by the secretary in the effort to select the town best suited for handling the convention. While in Atlanta Mr. Farnsworth will be entertained at a dinner to be given by the Hotel Men's association. Hotel facilities will play an important part in the selection of the convention city.

"Farmer Bill" Zimmer Marries Detroit Miss

Romance of Fifteen Years Ended Tuesday Night and Now Kimballville Has a Mrs. Zimmer for Mistress

The famous Kimballville farm gained a new boss Tuesday evening when Will V. Zimmer, known over half the United States as "Farmer Bill," quietly, and almost secretly, became a benedict. The bride until 7 o'clock last night, at which hour she became Mrs. Zimmer, was Miss Mabel L. Leys, of Detroit, Mich. The Rev. J. B. Robbins, pastor of the Trinity Methodist church, performed the ceremony at the parsonage.

The marriage is the culmination of a romance of fifteen years. At that time "Farmer Bill" first met his bride-to-be.

Only three or four of the most intimate friends of the couple were in the secret Tuesday. Accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Hazler, of Detroit, and one or two others the couple drove to the parsonage early Tuesday evening. Half an hour later they left, man and wife.

Later the bride and groom, Mr. and Mrs. Hazler, Lee Jordan, Will V. Zimmer, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. T. S. Chancellor, Clarendon Chancellor, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Hill, Mrs. Ella Hutchinson, Jesse Mercer, and E. R. Tucker, drove to the Piedmont hotel to enjoy the wedding dinner. Later the couple started on an automobile tour from Atlanta to Savannah and Tybee. They will be at home at Kimballville in about ten days.

BEAVERS MEETS FRIEND OF 30 YEARS BACK

A touching reunion of boyhood friends who had not seen each other for nearly thirty years was enacted at the police station Wednesday when Mr. Cicero Hall, of Clinton, La., called on Chief Beavers.

The police head didn't recognize his visitor from the start, but when introduced as old friend at first, but when informed of the identity of his visitor, the old-time pals laughingly and affectionately embraced.

Hotel to Be Razed

ROME, Ga., Aug. 27.—Rome's city council has ordered the old Buena Vista hotel torn down upon the ground that it is unsafe and is liable to cause injuries to the twenty people who are employed therein. The hotel is a historic landmark of Rome, and was occupied by federal officers during wartime.

Fred Houser, of the Hotel Men's association, declares Atlanta is well fitted in this respect, with 1,791 rooms sure to be at the disposal of the bankers.

THEATRES

(Criticisms of initial performances at the local theaters are written by members of The Journal staff. All other matter appearing in this column is furnished by the theater managements.)

Svengalli, at the Forsyth, has made people guess how he performs one of the most wonderful stunts ever seen on a local stage. The star introduces his subject and after placing her in a hypnotic condition seats her at a grand piano. He then explains that he will visit the audience and that any request for an international grand or comic opera will be played or sung by the subject, and that he will not speak a word in sending her the request. Out in the audience Svengalli gets any number of people to request an opera, and without speaking a word, his subject plays and sings, and just as suddenly will break into the new request that has been whispered to Svengalli.

Fred Bond and Fremont Benton present the very best laugh-winning playlet that has been seen at the Forsyth. The Meredith Sisters sing themselves into favorite position.

There are good comedy features and excellent novelty acts making up a bill that is thoroughly entertaining.

For next week the star acts will be Sam Mann and company in "The New Leader," a wonderfully clever vaudeville idea; Willars Simms and company, in their funny wall papering stunt, and Alexander and Scott, the character singing comedians.

The Grand is the home of Kinemacolor and growing very popular with its new policy. The wonders of the natural color pictures have attracted a great many hundreds of people who are going to the Grand and tell their friends what a really great treat the pictures are. The Grand is open daily from 2:30 until 10:30 o'clock and the "get acquainted" scale of prices is 5 cents from opening time until 7 p. m. and 10 cents after that time.

For today and tomorrow the Kinemacolor feature will be "The Scarlet Letter," a wonderful three-reel story that was a long feature at the Kinemacolor theater in New York. The beauty of the picture has been reviewed in art books and drew the attention of a great many artists in New York. This is the first time this set of reels has been sent outside of New York.

In addition to Kinemacolor features the Grand is also offering an exclusive set of first run pictures, that cannot be seen in any other motion picture theater, and Kinemacolor cannot be seen anywhere in Atlanta but at the Grand.

Seats are now selling at the Lyric theater box office for Emma Bunting's engagement at that house next week. Miss Bunting's stay at the Lyric this time is limited to one week only, and begins with a special holiday matinee on Monday. The play which she will offer is called the "Circus Girl," in three acts, by Sydney Grundy, and has become standard through the fact that it was first presented in London at the Globe theater and in New York by that theatric master of dramatic art, Augustin Daly, at the house on Broadway which still bears his name. Miss Bunting herself has a role said to be fitted to her dainty personality, and a splendid part is also assigned to her leading man, Mr. Whitaker.

SUICIDE ATTEMPT IS THWARTED BY WIFE

When Hutchins Cried, "I Will Blow Out My Brains!" Wife and Sister Save Him

Determined resistance by his wife and sister alone prevented James W. Hutchins, of 296 McDaniel street, from seizing a pistol and blowing out his brains as he threatened to do Tuesday night about 10 o'clock.

Hutchins went home early Tuesday evening and after brooding sometime told his family he had lost $500 in a business deal earlier in the day. He continued to brood all evening and while sitting in the room with his wife and sister, suddenly arose and cried, "I will blow out my brains."

Hutchins then started for a dresser in the room, in the top drawer of which was a revolver. His sister and wife seized him and a struggle ensued. Hutchins seemed determined to reach the weapon and the struggle became more strenuous.

Neighbors were attracted by the noise and called the police station, declaring Hutchins was beating his wife. Call Officers Milam and Palmer were sent out on the case and when they arrived the struggle was still going on. The officers stopped the row and Hutchins seemed to grow calm and promised he would not again make such an attempt.

Hutchins was formerly a bailiff in a justice court and was indicted three years ago for shooting a negro he was attempting to place under arrest. He was tried on that indictment and sentenced to five years in the penitentiary but an appeal was granted and now he is out on bond awaiting a new trial.

Fire Loss $1,000,000

RAY POINT, Cal., Aug. 27.—Fire in the lumber yards of the C. A. Smith company here caused damage estimated at $1,000,000 early today. It was checked by dynamite and by a change of wind.

Prize For Best Alma Song For The Boys' High School Atlanta

An alma mater song for the alumni of the Boys' High school to sing in years to come may grow from a suggestion voiced at the reunion last week of the class which graduated from that institution in 1910.

A cash prize will be offered for a contest which will open to all students attending the school during the term which will commence next month, and the prize will go to the contestant who submits what is adjudged to be the best collection of original verses for that song.

At the 1910 class banquet the suggestion was acted upon by the naming of a committee. This committee will arrange the details of the contest, and those details will be announced later.

The Boys' High school claims among its graduates not only a number of the leading men of Atlanta, but also men of distinction in other parts of the country. The movement for an alma mater song is receiving cordial approval among the alumni.

DELTA TAUS LEAVE FOR NATIONAL CONVENTION

Local Members of Fraternity en Route for Indianapolis to Attend Karnea

About twelve members of the Delta Tau Delta fraternity left Tuesday for Indianapolis to attend the Karnea, the national convention of the fraternity. They came from many points of the state, and left Atlanta on a special car over the L. & N. at 5:10.

Several members of the present party were in Chicago in 1911 to attend the last biennial convention. There they had the pleasure of being present at the largest fraternity convention ever held, 863 Delts from every section of the country registering. This record is confidently expected to be eclipsed at Indianapolis, where an attendance of over 1,000 is practically assured.

Those in the party were Kenyon B. Zahner, T. B. Bean and J. S. Jones, Jr., of Atlanta; H. H. Hudson, East Point; D. T. Deen and Ed Jordan, of Waycross; J. M. and H. S. Cowart, of Arlington, Ga.; J. H. C. Caussen, E. R. Pond and E. G. Jordan, Delts at Knoxville and Lexington, Ky., will join the party. At Cincinnati the Atlanta car will be switched to the special Delta train leaving that point Wednesday morning.

Lanford Rests

Chief of Detectives Lanford, wearied by the long drawn out Frank trial, left Tuesday for DeKalb county, to get a much needed rest. He is accompanied by his family and will remain until Sunday.

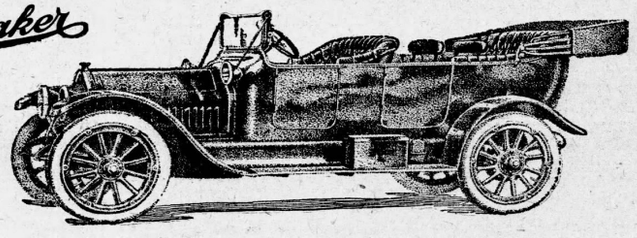
Studebaker

The "SIX" $1550



When You Get Acquainted With This "SIX" You Will Surely Want One

A drive in the Studebaker "SIX" will charm and convince you.

If there has ever been confusion in your mind concerning the qualities of a worthy Six, your questions will be fully answered after you have driven this "SIX".

And even if you are aware what some good sixes can do, you will enjoy a greater glow of satisfaction when you drive this car.

As you sit behind the alluringly smooth and responsive motor, no one will need to tell you why you like it. You will know perfectly well.

The instant and full answer to your call for increased speed or power, the sure and perfect response to your control, the quietness, the absence of vibration, the sheer thorough-bred ability of this "SIX" to do all its work without strain or perceptible effort—these things will prove a never-ending delight.

It is as hard adequately to describe this "SIX" as it is always difficult to describe any new and more perfect instrument.

BUT—the Studebaker "SIX" will win you, as sure as ever you sit behind the wheel.

Buy It Because It's a Studebaker

Studebaker "Six" Engineering

The design of a fine six-cylinder car, especially in the motor, calls for exceptional skill and wide experience.

Efficiency at all speeds and the absence of vibration, which are the unique advantages of a worthy Six, can only be attained by the most scientific engineering.

To attain perfect results we use experimental laboratories of large size and full equipment, where every idea built into the Studebaker "SIX" has been proved correct beyond the possibility of error.

We work by knowledge, not by theory.

Every ton of steel we buy is first made according to Studebaker formulas and later rigorously tested to be sure it is up to standard.

Throughout the manufacture, which is carried on entirely in our plants, from forty huge power hammers which forge out over 250 parts for every Studebaker "SIX", to the last operation, accurate to the one-thousandth of an inch, the "SIX" is built with a scrupulous regard for fine work and the best materials.

Studebaker Standards of Luxury

From the beautifully balanced chassis to the deep upholstery and complete equipment, the "SIX" shows careful attention to appearance and comfort.

It is, of course, electrically lighted and started.

The auxiliary seats, making ample room for six-passengers, are exceedingly comfortable and yet may readily be folded to one side.

The painting is lustrous, requiring twenty-four operations, including many days of drying and aging, before it is finished.

We use Studebaker-Jiffy storm curtains, the most ingenious improvement ever made in automobile curtains.

The Studebaker "SIX" is a car of complete comfort and strikingly handsome appearance.

The Vital Need of Rural Credits.

One of the most widely interesting and important questions before the Conference of Governors which is now in session at Denver is that of rural credits.

Every State represented at this conference is vitally concerned, either directly or indirectly, with agricultural problems. The material welfare and progress of the entire country depend in the last analysis on agricultural conditions. It is from the soil, after all, that industrial and commercial interests derive their sustenance; it is the abundance and quality of crops that make good times for every field of business and broaden the path of opportunity for all the people.

We are at length awakening in the United States to the crucial importance of a better system of finance for farming activities.

We are realizing that the principles of scientific agriculture can never be duly applied and can never bring forth due results until some workable plan whereby the farmer can secure necessary loans to develop his lands and to market his crops is devised.

The present system is entirely inadequate; and to its shortcomings are due very largely the fact that American agriculture has lagged so far behind that of Europe.

The American commission which recently made an extensive tour of the Old World, under the joint direction of the federal Government and the Southern Commercial Congress, studying the agricultural methods of those countries, has submitted a report on which a suitable system of rural credits for the United States can be developed.

The Conference of Governors is now asked to cooperate in bringing such a system into existence. There is no more important claim upon the interest and aid of the Conference. Its members should, and undoubtedly will, lend their cordial support to this great and timely cause.

"$21,800,000 given southern banks." That ought to move anything.

For our part we are willing for Thaw to remain in Canada and grow up with the country.

Judging by his picture, General Carranza would make a good president for Mexico and furnish a good illustration for a cigar box cover.

The Stubborn Turk.

It was an easy thing for Enver Bey to lead a Moslem army back into Adrianople whence it had been driven in the waning days of last winter by the Balkan Allies. Bulgaria, to whom the city had been awarded, was harried on all sides by her former confederates, the Serbs and Greeks, supported by the Rumanians. For the time being the common cause which the Christian States had waged so heroically against the Turks was forgotten. Saloniki and Monastir completely eclipsed the importance of Adrianople. The city was left virtually ungarrisoned. The Turks had simply to step in and take possession. But can they hold this recaptured prize? If the Treaty of London, with all its far-reaching significance to the future of Balkan peace and European harmony is to be observed, the Turks must either retire or be forcibly expelled.

Under the terms of the London treaty, which defined the boundaries between Moslem and Christian territory and alloted the conquered lands among the Balkan victors, Adrianople was ceded to Bulgaria. That city was, indeed, the crux of the first Balkan war. Had Turkey seen fit to have given it up earlier in the conflict, much fighting would have been averted. Its final surrender marked the end of the struggle and opened the way to definite and fruitful peace negotiations. Upon the cession of Adrianople to Bulgaria, depended the virtue of all the other terms in that agreement.

If, then, Turkey is permitted to reverse the treaty in this important respect, the constructive results which European diplomacy accomplished after months of arduous and delicate effort will all be undone. It is scarcely believable, therefore, that the larger Powers will suffer Turkey's action to stand. The London Times significantly remarks in this connection:

"The good disposition of Europe toward Turkey, the friendliness of this country (England) to help her in her future development, were all conditional upon her observance of her word. If she insists in breaking that she is opening up a new and perilous chapter in her history—a chapter of which none can see the end."

The Powers have warned Turkey that she must stand by her bargain and leave Adrianople. Her present leaders seem to regard military intervention by the Powers as highly improbable, but this is the most hazardous sort of optimism. Europe will unhesitatingly drive the Turks home again, should that become necessary to Balkan peace and international peace.

Nearing the End of The Tariff Discussion.

The Senate's quickened pace on the tariff bill in the past few days is distinctly cheering. The consideration of the free list has moved so expediously that Democratic leaders forecast a final vote on the measure within the next week or ten days. The free sugar schedule has been adopted; free raw wool has been approved in the "committee of the whole;" indeed, with the exception of a few commodities reserved for future discussion, the free list now stands virtually ratified.

Long ago the ultimate enactment of the bill was conceded even by its opponents. Though the Democratic majority, slender enough from the outset, has been reduced to a hazardous margin by the defection of the two Louisiana Senators and the vacancy in Alabama's representation, the party's balance of power is unwavering. The administration is supported more stanchly today than at any time since the extra session of Congress began. The passage of the bill is simply a question of time.

The Republican minority has evidently seen the unwisdom of purely obstructive tactics. It has realized that public opinion is practically a unit in demanding the speediest possible settlement of the tariff issue in behalf of business interests; and the firm declaration of Democratic leaders that were prepared to stay in Washington till the snow flies to finish the work before them has had the desired and very wholesome effect. Besides these circumstances, the recent vote on the sugar schedule was so significant that its meaning could not be mistaken. The free sugar proposals, which had been the center of the tariff war, were adopted by a vote of thirty-nine to thirty-four, thus dispelling every shadow of uncertainty that the measure as a whole would triumph.

Even the foes of tariff revision realize that the sooner the bill is out of the way the better will it be for the country's commercial quietude and progress. No one is disturbed over the reductions that are to be made; the process of readjustment began months ago and is now all but complete. Every one feels however, that until the new system is actually in operation there will necessarily be more or less suspense. The best thing that can be done for the nation's peace of mind and orderly business life will be the prompt enactment of the bill.

That this wish is about to be fulfilled all present omens indicate. The backbone of the opposition was broken weeks ago. Indeed, the tariff issue has long been settled in so far as the public is concerned; there is no further reason or excuse for its continued agitation. If need be, the Democrats should prolong the daily sessions of the Senate to seven or ten hours and force the partisan obstructionists either to talk ceaselessly or vote promptly. Indications are, however, that this will not be necessary; the prediction of a final vote next week will doubtless materialize.

The disposal of the tariff question will clear the way for banking and currency reform. That issue is moving steadily forward in the House. The administration bill has been amended by its friends in such a way as to strengthen it and make it more workable; but its dominant principles remain unimpaired. There will probably be other changes in its details but the wisdom of its larger purposes is proof against attack.

The essential features of the bill have been ratified by the House committee on banking and currency and are now being ratified by the Democratic caucus. Its passage in the House seems assured. This measure like the tariff will probably encounter considerable opposition in the Senate, though hardly as much as that which the tariff bill has weathered. There is one important fact to be considered: the administration has the Democratic majority of Congress squarely behind it and the majority of thinking Americans squarely behind it. The administration declares that banking and currency reform shall be accomplished before the extra session adjourns. That is the best of reasons for believing that it will be accomplished.

Why not give congress a year-round job?

The public had just as well be looking ahead for cool weather. The almanacs predict it.

Under the Wilson administration, Atlanta has managed to rise to second place in the Southern league.

Congress hasn't lacked for side issues, from a lobby investigation to impeachment preceedings against a federal judge.

American Radium Interests

BY FREDERIC J. HASKIN.

Radium, the rarest and most valuable of earthly substances, until recently has been produced only in Europe, although the United States has larger supplies of radium-producing ores than any other country. What has been carefully treasured and conserved in European mines has been thrown on dump piles as waste in America.

Radium now is worth $2,500,000 an ounce. It happens that the total known supply in the world today amounts to only a little less than an ounce and a half. The most minute particles are treasured and guarded with more zeal and care than ever were the crown jewels of a tyrant. And this is the sort of stuff we have been wasting! Until last year all of the radium-producing ores mined in this country were shipped to Europe. An investigation by the United States bureau of mines developed this fact, and, at the same time, the more important one that the American supply of ores was the greatest in the world. Until the present year no American radium was on the market and only one firm in this country was actually producing it. Within the past six months three other laboratories have entered the field, but the value of their product is as yet problematical.

In the meantime American scientists are paying fabulous prices in Europe for radium, which probably has been made from American ores. All such ores as are not up to the high standard required by the European laboratories are thrown away, although much of the rejected ore may contain a sufficiently high percentage of radium to be worth treating in this country.

Radium is an element. It is recovered from pitchblende and other ores. It was discovered by Mme. Curie in experimenting with pitchblende taken from a mine at St. Joachimsthal, in Bohemia. Immediately upon the announcement of the discovery the Austrian government assumed control of the mine. It entered into an agreement with the Academy of Science of Vienna, under which the pitchblende ores were to be worked up for experiment in an Austrian radium institute. Radium institutes have been established by the governments of Austria, England, France and Germany, but the United States government has manifested no direct interest in the subject. The experiments made in all of these institutes, especially in that of Austria, were conducted with the greatest care because the business of the ore supply was recognized. It is said that the St. Joachimsthal mines already are practically exhausted. Less than six tons of pitchblende were mined in 1911, and none at all in 1912.

The universal recognition of the wonderful properties of radium, which followed close upon its discovery, caused the worldwide quest for ores that would yield it. Small deposits were found in Cornwall, England, and Australia. Both were promptly placed under government control. Little attention was paid to the mattter in the United Sates. However, a few weeks ago the bureau of mines announced that the United States led all the countries of the world in its resources of radium-producing ores. This announcement created little surprise in the scientific world, and a movement is under foot to bring about the conservation of these resources for the benefit of the world at large and of American scientists, particularly.

Pitchlonde has been found in Connecticut and in the feldspar fields of North Carolina, but the largest and richest deposits known anywhere are located in Quartz Hill, Gilpin county, Col. This body of ore was discovered in 1899 by two Frenchmen, who were prospecting for gold. American pitchblende has been found carrying as high as $0 per cent of uranium, although the average is not so rich.

In addition to pitchblende, a recently discovered American ore called carnotite, yields radium. Carnotite resembles fine sandstone, and is bright yellow in hue. It occurs in pockets and is easily mined. It averages about 2 per cent in uranium content, and is marketed in New York for shipment abroad for about $75 per ton. A ton of carnotite will yield a speck of radium about the size of a pin point.

The story of radium is a romance. It began with the love of a young Polish girl for a French scientist. She loved also his science and married him that she might help him in his work. He aided her studies and researches, and they lived together in a laboratory, seeking the undiscovered secrets of nature. In the opinion of many scientists it was only the gallantry of a loving husband that accorded to Mme. Curie the credit for discovering radium, thus giving her the title of the greatest woman scientist in the world. Those who take this view insist that it was Prof. Curie who discovered the new element, although they admit that he was aided in the laboratory by his wife and by an assistant, a young scientist named Beaumont.

When radium was first discovered its wonders were exploited in the press as were never those of any other scientific accomplishment. No limit save that of imagination restricted the prophesies concerning it. It was to cure all diseases, make the blind to see and the deaf to hear. It was to solve the future problem of the world's heat and light, and even to produce perpetual motion. The scientists, it is true, would not substantiate these wild statements, although they were quite willing to admit that the wonderful powers of radium as yet are beyond the grasp of knowledge. The extremely small available supply, they believe, is the only thing that deters a series of wonderful discoveries.

Physicians, particularly, hoped for much. Already cases of cancer have been successfully treated with radium, but the supply is too small to make experiments on a sufficiently large scale to determine definitely the full curative powers of the substance. The price of radium is about $70,000 per gram. Consequently, only a very few of the largest hospitals in this country have been able to make any radium tests. In London it is possible to rent a small supply of radium from the radium institute, to be used in the treatment of a special case. The establishment of such an institute is being discussed in New York.

Conservative physicians are extremely loath to publish their experiments in the use of radium, although they are being made continually. At the meeting of the American Medical association, in Minneapolis last month, much consideration was given to the treatment of skin diseases by radium. In Berlin interest has centered in eperiments looking to the cure of rheumatism and gout by the use of radium. Some tests have been made in the treatment of tuberculosis, but the supply is too small to give much aid in overcoming the "white plague."

Radium bromide, the form in which it is usually sold, contains 58.5 per cent of pure radium, and this bromide is several million times stronger than the mineral ore from which it is derived. Millions of roses are required to make a single drop of the priceless attar of roses. In the same way thousands of tons of ore are required for a single grain of the radium, which may impart to a large quantity of inactive salts a part of its own peculiar qualities. One of these qualities is the property of glowing in the dark. Weak radium preparations shine more strongly in the dark than does the pure radium, even though they contain but a small particle of the elements.

The Conning Tower

BY FRANKLIN P. ADAMS.

THE TOP O' THE COLYUM.

The top o' the colyum for me, today,
'Twas not such a job as yo.. think.
I got there all right as you see, today,
And did it as quick as a wink.
No pulling, no jerking,
No terrible working
—The top o' the colyum for me.

It didn't take any great pains at all,
It wasn't a matter of will,
It wasn't a tax on the brains at all,
It meant neither science nor skill.
I merely sang gaily
Like one Berton Braley
—The top o' the colyum for me.

THE DIARY OF OUR OWN SAMUEL PEPYS.

August 22.—Up very betimes and by Mr. Shonts's tube to my office where all the morning at my scrivening, save for a long talk with my chief, on matters journalistick. To the train for St. Botolph's town and read through Jack London's "John Barleycorn," which I deem the best thing he has yet wrote, and is a great urge for woman suffrage, too. Thence to Scituate, and for a walk to Mistress Inez's and heard all the gossip of the countryside and much talk of a tennis tourney to begin soon. The Giants did again defeat the Cubs this day and are like to be champions again, which I am sorry of.

23.—Rose early, for a great rain came in the window and I must rise to close it and did not sleep again. To Mistress Curtis's for breakfast, very good, too, and thence for a walk through the village, meeting S. Hale and Sam'l Merwin. At my letters for an hour and then to the great ocean, very cold and rough, yet all do acclaim it as fine. To C. Copeland's court in the afternoon, where was a great crowd to play and much merry talk. Weary, so early to-bed.

The Bishop and the Boy

(Gulf States Presbyterian.)

A bishop once went to stay at the home of a friend who kept a pageboy. The boy was told to call the bishop in the morning and take him some hot water, and when the bishop asked who was at the door he was to say: "It is the boy with the water, my lord."

The next morning the boy knocked at the bishop's door, and his lordship called out: "Who's there?"

Somewhat flustered the boy replied: "It's the Lord with the water, my boy."

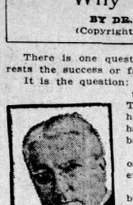
Why Was I Born?

BY DR. FRANK CRANE.

(Copyright, 1913, by Frank Crane.)

There is one question upon the answer to which rests the success or failure of life.

It is the question: "Why was I born?"



that nobody knows the answer. The purpose which the Creator had in mind when He made me has never been known, never will be known.

Curious that the most fateful of all problems should be forever unanswerable!

We may believe this or that to be the reason why we were created; we cannot know.

Notwithstanding this fact, the net result of my life depends upon the theory I form to answer this query.

But how can I tell which theory is best when there is no means of knowing which is true?

There is a way to tell which theory is, if not true, at least approximately true. This way is suggested by what is called pragmatism.

That is to say: That answer to the question is most likely to be true which will work.

We cannot answer the question "Why was I born?" by investigating causes. The secrets of life are beyond us. The Creator will not be interviewed.

But we can select an answer by noting results. For instance:

"I was made in order that I might get all the pleasure possible out of life." This solution means wreckage. Its fallacy is proved by insane hospitals, feebleminded asylums, and by those murders, adulteries and heartbreaks that constantly attend the end of the pleasure seeker.

"I was made in order that I might escape this evil world and get safely into a better one after death." Such an answer leads logically to the asceticism that marked the dark ages and the hard morbidity that characterized Puritanism.

"I was born to labor for others" means a race of slaves.

"I was born to live and to enjoy myself upon the fruits of others' labor," means a class of snobs.

The most satisfactory answer, in twentieth century terms is: "I was born to express what forces my Creator planted in me; to develop my instincts and talents under the guidance of reason; to find permanent happiness by fostering the higher, more altruistic, and spirit impulses and by subduing the violence of the more brutal impulses. I was made to find love and my own work, and through these liberty. In one word the purpose of creating me was that I should be as great as possible."

Only by this answer do we get strength without cruelty, virtue without narrowness, beauty without effeminacy, life without contamination, reverence without superstition, joy without excess.

I do not know this answer is correct. I believe it to be the most nearly correct for the simple reason that it works.

Making a Message

(Washington Post.)

In exercising his constitutional prerogative of giving congress, from time to time, "information of the state of the union" and recommending "such measures as he shall judge necessary and expedient," President Wilson neatly joins the new and the old. In important matters he has reverted to the custom of Washington and the first Adams, delivering an address to a joint session of the house and senate. But in the preparation of these addresses—messages is a misnomer—he is decidedly modern.

Once his ideas are marshaled the president writes down his discourse in shorthand. His composition thereby is enabled to keep pace with the swift procession of his thoughts. Dictation might be equally rapid, but the mer sound of the voice and the consciousness of the mechanical act of composition is often disconcerting to the clearest mind. The shorthand characters set themselves down in silence and speed, where longhand writing, six or eight times as slow as mental composition, causes a certain checking of the stream of thought.

Clarity of thought is, of course, the first explanation of the president's lucid diction, but certainly the simplicity of his writing method has contributed something to the freedom of his language from the turgidity and heaviness to which the speeches and writings of many public men are subject. From all descriptions the framing of the Wilson message or address is a task of silence until, unaided and alone, the president begins the transcription of his own shorthand notes on a venerable typewriter.

Age of Alphabet

(Boston Globe.)

The celebrated Egyptologist, Prof. W. M. Flinders Petrie, has published a new work called "The Growth of Signs," in which he attacks the theory that our alphabet is Phenician. Prof. Petrie says that the most commonly accepted theory is that the Phenicians derived their alphabet from the ancient Egyptian hieratic writing, that they developed it and added to it and passed it on practically in the form we have it today.

The professor, on the other hand, maintains that the signs composing the alphabet originated in many parts of the world as far apart as Asia Minor and Spain, that they were gradually brought together by the nations dwelling around the Mediterranean and condensed by them into our convenient system, and that while the Phenicians used this system, they were in no sense parents of it.

He was first started on the way to those conclusions when he discovered in Egypt signs similar to those of the alphabet that were older than hieratic or hieroglyphic writing. He found these signs dating from the twelfth dynasty.

He then traced the existence of other alphabetic signs in other various parts of the world, which could have been derived from the Phenicians. He has compiled a list of signs found in thirty-five ancient languages from which he undertakes to show that our alphabet was derived.

He attacks the old idea that our letters are drawings of animals and things that suggest the sounds that we give to the letters. For insance, it has been said that "A" represents a bull's head, because the letter sounds like the bellowing of an animal; that "S" represents a serpent because the sound of the letter is like the hissing of the reptile, and so on.

Prof. Petrie argues that the signs from which the alphabet is derived were in use before the art of making pictures arose, and that, therefore, it is absurd to suppose that the alphabetic letters and pictures were derived in this way. He cites alphabetic signs 7,000 years old.

The Biggest Pair of Tusks

In the stables of the royal palace at Mandalay, in Burma, there may be seen an elephant with a remarkable pair of tusks, which the Burmese declare are the largest in the world. These gigantic tusks measure as much as seven feet nine inches on the outside curve, with a greatest circumference of no less than seventeen inches. To naturalists the most extraordinary point about these tusks, which are still being carried by their owner, is that they virtually touch the ground and almost meet. Apparently, however, their owner experiences no inconvenience from these long and cumbrous appendages whilst taking exercise. As a zoological curiosity the elephant has naturally attracted wide attention, and it is said that several offers have already been received for the tusks when the animal should see fit to depart this world.—Wide World Magazine.

HELD FOR PASSING WORTHLESS CHECKS

Bank Books Showed $100,000 Deposits, but Note for $5 Was Turned Down

Though he had in his possession bank books of different institutions over the south showing aggregate deposits of approximately $100,000, L. W. Wells, of the Jones-Wells company, real estate dealers, with offices in the Third National bank building, was arrested Tuesday afternoon by the police on the complaint of a North Broad street shoe house for passing a check for $5 that the bank refused to pay.

According to reports, Wells gave this check to the shoe store in payment of a pair of shoes priced at $1.95 and received in cash, the change. He had been notified, by the bank, it is said, that his account was overdrawn, and warned that no checks bearing his signature would be honored until a sufficient deposit to cover the discrepancy had been made.

Wells was arrested byp Call Officer Gorman just as he was preparing to leave the Aragon hotel and was in the act of packing a satchel.

The numerous bank books showing such affluent conditions of the man were found on his person when searched at police headquarters. One book alone showed deposits amounting to $46,000. The detectives declare the entries are forgeries. The prisoner admitted that he had passed worthless checks both here and elsewhere but declared that they were merely overdrafts such as any business man is liable to have when money is tight. He stated that the deposits amounting to $46,000, shown with a Marion, N. C., bank, represented deposits actually made in his own name, but he admitted later that this account was closed more than two years ago. He is being held at police station.

MAYOR GIVES HIS VIEWS ON CITY CHARTER MATTER

Favors Commission Plan and Non-Commission Plan Being Submitted at Same Time

Mayor Woodward Wednesday morning outlined his views as to the best way to solve the new charter situation.

In the first place, he believes the people should and will vote down the so-called new charter gotten up by council, passed by the recent legislature, and which will be submitted to the people at a special election ordered by the legislature for that purpose on September 24.

With this so-called new charter voted down, says the mayor, the people can proceed to a final and permanent solution of the whole charter matter in due and proper time.

The reason the mayor would like to see council's charter voted down, as he says, is that he doesn't consider it a thorough revision.

Further outlining his ideas, the mayor said:

"After the people have voted down this so-called new charter gotten up by council, we can then proceed to settle the matter once and for all.

"What I favor is to have two committees, made up of twenty-five citizens each, or maybe less. Let one committee consist of straightout commission government men, and let them draw a straightout commission charter. Let the other committee consist of men who do not believe in commission government, but believe in a ward system of representative government, with a mayor and council and boards, as we have now—or rather, as we are supposed to have. Let this committee draw the best charter along that line that they know how. And then let both charters be submitted to the people and let them take their choice.

"If the people want the system we've got now, then let them have it, for the town belongs to them. But the system we have now is not consistent with itself. Some heads of departments are elected by the people and some by boards. Som are elected by committees of council. Some ar elected by council. The thing ought to be harmonized so that it sticks to one theory all the way through."

Fans of Atlanta Have Twelve Days to Beat Birmingham's Record

Today Is One of the Days—Go Out to Ponce Park, See the Field Day, See Atlanta Lick Memphis, Help the Crackers Win the Pennant, and Help Atlanta Beat Birmingham

Mobile is six games ahead of Atlanta in the fight for the pennant; Birmingham is 2,000 ahead of Atlanta in the battle for attendance honors.

On the diamond at Ponce de Leon park every day the Cracker ball players are doing the best that is in them to overtake Mobile and bring the grand old rag to the place where it belongs. It is up to the people of Atlanta to do the best that is in them to bring back the attendance honor to the place where it belongs.

For weeks past Bill Smith's men have waged an uphill struggle against terrific odds until today they stand second in the Sothern league and have a fighting chance for the hill-top. Tuesday they won a double-header. That is the way they are fighting. Straining every effort from the time the ump shouts "Play ball!" until the last man is out in the ninth inning, the Atlanta team is doing all that men can do to win a pennant for you and me.

Is it not right that Atlanta's people should do as much for them, as much for themselves, to show that we are not unappreciative of the batle they are waging, to prove to them that the fans can give Birmingham as close a fight for attendance records as they can push the Gulls for the pennant?

Birmingham, last team in the first division, is playing to tremendous crowds daily. The Barons have played to 2,000 more people than have the Crackers this year. What is the reason? We know that Atlanta has more people than Birmingham, we know the Atlanta spirit is the best in the south, we know that Atlanta has a better team than Birmingham, we know that Atlanta is the better baseball team. Then, why?

Put it down to ignorance. The people of Atlanta haven't realized the situation. They didn't know that Birmingham is about to have the laugh on us, that over there in Alabama they are trying to put the "once over" on Atlanta.

But now that Atlanta and her people are awake to the situation, it is up to them to show Birmingham that Atlanta is never defeated till she's licked, and not then. Atlanta was awake Tuesday when 4,000 fans stormed Ponce de Leon and yelled for the Crackers.

Tuesday was but a sample of the days that should follow. Twelve more days are left in which the Crackers play at Poncey, twelve days in which Atlanta fans have got to shut up the old desk and beat it Ponceward, twelve days to show your spirit, twelve days to beat Birmingham.

Today is one of the days. Field day, a special attraction, a holiday for the grocers. Every grocery and dry goods store in town, together with many others, are closed this afternoon. Their employes are going out to root for the Crackers, to swell the attendance record. It is up to you to be there, too.

During those twelve days left for Atlanta to play here, scores of Atlanta stores and offices have agreed to shut up shop and go to the ball game. Individually and collectively, it is up to Atlanta's people.

Next week, Mobile, the team we have to beat, is here for four games—Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday. The players are going after their goats on the field, let us cheer 'em on to victory. If we can beat Mobile those games, the pennant will be well within our grasp.

Mobile and Birmingham beaten in the same shot. Let's do it. Let's give 'em the once over.

AND NOW NEWT LEE WANTS JOB AND WIFE

His Spouse Has Vanished With His Chickens and He's Ready for Work

Newt Lee, discoverer of Mary Phagan's body, once suspected of complicity in her murder, a leading witness against Leo M. Frank, and, with the exception of James Conley, probably the most widely known negro in Atlanta, wants a job, clothes and a home. And he wants his wife. More than anything else he wants his wife, who in some mysterious manner during his incarceration in the police station and tower disappeared from their humble home. At the same time also disappeared some two dozen chickens and Lee's household effects.

So when old Newt Lee breathed the air of freedom at the front door of the sidewalk yesterday shortly after noon he was almost as destitute of worldly goods as when he first appeared on this mundane sphere some forty-five years ago. He had the clothes that he wore—and they didn't amount to much.

From the jail he went to the office of Graham & Chappell, his attorneys, and later sought the home he found deserted. Lee returned to the law office and told his lawyers his predicament. They agreed to allow the use of their rooms as an employment office for Newt until he gets a job. The negro forthwith announced that he was open for engagement at phone main 3182.

Lee has quite a bit of faith left in the public. They were good to him during his incarceration to the extent of giving him a cap, a watermelon, and much "chawlen' tobacco." Now he points to his record of faithfulness as a recommendation to a prospective employer.

BIG "STILL" IS RAIDED IN CHATTOOGA COUNTY

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

ROME, Ga., Aug. 27.—One of the largest and finest illicit stills ever discovered in this section of the country was discovered yesterday on a Kincaid mountain in Chattooga county by United States officers. The still was a sixty-gallon one, with ten fermenters nine of these being full of mash. One gallon of whisky was also found. The operators of the still escaped, but sufficient evidence was obtained for the officers to arrest half a dozen men, for whom a search is being made.

News of Women and Society

To Visitors

The Hyperion club will entertain at a dance Thursday evening at its rooms in West End in compliment to Miss Arline Berry and Miss Annie Will Pearce, of Columbus, and Miss Sarah Garland, of Griffin, the guests of Miss Frances Springer, and to Miss Ruth Small, of Macon, the guest of Mrs. R. H. White.

To Miss Broyles

An event of Wednesday afternoon was the tea at which Miss Margaret McCarty was hostess at the Piedmont club in compliment to Miss Louise Broyles.

Miss McCarty's guests included a number of young girls who made a lovely picture grouped around a flower-laden table placed on the terrace.

A charming guest of the occasion was Miss Mildren Hazen, who has been spending the past few weeks with Miss Mignon McCarty and who leaves Thursday for her home in New Jersey.

Friday Miss Broyles will be the honor guest at the luncheon at which Miss Dorothy Arkwright will be hostess at the Piedmont club.

To Miss Clarke

Miss Mary Brown will entertain at bridge Thursday afternoon at her country home on the Chattahoochee river, the guests to include the members of her bridge club who are entitled to meet Miss Susie Clarke, a bride-elect.

Today Miss Clarke was the honor guest at a pretty luncheon at which Mrs. J. H. Fulmer entertained, the guests including the members of her bridge club.

Bell-Spear

Miss Laura May Spear, of Cincinnati, and Mr. Clarence Bell, of Atlanta, were were married Tuesday evening at 6 o'clock at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Theodore F. Spear, in Hyde Park, Cincinnati.

The ceremony was witnessed only by relatives and members of the immediate family.

Very cordial interest will greet the announcement of the marriage and Mrs. Bell will be warmly welcomed in Atlanta. She made many friends on the occasion of her visits to Miss Jennie Sue Bell, and Mr. Bell, who is the son of Judge and Mrs. George L. Bell has a wide circle of friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Bell will be among the mountains of North Carolina until the latter part of September. On their return to the city they will begin housekeeping in Inman Park on Spruce street.

Board of City Missions

The regular meeting of the Board of City Missions was held at Wesley Memorial church on Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock, Mrs. R. P. Milam presiding. The devotional service was led by Rev. Dr. Hendrix.

Miss Nelle Wynn, who for the past year has been connected with the Co-Operative home in Houston, Tex., comes as a club worker to Wesley House. She has already begun reorganizing the Boys' clubs, Girls' Camp Fire club and Women's club, and hopes to direct them physically, morally and mentally.

The district nurse, Miss Cloud, reported a number of cases of whooping cough in the mill district. Her monthly report was as follows:

Number clinics held	120
Number patients attending	350
Number prescriptions given	238
Number surgical dressings	123
Number treatments given	264
Number vaccinated	23

Miss Cloud spoke of having completed one year's work as Wesley House district nurse, of how much the work meant to her. The board expressed its appreciation of her faithful work by a rising vote.

A report from the library showed that 100 books had been installed by the Carnegie library—the house to be responsible for them.

The house report showed that tub and shower baths had been in great demand during the summer.

The Bible hour has an average attendance of 94.

Mrs. W. R. Hammond, chairman of the kindergarten department, has had the floor of the kindergarten room painted and the walls tinted, ready for the opening in September.

Mrs. Henry H. Tucker, educational chairman, announced that three prizes would be offered for proficiency in the night school.

The chairman of supplies, Dr. Florence Truax, announced that a large donation from Washington seminary, consisting of clothing, books, toys and games, had been made; also 109 books and magazines from Carnegie library. There were a large number of donations from others.

Mrs. W. M. Nixon, superintendent of Wesley House No. 2, spoke of the flourishing Sunday school.

The treasurer's report for the month was as follows:

Total cash receipts, $520.02.
Disbursements, $433.57.
Balance, $86.45.

The board is planning to give a reception to the volunteer workers during the month of September and the president appointed the following ladies as a reception committee: Mrs. Howard Palmer, Mrs. Flowers, Miss Susie Wells, Mrs. H. M. Hewlett, Mrs. M. M. Davies, Mrs. Harvey Smith, Mrs. Wooten, Mrs. George L. Bell, Mrs. Fambrough, Mrs. R. F. McDougald, Mrs. Sanford, Mrs. Smith and Mrs. Timms.

These ladies will meet at Wesley Memorial church on Thursday, September 4, at 10 a. m. to plan for the reception.

SUSIE M. WELLS,
Press Chairman.

Tan, Red or Freckled Skin Is Easily Shed

To free your summer-soiled skin of its sallowness, sunburn, freckles, blotches or tan, the best thing to do is to free yourself of the skin itself. This is easily accomplished by the use of ordinary mercolized wax, which can be had at any drug store. Use at night as you use cold cream, washing off in the morning. Immediately the offending surface skin begins to come off in fine powder-like particles. Gradually the entire cuticle is absorbed, without pain or inconvenience. The second layer of skin now in evidence presents a spotless whiteness and sparkling beauty obtainable in no other way I've ever heard of.

If the heat tends to loosen and wrinkle your skin, there's an effective and harmless remedy you can readily make at home. Just let an ounce of powdered saxolite dissolve in a half-pint of witch-hazel and bathe your face in the liquid. This at once tightens the skin and smooths out the lines, making you look years younger.—Emily Conlson in Popular Monthly.

A. McCullough.

Mrs. Brine's Luncheon To Miss Broyles

A beautiful event of the morning was the luncheon at which Mrs. George W. Brine was hostess at the Piedmont club in compliment to Miss Louise Broyles, who leaves Saturday for New York, from where she will sail for Europe to spend the winter at school in Paris.

The suggestion of "bon voyage" was seen in all the details of the beautifully appointed table.

In the center a floral boat fashioned of pink roses and pale pink snapdragons rested on an oblong mirror, which was edged with smilax. The individual favors were tiny trunks filled with bonbons and the dainty place cards were inscribed with good wishes for the voyage.

Mrs. Brine's guests included Mrs. J. D. McCarty, Mrs. Thomas P. Hinman, Mrs. Arnold Broyles, Miss Louise Broyles, Miss Katherine DuBose, Miss Helen McCarty, Miss Margaret McCarty, Miss Mary Burt Lake, Miss Dorothy Arkwright, Miss Virginia Lipscomb, Miss Margaret Northen and Miss Dorothy High.

What Anne Rittenhouse Says

PARIS, Aug. 27.—If long coats come into fashion, they will do so later. The great openings have not taken place, but one does not see anything that suggests extra length in the preparatory models and long ones are not offered to the American who have already ordered their suits before the rush begins.

I had an opportunity to see a few coats that were leaving the work room, which will not be shown until later, and they were just about the length we wore in the spring. Madame Paquin may be depended upon to bring out long coats again, for she did it last spring and last August, but her followers were few and she found it quite difficult to persuade women into wearing them.

Those that have the godet flare at the hems and the elaborate Louis XV waistcoats in front proved entirely too cumbersome for the American habit of dress, but if Mme. Paquin introduces them again she may have more success. This is a well known fact in fashions, that designers will have to strive sometimes for two years before compelling the public to accept any change of silhouette.

The accepted silhouette of today, which came into prominence last February in Paris and last May in America, is somewhat in its infancy yet, and now that women have learned to pull all the drapery up in front and bunch it in the middle of an extraordinary waist line, they prefer not to learn anything new for a few months, at least.

Over here this new silhouette is universal and it seems to call for a short coat. Naturally, one will not want to wear in winter, the short XVIII century coat that Callot invented last spring, but neither does one want the full, cumbersome coat of the earlier French period. It looks its best over an excessively narrow, short skirt, for it then presents somewhat of the kind of masculine silhouette which gave rise to such a coat.

Jackets Are Belted.

Every one of the coats I have seen have a well defined waist line by means of a belt. This is from two to three inches wide and is made of many fabrics, chief of which is a thick suede or rough kid. The ornamental belts are not used at all and one does not see buckles. The belt is a part of the coat, in color if not in fabric, and its fastening is quite simple.

It is too early to tell what colors will be chosen by the American buyers from the offerings made by the French designers, but it looks very much as though brown and black would again be chosen if one judges by the approval given it by the early American customer.

Sometimes two shades of brown are mixed in one suit, as for instance, a coat of khaki-colored velours de laine which has collar and cuffs of skunk and a self-colored army belt of suede.

No matter in what manner the waist line is defined, it must be done. The coat which has a straight line from shoulder to hem is out of fashion. If one can judge by what is happening today. If the designers spring any surprises at the coming opening, then its possible that these experimental coats of the past may be discarded, but as a rule they are admirable guides as to what will follow.

ANNE RITTENHOUSE.

Help Young Animals Build Bone

(Progressive Farmer.)

If we remember that one-half of the skeleton is made up of mineral matters or ash, and then stop to consider how quickly the young animal must build up its frame of bone, we can then see the necessity for sufficient lime, phosphorus and other mineral matters in its feed. Give the young animals sufficient protein in the form of legumes to balance their rations properly and they will get enough ash to build their skeletons, no matter where the legumes or the young animals may be reared.

To Miss Irwin

An event of Wednesday morning was the bridge party at which Mrs. Walter Smith entertained in compliment to Miss Irma Irwin, of Montgomery, who is the guest of Mrs. William K. Jenkins. The prizes for top score and consolation were correspondence cards and the guest of honor was presented silk stockings.

Mrs. Smith received her guests wearing a white lingerie gown trimmed with black velvet.

The guests included Miss Irwin, Miss Alma Downing, Miss Marguerite Harper, Miss Fannie Simpson, Miss Louise Mell, Miss Alice Mae Massengale, Miss Lebie Ewing, Mrs. William Jenkins, Mrs. Clarke Fraser, Mrs. Frank Wimcoff, Mrs. Ham Eidson, Mrs. St. Elmo Massengale and Mrs. J. H. Sutton.

Washington Seminary

Its Kindergarten and Primary Departments

In order to correlate the work of the entire school, Washington Seminary, Atlanta, maintains a well equipped Kindergarten and a Primary department in its system of education.

These departments are in charge of trained and experienced teachers, for it is in the younger years of school life that the child must learn habits of attention and diligence, and be taught how to study.

Classes are divided into small sections, averaging about twelve children, to secure personal attention to the needs of each pupil.

IN ORDER TO INSURE SAFETY TO THE PUPILS IN COMING AND GOING FROM SCHOOL, A SPECIAL POLICE OFFICER IS STATIONED IN THE STREET IN FRONT OF THE SCHOOL ENTRANCE EACH DAY FROM 8 TO 9 AND FROM 12 TO 2.

For catalogue and full information address L. D. & E. B. Scott, Principals, 1374 Peachtree Road, or phone Ivy 5672-J.

Eat This Food During Summer

Be careful what you eat during hot weather. What you need is food that nourishes but does not heat the body.

Faust Spaghetti fits right into that class. It is a high gluten food—a bone, muscle and flesh former—but contains practically no fat, therefore cannot heat the body.

FAUST SPAGHETTI

makes a savory, appetizing dish. It can be served in a great many ways that appeal to the palate. It is easily prepared—it makes a nutritious, non-heating meal during the summer. Write for free recipe book, "Spaghetti and Its Uses." Faust Spaghetti put up in air-tight, moisture-proof packages.

Happenings in Londontown

LONDON, Aug. 27.—They say that one marriage makes many, and perhaps it is for this reason that gossip is again busy with the name of Grand Duchess Olga of Russia. She has received an invitation from their majesties to visit London next year, and report is busy associating her with the prince of Wales. Some days ago I discussed the subject in this column, and still think that the suggestion that a bride is being looked for for the prince is somewhat premature.

The Grand Duchess Olga is the eldest daughter of the czar, and she has inherited a large share of her mother's beauty. She is, however, very closely related to the prince on both sides. Her mother is a descendent of Queen Victoria. And her father is the son of the sister of Queen Alexander. It is well known that certain weaknesses tend to exhibit themselves in the Danish stock, and looking to the future I do not believe that the king and queen would approve of so close an intermarriage. It is much more probable that a bride for the prince will be found in some remote German branch.

Possibly the subject will be discussed at the family gathering which will take place in September at Copenhagen. Queen Alexander, her sister, the Empress Marie, the czar and tsaritsa, the king and queen of Norway, the duke and duchess of Cumberland, the king and queen of Denmark will all be either in residence or visitors at the villa which belongs to the two royal sisters. King George and Queen Mary are not going, so that it will not be a full family council. There were at one time suggestions about the daughter of the crown princess of Roumania, but the ruler of that kingdom, in consequence of the Balkan upshot, is out of favor, at least for the time being.

A house for the Duke of Fife and Prince Arthur, of Connaught, will be found in the neighborhood of York. It is indeed stated that the Hon. F. S. Jackson's mansion, Burnholme, Heworth, near York, has been purchased. The Hon. F. S. Jackson is the cricketer-son of Lord Allerton. The prince will remain with his regiment, the Scots Greys, while it stays in England, and it will be quartered in York probably for another year. The presence of the prince and his bride in the Yorkshire capital should afford much satisfaction. The marriage will take place earlier than has been stated heretofore, the ceremony being now fixed for Wednesday, October 15, at the Chapel Royal, St. James' palace. For one thing the duke of Connaught wished to get away to Canada. He enjoys the winters there, and so does Princess Patricia, who is a charming skater. Another marriage, next year, will be that of the princess, but at present it is not thought advisable to officially announce any engagement.

Everyone hoped that the wedding of Prince Arthur would take place in London. Unfortunately the Chapel Royal in St. James palace is quite a tiny place for such a ceremony, and there are many who thought a precedent might have been made, and Westminster Abbey or one of the big churches utilized. There was some talk of the still tinier chapel at Buckingham palace being the scene of the marriage, because it was there that the princess royal and the duke of Fife were married. Londoners want to do special honor to a highly popular prince and his bride, and with the ceremony at St. James palace an opportunity will be given to see the bride and bridegroom as well as the king and queen, pass to the church. The chapel furnished room for a brilliant gathering when the king and queen themselves were married there twenty years ago.

The Evening Story

Rose Draperies

"I wouldn't mind the shabby chairs, nor the old carpet, nor the ugly pictures," said Miriam dolefully, "if it were not for the curtains. Old, worn, torn things!" She jerked them into more even folds. The strain was more than the decrepit Nottingham could stand. Another rent, in addition to an already large supply, appeared. And right in the center where it would show worst.

Miriam looked at it in dismay.

Miriam looked at it in dismay. She had been talking to herself. Helen aged two, crawling on the floor, and Carl, aged four, building a city of blocks, were not old enough to understand their young mother's longings for more than their young father's wages could buy.

"I don't care," Miriam said fiercely. "I'd like to rip them into shreds. I'd as soon have no curtains. Everybody for blocks around has draperies, rose or green. It wouldn't take more than five yards, and that mercerized pongee would look just like silk from the street." She gazed longingly at the windows. In her mind's eye the rose draperies already hung there. "And then I could pull the lace curtains close together so the mended places wouldn't show. And people passing by would never know but what our flat was furnished just like other people's. Carl, quit teasing the baby."

"She knocks my blocks down," whimpering, "every time I get a house built."

Miriam sighed, came out of her imaginings, and picked up the baby. She was a pretty little woman, with curly brown hair and blue eyes. When she and Harry were married, five years before, her eyes had been radiant, her dimpled face one continued smile. Now the dimples had been lost in frowning lines. She was tired of the continual economy necessary in order to get rent, food and clothes out of one thin pay envelope. Before the babies came they had been a year of comparative comfort. Carl's arrival had straitened them. Helen's appearance had changed straitened circumstances into skimping. And Harry's raises of salary were few and small. Lately Miriam had begun to feel indignant at him—instead of his employers. Surely there must be some fault in his work. He was shipping clerk in a wholesale dry goods house. Other men were advanced more rapidly. And two weeks before she had learned accidentally that young Gale, who was in the same department, had been promoted over Harry's head.

She loved Harry. He was a good-looking, clean-cut, clear-eyed young fellow. But the serious doubt as to his ability was slowly marring that love. Meanwhile all her general discontent with him and their life took the form of a fierce longing for rose draperies. Harry laughed at her. "What do you care for pasture-bye" he asked, while he bounced Helen to the ceiling and caught her. Miriam sullenly made no answer. She went daily over her expenses, tried to cut down groceries or meat. But already they were living as cheaply as possible.

Now she felt that she hated Harry. He didn't care for anything. He was content to slide along—live with any sort of furniture. "I'm tired," she said aloud, crossly, as she rocked Helen to sleep, "of being poor."

By evening she had partly forgotten her irritation. Little Mrs. Webb, from the flat below, ran up to ask her about the quantity of lard for pie crust. She was a bride, just learning to cook. Laughing and talking with her, Miriam was in a genial humor when Harry came home for supper.

He came in smiling gayly. Miriam forgot all about being discontented as she brought the steak from the stove and poured Helen's glass of milk. And then in a second Carl destroyed the atmosphere of good humor. "Mamma's tired of being poor," he announced, "and Mrs. Webb told her."

"Is it necessary to tell outsiders?" Harry asked with bitterly hurt eyes. "I've noticed—" and he gulped —"for some time—anyway," angrily. "I'm doing the best I can." He rose, leaving his half-eaten supper, got his hat, and slammed out of the flat.

Miriam had started to explain. But his sudden anger inflamed her. She let him go without a word. Her eyes grew hard. He might as well know that she was tired—bitterly disenlingly tired. She left her own plate half filled and leaned her elbows on the table while she sulked. She was roused by Helen, who spilled her milk over her dress and tiny shoes. Miriam undressed her and then put the children to bed. They went quietly, awed by their mother's unusual silence and their father's angry departure.

Afterward Miriam mechanically cleared the supper table, put the uneaten pudding away and washed the dishes. It was rice and chocolate pudding, one of Harry's favorites. For a moment she almost flung it out. But economy prevailed over temper. Then she sat down to mend Carl's stockings. The evening stretched on. With the children asleep and Harry gone the flat was very quiet; uncannily quiet. Harry was never away unless he worked. As 8 o'clock slipped away to 9, then to 10, Miriam's mouth dropped. She finished all the stockings and go cut some small pompons whose buttonholes needed working. It was then that she caught sight of a package on the sewing machine. Where Harry had evidently laid it while she was putting supper on the table. She opened it curiously—and her eyes grew big. It held rose pongee; not mercerized, but silk. But such a rose! A saudy, loud shade that was almost impossible even under the softening gas. It would look terrible in the daytime. She gazed at it in dismay, remembering that Harry had bought it the past week's night's work that day. If he had spent all that money—which she needed—for such an atrocity! And suddenly her dismay faded and a remorseful tenderness took its place. It was idiotic of him, he had been cheated all. When he came back— Then she looked in panic at the clock. It was after 11. Suppose he didn't come back! Others flashed into her mind a recollection of the many sharp speeches that she had made lately. She hadn't exactly meant them. But he might recall them, too, and think that she did. She put the silk down and went to the window to look out. The street was deserted. Then a man came in sight. But it wasn't Harry's and he swung past the hallway. Miriam dropped in her chair and began to cry. Suppose Harry felt so badly that he went out and did something desperate! Suppose—

"I can dye them."

Her sobs swelled hysterically. What did she care whether the flat had a stick of furniture or not, except a table and some beds and chairs.

"Miriam!" said Harry from the door. He stood there hesitating.

"Oh!" cried Miriam, in a tone of frantic relief. "I thought you had—had deserted me. I thought you would never come back!"

"Shucks!" said Harry. "I—I've been sitting on the curbing at the corner. How—how—" he stammeringly tried to smooth the way from emotion to mater-of-fact talk, "did you like that silk for curtains?"

His voice was questioning. But the glance he bestowed upon the silk was not. It was frankly proud. Miriam hesitated only a second.

"It's lovely," she declared with enthusiasm. "Just—just what I wanted. But you needn't have paid so much, dear—"

"I didn't pay anything," he told her eagerly. "There's a soiled streak down the fold, so they couldn't sell it, and the manager said if I could use it to take it home. Isn't that a streak of luck?"

"Great luck," said Miriam, and gazed at the silk as though it were beautiful.

"I want a drink," said Carl from the door of the bedroom. He was in his nightgown, and his eyes were big from sleep. But his small brain still held the remark that his father's abrupt departure had prevented his making at the supper table. "Papa, Mrs. Webb said she was going to steal me!"

"Oh!" said Carl's father foolishly.

He looked at Miriam contritely. She laughed and put Carl in bed.

"Gale was laid off today," said Harry. "It seems he was the nephew of the manager. But he couldn't do the work. I'm put up. So it'll be a little easier—"

"Harry," said Miriam joyfully. Then irrelevantly. "I can dye them—and hide that soiled streak," quickly.

"I thought you could fix 'em some way," comfortably. "Where did you put that pudding?" with a sheepish laugh. "I—I didn't eat my share."

"Neither did I," said Miriam and hurried to the ice box.

REDDY BEGAN TO WALK AROUND THE OLD BRIAR PATCH.

of a secret there. Then Reddy began to walk around the old briar patch in quite the most matter-of-fact way, but as he walked that wonderful nose of his was testing every little breath of air that came out of the old briar patch. At last he reached a certain place where a little stronger breath of air tickled his nose. He stopped for a few minutes and slowly a smile grew and grew. Then without saying a word he turned and trotted back toward the Green Forest.

Peter Rabbit watched him go. Then he joined Mrs. Peter in the heart of the old briar patch. "My dear," he said with a sigh that was almost a sob, "Reddy Fox has found out our secret."

"Never mind," said little Mrs. Peter brightly, "it would have to be found out soon anyway."

And trotting back up the Lone Little Path Reddy Fox was grinning broadly. "It is news," said he. "Jenny Wren says it is news. But I don't believe anybody else knows it yet and I hope they won't find it out right away, least of all Old Man Coyote. What a wonderful thing a good nose is. It tells me what my eyes cannot see nor my ears hear."

LITTLE STORIES FOR BEDTIME

BY THORNTON W. BURGESS.

(Copyright, 1913, by J. G. Lloyd.)

Of course Jenny Wren didn't mean to tell the secret of the old briar patch, because she had promised Peter Rabbit that she wouldn't, but she didn't see any harm in telling every one she met that there was a secret there, at least that there was great news there, and so, because Jenny Wren is a great gossip, it wasn't long before all the little people on the Green Meadows and in the Green Forest and around the Smiling Pool had heard it and were wondering what the news could be.

Jimmy Skunk was the first to visit the old briar patch and try to find out from Peter Rabbit what Jenny Wren meant, but Peter managed to keep his secret and Jimmy went back home no wiser than before. After Jimmy came a whole string of visitors to the old briar patch. One would hardly have left before another would appear. Each one failed to get as if he had just happened around that way and didn't want to pass Peter's home without making a call, but each one asked so many questions that Peter knew that what had really brought them here was the desire to find out what the news in the old briar patch could be. But Peter was too smart for them and they all went away no wiser than they came, that is, all but one, and that one was Reddy Fox.

There isn't much going on in the Green Forest or on the Green Meadows that Reddy doesn't know about. He is sly, is Reddy Fox, and his eyes are sharp and his ears are keen. Of course he heard the foolish gossip of Jenny Wren and he pricked up his ears.

"So there's news down in the old briar patch, is there? A secret that Jenny Wren won't tell? I think I'll trot down there and visit Peter a call. Of course he'll be glad to see me." Reddy grinned wickedly as he said this to himself, for he knew that there was no one for whom Peter Rabbit had less love unless it was old Granny Fox.

So Reddy trotted down to the old briar patch. Peter saw him coming and scowled, for he guessed right away what Reddy was coming for, and he made ready to answer all of Reddy's questions and still tell nothing, as he had with all the others who had called. But Reddy asked no questions. He didn't once mention the fact that he had heard that there was news in the old briar patch. He didn't once speak of Jenny Wren. He just talked about the weather and the Old Pasture where Peter had made such a long visit, and all the time was as pleasant and polite as if he and Peter were the dearest of friends.

But while he was talking Reddy was using those sharp eyes and those keen ears of his the best that he knew how. But the old briar patch was very thick and he could see only a little way into it, and out of it came no sound to hint

Must Beat Baron Attendance Mark---Field Day For Wednesday

TRACK MEET FEATURES ATLANTA-MEMPHIS GAME

Cracker Players Will Try to Show Heels to the Turtles in Dashes—Elliott Dent Will Work Game for Crackers, Big Crowd Is Sure to Be Present

If ever fandom had a chance to get value received for the two or four bits paid to a ball park it comes Wednesday afternoon when the Atlanta and Memphis clubs tie up in a ball game, following a long list of well-arranged field day sports. The ball game promises to be just as good as ever, while the field events will come in the nature of an added attraction. The field meet starts at 2 o'clock.

In the ball game with the Turtles Elliott Dent and Harrell will likely do the box work, and this gives every assurance that the game is to be a good one. Dent right now is in the best form of his career and any team that gets by him with a win is certainly playing grand baseball.

In the field day events it is expected that Tommy Long and Harry Chapman will do the starring. Long is picked to win the 100-yard dash with Chapman favored as the winner of the throwing contest. Of course Memphis may enter several dark horses in these events, and slip over a few wins, but this is right now doubtful. Long is one of the fastest dashers in the league, and he is expected to take the dash handily and will figure in the race around the bags.

The Cracker club is out to lead the league in attendance and every fan helps. Right now Birmingham is slightly in front and the local fans must get together and aid in getting the prize for the best home attendance. Wednesday is a half holiday and it is confidently expected that one of the largest week day crowds of the season will turn out to aid the team in winning the attendance trophy, witness a good ball game and at the same time see a good field day program. This is certainly good enough for anybody's money.

Many of Atlanta's public-spirited citizens have entered into the move to win the attendance record and will allow all their employes to have time off to see the games. Among this list is found the Royal Insurance company, W. E. Chafin Insurance office, Southern Bell Telephone company and numerous other big houses that are always out to aid in any public enterprise.

Here is the field day program with the prizes:

50-Yard Sack Race—$5.

Circling the Bases—Pair of Shoes, Byck Bros.

Fungo Hitting—Two silk shirts, Parks-Chamber-Hardwick company.

HOW CLUBS PLAY TODAY

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Aug. 27.—Wilson or Glavenich will pitch for New Orleans in this afternoon's game against Nashville. Nashville's battery will be Hinton and Noyes. The weather is fair and Nashville is making a strenuous effort to pass Memphis on the percentage ladder.

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., Aug. 27.—The third game of the Montgomery-Chattanooga series will be played here this afternoon. The weather is clear. Batteries: Chattanooga, Sommers and Street; Montgomery, Manning and Gribbens.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Aug. 27.—Birmingham and Mobile play the third game of the present series here this afternoon. Despite constant losses by the local team the attendance superiority of Birmingham has been asserted by large crowds this week. Batteries will be Hardgrove or Foxen and Clifton for Birmingham, and Campbell and Schmidt for Mobile.

Gaffney Goes Back on Lynch

BOSTON, Aug. 27.—President Lynch, of the National league, and the umpires of the organization were criticized by President James E. Gaffney, of the Boston club, in an open telegram sent to Mr. Lynch at New York today. President Gaffney cast the ballot which broke a tie and elected Lynch to the presidency last year, and the apparent break between teh two was unexpected.

The telegram developed over teh suspension for three days of Captain Sweeney, of olbston, announced by President Lynch today as a result of arguments with Umpire Rigler yesterday.

Cmenh etaoinshrdl VBGKQ etaoinsh

"In the absence of Manager Stallings," the telegram read, "it was a fine thing to suspend Sweeney. The spirit displayed is worthy of your past and present work as the league's president. I thought you might be away on another vacation and thus have escaped. If you will accept a suggestion from one here it is—travel around the circuit and look your umpires over, which I understand is supposed to be one of your duties. Had you done so this year, umpires and not ball players would have drawn suspensions.'

Fails in Effort To Swim Channel

DOVER, Aug. 27.—Henry F. Sullivan, of Lowell, Mass., failed in his attempt to swim the English channel. He entered the water near the south foreland at 6:45 o'clock and left the water at 4:03 in the afternoon when within six miles of Cape Grisznez, France.

Up to that time Sullivan had suffered little from exhaustion and was capable of continuing the struggle. But as the seas were breaking over the motorboat accompanying him, the pilot insisted that the effort be abandoned.

M'LOUGHLIN HOLDS TITLE

Record of Wins in Sets, However, Is Broken by Williams, Who Gave Champ Hardes aMtch of Tournament

NEWPORT, R. I., Aug. 27.—The lawn tennis championship record for 1913 was practically completed on the Casino Grand court when Maurice E. McLoughlin, of San Francisco, successfully defended his own title in singles and maintained the Pacific coast supremacy by defeating R. Norris Williams, 2d, of Philadelphia, in the finals of the all-comers tournament, in a well fought four set match. The score 6-4, 5-7, 6-3, 6-1.

As McLoughlin and T. C. Bundy, of Los Angeles, won their second championship in doubles last week and Miss Mary Browne, of Los Angeles, is still the women's title holders the ascendency of California in the principal departments of tennis is assured for another year.

Williams gave McLoughlin the hardest match since the pair landed from their successful quest for the Davis cup, because Williams knew the Californian's game from three months of almost constant practice.

No one of McLoughlin's six antagonists in the preceding rounds of the tournament handled the champions sizzling service so confidently and successfully as Williams. For two sets and a part of a third, the young Harvard sophomore held his own against the champion's overhead smashes and his low spinning drives to the side and base lines.

And there were times in the second set when Williams even forced the play until his backers in the short ends of the numerous two to one and three to one bets thought they had glimpses of the money.

The loss of the second set spoiled McLoughlin's straight set record for the tournament, but he came back strong in the third set, which was practically the climax of the contest.

It was in the third game of this set that McLoughlin seemed to have regained his mastery of the situation. Every one of the five points in the game were earned with a decision and brilliancy that left little doubt regarding the ultimate outcome.

Williams stood up courageously under the bombardment and in the eighth game came across with a few place shots of his own manufacture. At times he seemed to even out-general the champion in sizing up the play.

M'LOUGHLIN NUMBER ONE.

In the estimation of the experts, the match in the finals not only fixed McLoughlin at number one in American tennis, but it placed Williams at number two.

When McLoughlin clinched his second championship title in singles by a telling drive down the side lines, he closed three months of the most strenuous tennis in his marvelous career. He left home in May and will return next Thursday after the Davis cup dinner, with a two American championships and the satisfaction of having been the principal lever in lifting the international trophy. He says that except for an exhibition match with young William Johnston the coast next month, he will lay aside his racquet for another year. He hopes to return in 1914 and capture the two cups, two-thirds of which are already his.

SOUTHERNERS WHO STARRED

Lefty Boehling put another game in his win column when he let the White Sox down with four hits. His benders were puzzles to the Chicago batters, while the Senators found Scroggins easy in the first round.

Joe Jackson got a two-bagger and a single form his four trips to the plate. He did not have a chance in the field.

Doc Johnston played a good game at first for the Naps and was a big factor in the shutout they won. He hit safe once.

Ed Sweeney worked behind the bat for the Yankees, but failed to stave off a defeat.

Tris Speaker had a big time in right field. Six put outs came his way and he made the most of his chances. His big stick poled out one hit.

Steve Yerkes got one hit out of his four trips to the plate and accepted five chances without an error.

Dody Paskert batted 1,000 Tuesday against Slim Sallee. Two hits out of two times up, good work that.

Bobby Byrne helped along after Hans Lobert retired and got a hit and a run.

Erskine Mayer pitched for the Phillies and though he was tapped often managed to pull out a win.

Red Smith smashed out two hits, one a two-bagger, out of three tries. He also pulled some nice fielding around the corner sack for the Dodgers.

Jake Daubert continues to paste the pill. Tuesday he gathered in two bingles, batting .500 for the day. His work around the initial sack was up to the usual high standard.

Jimmy Archer aided the Cubs in winning by driving outa triple and a single and his good pegging routed the base runners.

Al Bridwell failed to hit, but he scored a run and his defensive work held the Dodgers down in the run column.

Phelan played a great game at third for the Cubs Tuesday, accepting nine chances without a bobble. His stick work was a bit off, however, and he failed to connect out of five times.

Moran and Wheat guarded two-thirds of the Dodgers outer gardens, but nothing came their way. Each poled out a hit.

Otto Hess lost a good game to the Pirates. He was pitted against Babe Adams and he got little the worst of it, and failed to connect for a safety.

THREE HITS MADE EACH ROUND BY CRACKERS IN WINNING TWO

Twenty-nine hits in thirteen innings of baseball is enough to put a dozen pitchers on the blink, win three or four ball games and boost the batting averages of a couple of dozen players, and in reality most of this happened Tuesday afternoon when Atlanta took a double header from Memphis. Most every Cracker boosted his average and two games were won while any number of Turtles hurt their fielding records and a couple of pitchers were credited with a defeat. The scores were 12-2 and 8-0.

And while the Crackers were getting all the cream the Memphis bunch was being handed quite a lemon. In the nine innings of the first game just five hits were made by the visitors and in the six innings of the second but one hit was made. And the nine errors were chalked up against Bill Bernhard's bunch in the two battles.

Gilbert Price and Carl Thompson were the rival hurlers and well did each do his share of the work. Price allowed but five hits and two runs and Thompson blanked the visitors with one hit. Price probably could have allowed even fewer hits had it been necessary, but with a lopsided score like he was hurling with there was no need for him to exert himself in the least.

Memphis played most listless ball throughout the two games while the Crackers did their best to grab off a new hitting mark. And both succeeded. There were very few sensational fielding plays and the only chance there was to applaud came when one of the Crackers drove out an unusually long smash or some Memphis player was lucky enough to be credited with a safety.

FIRST GAME.

Nineteen hits and a dozen runs for the Crackers against two runs and five hits for Memphis featured this game. Gilbert Price and Parsons occupied the slab. Price pitched and Parsons did not.

Wallace Smith was robbed of a long hit in the very first round when Schweitzer rushed back into deep left and pulled down a smash which looked good for four bags.

Bisland hit in hard luck in the second round, when Love grabbed his line drive. The fourth second baseman had his back to the plate when he stuck out his gloved hand and the ball stuck.

Third Baseman Ward made a nice play on Joe Agler's line smash, over third in the third period. The drive looked at first to be good for a couple of sacks.

Tommy Long rapped out three screaming hits in his five times up and yet the leading run getter failed to get across the pan. Once he bowled over Seabough on a close play at the platter.

Harry Holland started a neat play in the fourth when Abstein hit a hard bouncer toward third. The play finally ended in a double, Ward being forced at second.

Twice, in the fourth and seventh innings, the Crackers batted around. In the fourth the result was four runs and five hits and in the seventh it was eight hits and five runs.

In the seventh inning the first five Crackers to face Parsons hit safely. Then Agler was safe on an error and others hits followed. Bisland's double was the only extra baser of the round.

Ward and Schweitzer did the main hitting for the visitors, each getting two bingles. One of Schweitzer's was a double and resulted in a run.

Al Nixon kept up his good work, his base running being one of the big features of the game. He got two hits, two stolen bases and a couple of hits in five times up. When he is on the bases he runs all the time.

Bisland pulled a most unique play in the fourth round. With Smith on third he hit to first and Abstein flagged the ball and came running in on the line to tag Bisland and at the same time hold Smith at third. But just as Abstein went to tag Bisland he ducked and avaided the ball and reached first. He did not go out of line, the play being a clean trick.

After the hits of Tuesday's melee had been counted it was found that six Crackers were batting above .300.

Every Cracker gave his average a good boost. Nixon broke into the .400 class with two stolen bases and a couple of hits in five times up. When he is on the bases he runs all the time.

AFTER CHEERING PLAY VOICE WENT DEAD.

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., Aug. 27.—Ernest Wellman cheered when a Grand Rapids Central league player made a sensational play in a close game. Wellman's voice was heard above all others at the ball park, but when he tried to repeat he produced only a wheezy whisper. Physicians said today the injury to Wellman's vocal chords may never be overcome.

RICHARDS IS BIG WINNER

Texan Ran Away With Everything at the Motordrome on Tuesday Evening, Making the Fastest Time

After a week's layoff the riders came back on the "dreme saucer Tuesday night and pulled off some nice races. The crowd was small but enthusiastic and more than once cheered the finish.

Tex Richards opened up again and started his old winning game. He won the second heat in the Southern championship race in fast time and when the final heat came he put his old boat in front and held it there until the red flag was waved at him.

The Colonel W. L. Peel sweepstakes brought out some clever riding. Tex Richards copped every heat but had a hard time pulling the stunt. The second heat was the best heat of the night. Tex was penned near the finish and was forced to ride high to pass the bunch and when he shoved his machine ahead the crowd came to their feet.

It took Morty Graves three heats to win from George Renel in their matched race. Renel copped the first heat and Graves the second. The third found the black and white rider leading at the finish.

Here are the complete results of last night's races:

SOUTHERN CHAMPIONSHIP.

(1-mile heats; 2 miles final; 25 points for first, 15 points for second and 5 for third.)

First heat: Henry Lewis, first; Harry Glenn, second. Time, 3-5.

Second heat: Wilmer Richards, first; Freddie Luther, second. Time, 1:26.

Final: Wilmer Richards, first; Freddie Luther, second; Henry Lewis, third. Time, 3:08 3-5.

SPECIAL MATCH RACE.

First heat (1 mile): Won by George Renel. Time, 44.

Second heat (4 miles). Won by Morty Graves. Time, 2:11 2-5.

Third heat: (3 miles:) Won by Morty Graves. Time, 2:11 2-5.

W. L. PEEL SWEEPSTAKES.

(French point system, 10 for first; 6 for second; 3 for third; three heats, 3, 4 and 5 miles.)

First heat (4 miles:) Wilmer Richards, first; Freddie Luther, second; Henry Glenn, third. Time, 2:08 3-5.

Second heat (4 miles): Wilmer Richards, first. Freddie Luther, second; Henry Lewis, third. Time, 2:55.

Third heat (5 miles): Wilmer Richards, first; Freddie Luther, second; Harry Glenn, third. Time, 3:43.

Points: Richards, 30; Luther, 18; Glenn, 6; Lewis, 3.

Foreigners In Golf Tourney

NEW YORK, Aug. 27.—With an entry list of 145 amateur golfers, including two from England and a pair from Canada, the annual national championship tournament of the United States Golf association which begins at Garden City next Monday and lasts through out the week, promises to be unusually interesting. Many golf clubs in the southern and western states have furnished entrants and all the eastern golf centers will be liberally represented.

The British golfers who will strive for the American title are Victor Maude, of the Prince Golf club, and Abe Mitchell, of the Cantalupe Golf club, England. The latter was runner-up to John Ball in the final for the 1912 British championship.

Among the most prominent American players are Jerome D. Travers, of Upper Montclair, N. J., three winner and present holder of the title; Walter J. Travis, of Garden City, another three-time winner, and Findlay S. Douglas, of Chicago; W. C. M. Byers, Allegheny, Pa.; W. C. Fownes, Jr., Pittsburg, and R. A. Gardner, Hinsdale, G. C., Illinois, each of whom is a former national champion.

Chicago will have a strong delegation including Charles Evans, Jr., K. L. Ames, Jr., Ben Thaddeus and Paul H. Hunter. Among New England aspirants are Francis Ouimet, of Woodlawn, and Heinrich Schmidt, of Worcester, Mass.

CHANGES FOR JUST A DAY

That double-header from the Turtles certainly helped the Crackers. True the Gulls were downing the Barons at the same time, but in only one game. This leaves the Crackers seated among the two teams. A half a game was gained Tuesday. Montgomery seems to be entirely out of it. The 'Noogas put a crimp in them Tuesday.

The Athletics, the Naps and the Senators all won Tuesday so there is no change in the standing.

Both the Phillies and the Giants got away with their games.

Keep Up Flight

OBAN, Scotland, Aug. 27.—Harry G. Hawker, who is flying against time around the British Isles for a prize of $25,000, had reached this point, the end of the sixth stage of his flight, where he rested last night.

Leaving Drendnell Tuesday morning, he flew 134 miles to Cromarty in 120 minutes. After a brief stop there at 2:05 p. m. he resumed flight, reaching here at 5:55 p. m. He required 165 minutes to make the distance of fifty-four miles, owing to the fact that he had to battle against strong head winds most o fthe way.

He planned to leave soon for Dublin, his next objective point, but the fog decided him to remain here over night. He expects to resume his journey Wednesday morning.

One-Sided Score

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo., Aug. 27. In play of the Rocky Mountain polo tournamant, the Sheridan ranch polo team defeated the Denver Country club team by 10 5-4 to 5-4. Foxhall Keene, hurt in yesterday's playing, had not sufficiently recovered to permit his entering the second game which had been scheduled.

Welchonce Out to Lower Record for Number of Hits in One Season While Long Will Surely Score More Runs Than Any Other Player

Two new Southern leagu erecords—the on efor the greatest number of runs in a season and the largest number of hits—are certain to be hung up by Southern league players this season. It is Long who is going to set the mark for run-getting, while Harry Welchonce will bingle out more safeties than any batter who has yet atung the ball in this league.

The run-getting record was hung up by Gus Hill, back in 1905, when he crossed the pan 99 times. Already Tommy Long has scored 98 runs and with a dozen more games to be played there is no doubt but that he will better the mark made by Hill and at the same time set a figure which will long stand.

Harry Welchonce in his 132 games has hit safely 177 times, while the record is 192. This calls for just 15 more safeties, and it is believed that in the twelve remaining games,he will be able to jump over this mark. Harry has averaged more than one hit per game all season and playing on the home lot there is not the least doubt in the minds of his backers but that he will go right ahead at his usual clip and break the record.

At the same time that Welchonce is out to set a record for the largest number of hits ever made by a Southern league player, he also stands a most excellent chance of getting the prize as the leading individual batsman. Right now Dave Robertson, of Mobile, is the only player who is ahead of him, and a little spurt will go a long way towards putting the Cracker out in front.

Bob Messenger, the speedy Baron outfielder, is now at the top in the stolen base column with Fonseca, of the same team, holding the lead among the hurlers. This gives Atlanta and Birmingham the leading candidates for four of the five honors. Dave Robertson, of Mobile, is the most likely candidate for individual batting honors.

Through the games of Saturday Bob Messenger had pilfered 59 bags with D. Robertson next in line with 52. This comes Wells, of Birmingham, with 48.

There are five Atlanta players who have amassed more than 100 hits in season. This is something unusual and shows just what class of hitters compose the Cracker outfit. And several of the regulars now with the club have been here but a very short time. It being almost a sure thing that they would be over the 100 mark had they been playing all season.

THE SPORTLIGHT
BY GRANTLAND RICE

THE ANSWER.

The Yankee scout remarked to Chance,
"I've found the proper guy;
He has the sprinting speed of Cobb
And eke the batting eye;
He has the eye and arm and head,
And runs it flat in ten—
The bloke is there all seven ways—
And back around again."

Chance coldly looked upon the scout
And heaved a careworn sigh.
Said he, "I care not of his legs,
His arm or head or eye;
Go back and take another peek
Within his native nest;
Just tell me how his bunion is
And never mind the rest."

Rollie Zeider may or may not be playing standard ball just now. But the time is coming when Rollie will be there or thereabouts with his share of the general harvest. All he needs is his chance. We spent four days in a St. Louis hospital and have been batting .187 ever since. Rollie was there four weeks.

Here's another boost for the genial Rollie. When the keen-eyed surgeons started in to remove a pound of bone they were forced to work exclusively upon his foot.

THE MACS AGAIN.

As we have pointed out, the prevailing tendency appears to be towards the Macs, with McGraw, McGillicuddy, McDormott and McLoughlin. If you climb their family tree high enough it's even money you'll find their correct cognomenic status should be McJohnson, McMathewson and McCobb. Nothing to it.

VARDON'S PUTTING.

"If Harry Vardon is such a poor putter comparatively," writes a non-combatant, "how do you account for the fact that he has won five British championships when you also add that putting is one of the main scoring features of the game?"

When a golfer can play a midiron shot 180 yards away to within 3 feet of the pin and a mashie from 140 yards away up to within 3 feet and after missing the putt can still get par, the chances are that he is likely to have a fair score with the few he does manage to sink. As it is, the fellow can hardly ever score any better than 72 or 73.

Just why Vardon should be master of driver, brassie, spoon, cleek, iron, jigger, mashie and niblick and then be slave to his putter is merely another angle that makes golf quite a game when taken in its com-. posite details.

Then again it would be too much of a shock if there was even one golfer living unable to frame the reason and essence of an alibi.

AS TO BAWLING OUT THE UMP.

He bawled up the play as you slide in safe,
And he blew himself to a bust;
He waved you out when you beat the peg
In a scramble of spikes and dust;
So why not rise with a maudlin roar
And the brand of a certain word—
For of course you never missed one yourself
Or fanned with a pal on third.

THE DISCREPANCY.

The Athletics had 11 people on the hospital list, which accounts for the fact that they were only able to increase their lead to 9 games.

If they lose 8 or 10 more the gap is likely to drop to 7 games, provided the three who are left are not Collins, Baker and McInnis.

The American league must raise a tougher handicap than only 11 wounded and maimed if Cleveland, Washington or the Sox are to enter the post-season debate. Having gone this far at so much speed, the season's momentum will carry the others over, though nothing but their uniforms are left.

THE GIANT ANGLE.

The same is true of the Giants. McGraw might lose 12 or 15 of his regulars and make the finish close—but not close enough to count.

For this is the period of the year's play, when force of habit takes an unbreakable grip.

Naps and Phillies upset tradition until they reached the stretch and then gave vent to the old stuff. When you've never won it's a tougher battle in the stretch against the contender who has—and knows the way.

FABLE.

Once upon a time J. Evers and the Great Zim played in a series against the Glants and were not thrown off the field. They figured that their presence was needed in tough series and refused to weaken their club by being dispersed.

Moral—There are times when fiction can be made stranger than fact.

SETS RECORD EACH ROUND

CLEVELAND, Aug. 27.—Harry Vardon and Edward Ray, English professional golfers, touring the United States at the Mayfield club, defeated Joe K. Bole, city champion of Cleveland, and Eben M. Byers, of Pittsburg, 5 up in a 36-hole match.

In defeating Byers and Bole, Vardon broke the Mayfield course record, both for 18 and 36 holes. In the morning round he lowered the 18-hole record, held by Byers, from 72 to 67. In the afternoon he beat his own newly established record with 66, giving him 133 for 36 holes. The old 36-hole record was 138. In the afternoon round Vardon's partner, Ray, bettered the former 18-hole course record, doing it in 71. John D. Rockefeller was an enthusiastic spectator.

Syracuse university are likely to quit the hockey game.

HOLD BOXING TO BE LEGAL

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 27.—The death of John (Bull) Young was "unintentional by Jess Willard," according to the verdict of a coroner's jury rendered late Tuesday. The death was caused, the verdict said, "by contusion of the brain, due to a blow on the chin delivered by Jess Willard."

The prosecution had announced that the coroner's verdict would not affect the manslaughter charges against Willard and eleven others as a result of the fatal fight last week at Vernon arena. The bout will be an important point in the prosecution, according to Assistant District Attorney Ford, who has charge of the case.

"Prize fighting," he said "is illegal in California, although 'boxing' is permitted."

It was announced that there would be "nothing doing" at the Vernon arena until the last of September at the earliest.

Rain Put a Stop To Tennis Matches

NIAGARA ON THE LAKE, Ontario, Aug. 27.—A heavy downpour of rain put a stop to play in the preliminary round of the men's international championship singles matches under the auspices of the Canadian Lawn Tennis association. It was raining in the morning but a few matches were played between members. Yesterday afternoon rain fell in torrents.

In the matches played, Johnston, of San Francisco, won from Dineen, of Toronto, 6-0, 6-2; Bishell, of Buffalo, won from S. McLoughlin, of Medicine Hat, 6-0, 6-1; Apthart, of Cleveland, won from Potail, of Toronto, 6-4, 4-6, 7-5; Beard, of Ontario, champion, won from Franchott, of Niagara Falls, 6-2, 6-3; Royan, of Cleveland, won from Furbiss, Toronto, 6-2, 6-2; Griffin, of San Francisco, won from O'Grady, of Medicine Hat, 6-2, 6-1.

Was Good Bingle But Was Not a Hit

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., Aug. 27.—When it comes to hard luck in hitting one Johnson, the Lookouts' left gardener has the world beat. In the first game against the Turtles Saturday this particular personage hit the ball cleanly to center and yet was not credited with a bingle.

The bases were full at the time, Kroh, Flick and Coyle being upon the cushions. The blow was a smack to center that looked like a possible out. Flick failed to take a good lead and Schweitzer grabbing the ball on the first bounce pegged to Ward for a force out. Kroh scored and yet Johnson could not be given a hit. He secured merely a fielder's choice. Yes, some tough luck.

Montreal Makes Money From Sale of Players

BROOKLYN, N. Y., Aug. 27.—President Lychtenstein, of the Montreal club of the International league, announced yesterday at Ebbetts field the sale of two prominent Montreal players. Outfielder Gilhooly goes to the New York Americans in exchange for Pitcher Ray Caldwell and a cash consideration not stated. The Philadelphia Nationals secured Catcher Burns in exchange for Catcher Howley and two other players to be announced later.

Cornell Chinese Win Annual Athletic Meet

ITHACA, N. Y., Aug. 27.—The Cornell university track team won the annual intercollegiate track meet, participated in solely by Chinese students. This victory gives to the Cornell team permanent possession of the silver cup donated by the Chinese students' club of Harvard.

In the events Cornell scored an aggregate of 59 points, while Yale and Michigan tied for second place with 20 points each.

The Cornellians won eight firsts. Their individual star was B. H. Chen. W. H. Pan, Michigan, former intercollegiate champion of China, won most of the points for the Wolverines.

Moley Scours Bush Leagues

Manager Molesworth is uncertain as to whether he will be able to outnry to Cuba with the Barons after the close of the Southern league season. The chubby pilot has the difficult task before him of building up a club for next season, and this will probably require all of his time. It is probable that he will not be able to cruise to the Antilles.

"I am not certain," said Leader Molesworth, "as to whether I will be able to make the trip to Cuba or not. Shortly after the close of the Southern ?t is my present intention to visit at least four minor league clubs in search of promising young players. As the Southern league will close early in September I will be in a position to see games in four minor leagues which close about September 15.

"After I have scoured these little circuits I hope to go to the big leagues and see prospective Barons in action. Several players have been purchased by the majors, who I am anxious to secure, and I will be able to see them in action. In this manner it is easy to see exactly what a player is capable of doing."

Molesworth is intending to make a strenuous effort to pass the Billikens and the Crackers. He realizes the import of the present series with the Gulls and will present his strongest line up. The results of this week will decide the pennant winning club in the 1913 race. The Gulls will probably win.—Birmingham Age-Herald.

Two Keene Horses Returned to America

NEW YORK, Aug. 27.—Two famous race horses, Colon and Peter Pan, sons of the great Commando, which formerly were raced in the colors of the late James R. Keene, were taken off a liner from Europe today. Probably they will run in this country hereafter. The executors of the Keene estate will dispose of the horses at a non-reserved sale next week, together with the remainder of the Castleton stud.

LOOKOUTS LOSING MONEY; WORKING FOR NEXT SEASON

Notwithstanding the fact that the local club will lose between $2,600 and $2,800 this year the officials of the local association are fairly well satisfied in view of existing conditions. In comparison with the financial showing of the club last year the condition this season may be almost described as satisfactory, as the stockholders in 1912 lost between $6,000 and $7,000, according to the estimate of President Andrews.

In fixing the loss this year at from $2,600 to $2,800 President Andrews, who gave out the estimate, takes into consideration the gross revenue derived from the club, that is admissions, sale money, and a possible draft price from a major or a class AA club.

While the loss mentioned is a conservative estimate there is a faint possibility that the season might turn out practically even this year financially although it cannot be ascertained before next fall. The figure on the debit side of the ledger could be cleared out if one of the players secured in exchange for the Pole along with other considerations, should prove a sensation and sell for a huge figure next season. This is too much a matter of supposition to be included in a table of assets and liabilities, however, and local officials are not banking on the possibility to any great extent.

The attendance this year, in spite of the terrible blow handed the club's pennant chances by Elberfeld's injury and the downfall of Elston, will run far above last year. The present estimate is that the attendance will run as high as 75,000. This is an appreciable gain over the attendance of 1912. The figure would undoubtedly have reached 90,000 had the club remained in the pennant race as actively as it was after the return from the second southern invasion.

Camnitz Will Work For the Dooin Club

PITTSBURG, Aug. 27.—Howard Camnitz, former star pitcher of the Pittsburg National league club, accompanied by his wife and child, left here last night for Philadelphia. Camnitz and "Bobby" Byrne, third baseman of the local team, were traded last Saturday to the Philadelphia National league club, for Dolan and a cash consideration.

Camnitz said he was going to Philadelphia to do the best work within his power.

"It's baseball business, you know, to be transferred," he said.

Tulane Has Director

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 27.—G. A. Hanson, physical director of the University of Michigan for the past five years, was today appointed athletic director of Tulane university. Mr. Hanson is to report here September 15.

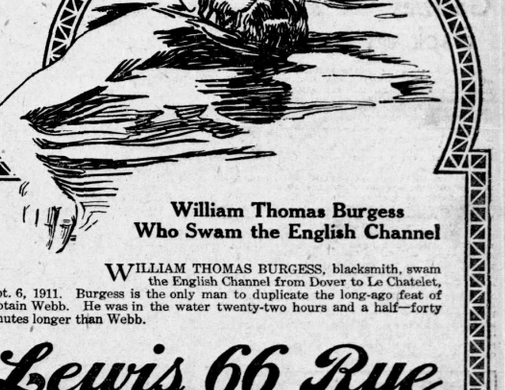
DePalma Sets Pace

ELGIN, Ill., Aug. 27.—Better than a mile a minute time was made on the Elgin automobile race course in the initial official practices for the races to be held Friday and Saturday. Ralph DePalma, winner of the two big races here last year, made the fastest lap. His time was 7:43 for the 8 1-2-mile track. Fresh oil made the track slippery and for this reason only three racing pilots engaged in the try-outs. Pullen and Wishart were the other two. Joe Dawson drove one lap.

Naps Get Catcher

QUINCY, Ill., Aug. 27.—"Josh" Billings, catcher for the Quincy Three-I club, received instructions today from the Cleveland American League club to report at Detroit September 6. Billings, who belonged to Topeka in the Western league, was recently sold to Omaha and goes to Cleveland from that city.

"AWAY ABOVE EVERYTHING"



William Thomas Burgess
Who Swam the English Channel

WILLIAM THOMAS BURGESS, blacksmith, swam the English Channel from Dover to Le Chatelet, Sept. 6, 1911. Burgess is the only man to duplicate the long-ago feat of Captain Webb. He was in the water twenty-two hours and a half—forty minutes longer than Webb.

Lewis 66 Rye

"Away Above Everything"

Burgess more than duplicated the record of Webb, but the record of Lewis 66 Rye, for purity, flavor and all round goodness, never has been duplicated. For more than 50 years it has been the recognized "Standard Whiskey of the South."

JOURNAL WANT AD Horoscope

AUGUST 28.

Children born on this date need special care and attention. They should not be allowed to criticise their companions and they should not be allowed to dwell upon the dark side of life.

Virgo children are very keen to observe and their attention must be directed to all that is beautiful and fine. They are quick students. They should find their companions among those who are jovial and cheerful in disposition.

They should not be given too much medicine nor drugs. Pure food, pure air, gentleness, kindness and firmness will impart wonderful health and strength.

The Journal Want Ads will be under favorable planetary conditions for the coming week in advertising real estate, apartments, houses to rent and the sale of rooming houses.

Some Want Ads are inserted free in The Journal. For charge ads, ask that they be sent for, or telephone them to Main 2000, or Atlanta 423.

POULTRY, PIGEONS AND LIVE STOCK

Prepare to Take Care of Your Feed This Year

GEORGIA undoubtedly has this year the largest feed crop that has ever been grown in this state, and especially does this apply to corn. The bountiful yield will no doubt make many people careless and not appreciate what they have, and I fear it will not be taken care of as it should be. We know that many western states have suffered terrible drouth and know that a great advantage will be produced in many sections that have heretofore furnished us a part of our supplies. We should appreciate this fact and use every effort to take care of and house every pound of feed that we possibly can this coming winter.

If the farmers of this country would cut and shock our tremendous corn crop, we would have enough feed in the stalks and fodder alone to feed and fatten a million or more head of cattle. It has been carefully figured out that the stalks and fodder of corn are worth 60 per cent of its value and the grain only 40 per cent, but how few people realize this. By cutting the present crop of corn now growing in Georgia, and shocking it in large shocks, it can be perfectly cured, corn, fodder and stalks, and by the use of a shredder, which can be had very cheap, even if several in a community had to combine and buy it, these stalks and fodder could be converted into the best roughage, that is far better than 50 per cent of the western hay that is sold to our people. And the present crop of corn now growing in Georgia, and shocking it in large shocks, it can be perfectly cured, corn, fodder and stalks, and by the use of a shredder, which can be had very cheap, even if several in a community had to combine and buy it, these stalks and fodder could be converted into the best roughage, that is far better than 50 per cent of the western hay that is sold to our people. And the same feed conditions will no doubt exist in many sections of the state as the cost now to gather the crop and house it, as it would be already shucked ready for use. It can be readily seen to be more economical to shock the corn than to pull the fodder and gather the corn, as it is done by the old method, and besides, it is not near as apt to be destroyed by weevils when shocked as it is when put into the crib.

These little things have to be guarded against, and it is this extra percentage of profit that our farmers are now wasting that we must learn to save. This tremendous amount of roughage will fatten thousands of head of cattle and horses, and even if all is not eaten thoroughly by the stock, it will go back into the land in a better condition to be utilized and fertilize the next growing crop than it would be if allowed to remain on the land in the shape of whole stalks. This saving will be to Georgia worth millions of dollars, and with nothing of the millions of pounds of meat that would be produced and good fertilizer to go back on the lands, and also in the saving of labor.

If the western farmers have all found out this to be the best method, why not our southern farmers wake up to this possibility and be benefitted by the experience of others? There should be in Georgia now, ready for distribution, at least 10,000 shredding machines, and the different implement manufacturers will be only too glad to furnish these to any one, on two or three years' time, which would enable you to pay for them a dozen times over before the last one is due.

There is no excuse for any corn being lost in shocks, if the shocks are made large enough. Many make the mistake of making them too small. By tying four stalks, two out of each row, together opposite each other, with a string, these four stalks make a form suitable for piling the corn around. It will make a shock that will not fall down, and make a shock around four stalks that will enable any one to put up a shock of corn in a few minutes. It is easily done and a great quantity can be saved by this method that will now go to waste throughout the entire state.

With our supply of cotton seed meal, a small amount of it sprinkled over the corn and the shredded corn dampened with salt water, we would have millions of tons of the finest feed possible to winter our cattle and horses on during the coming winter. And there is a ready market at $15 to $20 per ton for every ton of it that you do not need yourself. This is a much better way to realize a better per ton present price of hulls and hay, and the high price of beef, the man who will put into practice this method and will convert this feed through live stock into cash this winter is the man who will find himself independent this winter in making the money that many others are now letting go to waste.

Another important thing, if the farmers of this state will take advantage of the growing of crimson clover and plant a majority of the acres of their farm that is now in cotton and corn, during the month of September, millions of tons of crimson clover hay can be had in April to feed along with the shredded corn early in the spring, and while this crimson clover hay is growing and adding $20 to $30 worth of nitrogen to each acre it is being grown on during the winter, it will be producing from a ton to a ton and a half of hay per acre, which is a rich, clear profit. Georgia would not have to buy $20,000,000 worth of hay each year if our farmers would take advantage of these opportunities that we now have and would save this tremendous feed crop that is already made on our lands.

We have never been forced by necessity to save and economize as has been the case in many other sections of the country, but it is nigh time we were learning, and the sooner we begin the better off we will be. Will not the farmers of this state begin and try to save at least one-half of Georgia's corn stalks and fodder in the shape of shredded feed, and convert it into cash and keep in Atlanta some of the $50,000 per day that is now going away from us for beef and packing house products? Try shredding your corn this year, and when you once get into the habit of it, you will never regret it and allow this to go to waste as it now does, and you, your neighbors and the state, a good progressive man in a community can be the means of saving thousands of dollars in his section, and the sooner we get at this work and let others see the great benefits to be derived from it, the better off our country will be.

WE HAVE gotten in our fine importation of bulbs and they are the largest and best we have had for years. We import all of our bulbs direct from France and Holland, and they come from the best growers. It is time now to plant Paper White Narcissus, White Roman Hyacinths and Freesias. If you plant bulbs get your stock from Hastings and know you are getting the best.

THE BEST authorities on poultry raising claim that hens should be fed very little corn during the months that wheat is the very best feed during the moulting season. It is usually pretty hard to get good sound wheat at a reasonable price. We have bought one hundred bushels of extra fine stock and as long as it lasts we will sell it at $1.50 per bushel. You had better get a bag of this.

IF YOU love Canary birds it will pay you to come to our store and see the beautiful lot of songsters we have. They certainly are little beauties and going at $2.50 each. Guaranteed singers.

AUTOMOBILE OWNERS, ATTENTION!
No more worry about punctures. PUNCTURE SEALO solves the trouble.
PUNCTURE SEALO injected into your tubes will seal any puncture up to a twenty-penny nail, will preserve and lengthen the life of your tubes and lessen blow-outs by eliminating rim cuts. It will not stick to the tubes in the casing, will not gum, becomes hard or evaporate, is not effected by heat or cold weather, does not interfere with the removal of tubes or with vulcanizing.
PUNCTURE SEALO pays for itself many times a season by preventing punctures and rim cuts.
We charge less for PUNCTURE SEALO than any of our imitators. Good territory open to agents who write at once. We are in business to stay.
SAVE TEMPER, TROUBLE, TIME AND TIRES BY USING PUNCTURE SEALO.
Sold by dealers generally. Quart can, $2.50
Automobiles, 30 by 3, 34 by 4 . $7.00 per car
Other sizes in proportion.
Atlanta, Ga., 7, 17, '13.
John M. Smith, Puncture Sealo Co., Atlanta, Ga.:
Gentlemen—I have examined your preparation for the stoppage of punctures in rubber, "PUNCTURE SEALO," and have found that it contains no substance injurious to rubber. It has a decided advantage in that it may be used in the coldest weather without freezing.
Yours very truly,
(Signed) EDGAR EVERHART,
Chemist.

IN THE REAL ESTATE FIELD

Unusual Number of Cash Offers a Feature of the Market Just Now, and Well Posted People Look for Decided Revival From Now on—Bonds for Title Recorded Wednesday Show Wide Range—Ligingston Apartments Almost Ready

A feature of the market just now is the number of cash offers that are being made. One large cash transaction has just been closed, and two large cash offers have been made.

This condition is explained in two ways. People who have been hoarding their funds are now anxious to put them to work, and doing so, by offering cash, they hope to get a reduction in price.

Price reductions, except in spasmodic cases which might have occurred at any stage of the market, have been notable for their absence. There have been owners who have been willing to shade their profits, but few if any have sacrificed their holdings.

There were no announcements Wednesday, but several sales have been signed in the preliminary stage, and a great increase of inquiries was noted Tuesday and Wednesday. The latter condition is doubtless due to the conclusion of the Frank trial. That trial, during its long course, attracted attention from business. Now that it is over, people are once more turning to advertisements and are calling up their agents for real estate information.

Well posted people predict a decided revival from now on. Money, they expect, will be cheap and plentiful. They base this prediction largely on the splendid cotton crop and high prices that it is believed will continue to prevail.

VOLUME OF TRANSFERS

An unusually varied assortment of bonds for title went to record on Wednesday.

These included sales of $7,000 on Hurt street; sales of $6,000 and $5,000 on Fifteenth street at Center, and smaller transactions on Piedmont, Blue Ridge and Greenwood avenues.

Most of these involved residences, for which here is a seasonable and active demand just now.

APARTMENT HOUSE NOTE.

B. M. Grant & Co. have been appointed rentiing agents for the Livingston apartment house at North avenue and Willow street, a $75,000 structure that will be ready for occupancy on November 15.

This is a three-story brick building containing thirty-two apartmetns, arranged in three and four-room housekeeping apartments, with up-to-date features. There will be mechanical refrigeration and a garage discerning plant for each apartment, as well as service elevators and a vacuum cleaner and house telephones.

The floors will be hardwood. A court in the middle of the building will afford light, air and an attractive outlook.

THAW WINS INITIAL MOVE FOR LIBERTY

Crowd Cheers as Judge Rules Out New York State From Court Room

(By Associated Press.)

SHERBROOKE, Quebec, Aug. 27.—New York state was ruled out of court here today during a dramatic preliminary skirmish with lawyers for Harry K. Thaw, fighting deportation.

Superior Judge Globensky, hearing arguments of Thaw's counsel on a motion to discontinue a writ of habeas corpus, absolutely refused to entertain the objections of Hector Verret, representing New York. This was greeted with a wild outburst of cheering by a thousand Canadian spectators. Thaw rising, bowed in acknowledgement.

"Hooray for the British flag! Hooray for Harry Thaw!" shrieked men and women standing on chairs waving handkerchiefs, parasols and hats.

Thaw bowed three times, like a stage star taking a curtain call before a sympathetic audience. His cheeks were flushed, his big brown eyes shone but he maintained his composure.

Men and women struggled forward over chairs and benches to congratulate the prisoner.

When the New Yorkers and their Canadian lawyers got back their breath, they assembled in their hotel. Mr. Jerome called reporters aside and dictated this statement:

"We, who represent here the state of New York, are entirely willing to comment on the scene that occurred in one of his majesty's courts today. The relations between the bar of the United States and the courts of the Dominion of Canada are most friendly and cordial, and we realize keenly the sense of humiliation experienced by our brethren in Canada who are assisting us. Mr. Jacobs, who is associated with us, is present and we would prefer not to say anything with reference to the occurrence of the morning."

Mr. Jerome turned toward Mr. Jacobs and the latter said:

"There is nothing I can say. I will say, though, that this is the first instance to my knowledge where such an outburst in any of our courts was not followed by the immediate clearing of the court."

THAW'S LAWYER INDIGNANT.

W. K. McKeown, Thaw's chief dominion lawyer, was indignant at the attitude of the New York state forces in their declaration that they would practically drag Thaw into court today.

"That might go in Dutchess county, N. Y.," he said, "but not in the district of St. Francis, Quebec. They might as well boast that they were going to batter down the jail doors and carry off Thaw by force. It is ridiculous. There must be some dignity about our court procedure. The state of New York cannot jump in and run things to suit itself at a moment's notice.

"We have no precedent in our desire and right to withdraw the writ of habeas corpus. If we choose to let our client stay in it is our affair. Getting him out is their trouble. The bungling commitment on which he is held specifies no time for this reason we believe that Thaw can demand trial by jury."

Thaw, in his hospital ward cell in the ancient jail, knew nothing of the approaching conflict over the increasingly complex phases of his case. When she retired last night after a day spent in furthering his "publicity campaign," now an obsession with him, he had been assured by his lawyers that he had to be secure in jail for several weeks to come and that the withdrawal of the habeas corpus writ was a mere formality already consummated. Thaw perfunctorily affixed his signature to the prayer for discontinuance and asked no questions.

READY TO SEIZE HIM.

Prepared for any contingency, John Mack, of Poughkeepsie, brought to Sherbrooke today Sheriff Drew, of Berlin, N. H., and Sheriff Richard Beattie and Deputy J. Brown, of Maidstone, Vt.

"If they put Harry Thaw across the border we want to be ready to seize him in either state," said Mack.

Mr. McKeown and J. N. Greenshields, Thaw's chief counsel, reached the court house shortly after 9 o'clock and went into conference with the judge. Crowds began to collect in the court room waiting for developments. It was apparent that the first skirmish would be over the habeas corpus writ issue.

MAY BLOCK WITHDRAWAL.

Hurrying from his chambers the judge instructed the sheriff that while he was unsleeked whether to sustain the withdrawal of the writ, Thaw should be brought into court during arguments on the question.

Nearly all of the lawyers for both sides were in court when this announcement was made. The news spread swiftly and the crowd began to grab seats and standing room.

William Travers Jerome, sent here as a representative of the state of New York in the proceedings, came into court at 9:50 and took a seat in the front row directly in front of the judge's bench. He had to convince an attendant of his connection with the case before the latter would give him a chair.

Thaw came into court at 10 o'clock wearing a new grey suit. He sat with his back to the spectators and began talking easily with his lawyers.

The court took papers in the case and began perusing them. Mr. C. Shuttleff for Thaw then addressed the court. "Your lordship," he said, "since this petitioner obtained a writ of habeas corpus he has filed a notice of discontinuance, thereby declaring that no other proceedings be had in this course. This action, I believe, is covered under our code of civil proceedure."

Here the lawyer referred to clauses in the code bearing on the case. "Then, before," he continued, "we stand in the position of having made no application for a writ."

CHEERS FOR THAW.

Hector Verret, of counsel for New York state, interrupted the proceedings to say that New York desired to resist the abandonment of the writ. "I do not wish to hear from your side of the case," said the court. "This is an ex parte proceeding."

As this practically sustained Thaw's lawyers, the crowd in the courtroom rose to its feet cheering.

While the cheering was at its height the clerk cried out that the case was adjourned until 3 o'clock this afternoon.

Thaw was brought to court in a cab in custody of two officers. He was not handcuffed. He showed evidences of having made a more careful toilet than has been his custom of late.

A battery of camera men scaled the judge's bench and snapped the entrance repeatedly. The old sheriff, Aylmer, greeted Thaw cordially, beamed at him, then began talking.

Thaw's face was flushed. He appeared to enjoy the attention he was attracting and laughed outright at the antics of the photographers.

The judge entered at 10:20. Everybody rose. As he took his seat,

"No. 867 ex-parte—case of Harry K. Thaw," read the clerk.

Composer of the "Holy City" Dies In Buxton Home

(By Associated Press.)

BUXTON, England, Aug. 27.—Michael Maybrick, English composer, who under the name of "Stephen Adams" wrote some o fthe most popular songs in the English language, among them "Nancy Lee," "The Warrier Bold" and the "Holy City," died here today aged sixty-nine.

He was a native of Liverpool, but had lived for many years in the Isle of Wight, where he devoted himself to municipal politics.

Michael Maybrick was a younger brother of James Maybrick, whose wife, Florence Maybrick, was sentenced to death in Liverpool in 1889 on a charge of poisoning him with arsenic. The trial caused an immense sensation throughout the world and sentiment was sharply divided as to her guilt or innocence.

Her sentence was commuted to penal servitude for life. She served sixteen years in prison and was released in 1905, after which she went to the United States.

Her brother-in-law, Michael Maybrick, took charge of her two children, whom she never saw after her release from prison.

Bankruptcy Petitions

Two voluntary petitions in bankruptcy, one accompanied by a petition for receiver, were filed Wednesday. Robert Shayne, the tailor, filed a petition representing liabilities of $14,797.51, and assets of $2,759.83.

The other petition was from the International Paper company, with liabilities $12,745.71 and assets $9,366.29. Alvin Richards was appointed receiver.

Not That Kind of Touch

(Saturday Evening Post.)

Cardinal Gibbons made the opening prayer at the last Democratic national convention in Baltimore.

There were two doorkeepers on the main door. One was a very devout Catholic and the other was not.

As the Cardinal came down the aisle to go to his home, the Catholic doorkeeper leaned across to the other and said:

"Hey, Jim, be sure to touch the cardinal when he goes out!"

"What pocket has he got it in?" asked Jim, hoarsely.

THEY WILL HIKE TO NEW YORK

Four Atlanta boys are going to walk from here to New York City on a bet.

They left Wednesday morning; the amount of the bet is $500; the condition of the bet is that they cover the distance in fifteen days.

The boys are:

Lloyd Snead, nineteen years old, of 236 Cooper street; Clarence Burel, eighteen years old, 79 West North avenue; Jack W. Lipscomb, twenty-two years old, 232 East Hunter street; F. J. Lipscomb, eighteen years old, same address. The last two are brothers.

In a conversation with George Allen, of the Central railroad, a friend of the boys, the subject of walking came up, and the upshot was that Allen bet them $500 they couldn't walk from Atlanta to New York in fifteen days.

The distance is something over 900 miles, which means that the boys must walk more than sixty miles per day. They realize this is pretty hard walking, but they are young and strong and are confident they will win their wager.

They will follow The Journal-Herald automobile route, otherwise known as the national highway. This is a matter, of course, since every one traveling from Atlanta to New York, by automobile, motorcycle, on foot, etc., follows this route.

At The Journal office they were supplied with route books which will be of invaluable aid to them in finding their way and keeping on the right road, and in place of an automobile speedometer they expect to use a pedometer, which is a little device for registering the distance you walk.

As a precaution against being mistaken for "hoboes," and the complications sometimes attendant on such a mistake, the boys will ask Mayor Woodward to give them a letter of introduction, and they will go armed also with copies of The Journal containing this story.

MAJOR SCOTT RETIRES FROM GEORGIA ROAD

J. H. Ellis Acting As General Manager Until Mr. Scott Regains His Health

AUGUSTA, Ga., Aug. 27.—W. L. Mapother, first vice president of the Louisville and Nashville railroad, announces that J. H. Ellis, secretary of the L. & N., is now acting general manager of the Georgia railroad. General Manager Thomas K. Scott has retired temporarily, so the statement goes, because of ill health.

Mr. Scott is nearly seventy years of age and has been at the head of the Georgia road for nearly twenty years.

MACON MAN ROBBED AND THROWN DOWN HIGH BANK

Negro Gets $119 From Victim and Proceeds to Hurl Him Into River

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

MACON, Ga., Aug. 27.—Plain clothes officers of Macon are searching for a negro, who last night held up and robbed Henry Cromer, a wealthy saw mill operator of south Georgia, of $119 and then threw him down a high embankment in East Macon, just across the river bridge from the main part of the city. Cromer was rescued by passersby, who heard his cries for help. The police were immediately notified of the robbery but a diligent search for an hour made by several officers failed to accomplish anything.

The only evidence the police hold is a hat that was lost by the black. It contains no evidence whatever upon which they might learn the identity of the robber.

Mr. Cromer was on his way to visit relatives on East Side when he was attacked by the robber.

MISTRESS OF "LINCOLN TOY SHOP" HAS PASSED

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 27.—Hundreds of children with tear-wet eyes today mourned the passing of "Miss Kate, the toy lady," whose funeral drew them to St. Mary's church. Miss Kate France was proprietor of a store known as the "Lincoln Toy Shop," because during the Civil war "Tad" Lincoln made all his purchases there and often accompanied by his father visited the place to feast his eyes on the treasures it contained. Miss France was sixty-three years old and had "grown up" with the shop.

Pruritis a Severe Form of Eczema

A Method of Home Treatment that is Very Effective.

There is probably no other remedy so well known as S. S. S. for the blood. And it is remarkably effective in that form of skin disease known as pruritis, or intense itching. The action of S. S. S. is rapid. It contains one ingredient, the active purpose of which is to stimulate the tissues to the healthy selection of its own essential nutriment. And the medical elements of this matchless blood purifier are just as essential to well-balanced health as the nutritious elements of the meats, grains, fats and sugars of our daily food. These facts are brought out in a highly interesting book on skin diseases, compiled by the medical department of the Swift Specific Co., 184 Swift Bldg., Atlanta, Ga. It is mailed free, together with a special letter of advice, to all who are struggling with a blood disease.

Get a bottle of S. S. S. to-day of your druggist. It will surprise you with its wonderful action in the blood.

Don't accept something offered you as "just as good." The only reason why anyone should not try to sell you S. S. S. is the large profit made on something cheaper from crude drugs. Beware of any attempt to persuade you to buy something in place of S. S. S.

DREW CAMINETTI WILL FACE "MILLIONAIRE JURY"

His Plea Will Be That He Did Not Propose to Live With Lola Norris

(By Associated Press.)

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Aug. 27.—With six jurors in the box the outlook today was for completion of the jury that is to try F. Drew Caminetti on a charge of violating the Mann act by having taken Lola Norris, of Sacramento, to Reno, Nev., in company with Maury I. Diggs and Marsha Warrintgon.

Chief interest in the case so far has attached to the qualification of prominent wealthy citizens to sit in judgment on the youthful defendant. A. L. White, a lumber dealer of Oakland; Francis J. Carolan, of Burlingame, capitalist, and clubman, and E. C. Bradley, of Berkley, former manager of the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph company, are three of the members of what the newspapers have begun to term the "millionaire jury."

A line of Caminetti's defense has been revealed in the examination of talesmen. It will be that Caminetti did not take the Norris girl to Reno for the purpose of living with her.

PRAISE FOR NAVY BOYS FROM MAYOR OF NEWPORT

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 27.—The sailing of the Atlantic fleet from Narragansett bay, prompted Mayor MacLeod, of Newport, to write a letter to Rear Admiral Badger, commander-in-chief, expressing regret at the departure of the officers and men and conveying his appreciation for the assistance the shore patrols rendered the local Newport police while lying off Newport.

"It is a source of pride in our navy," wrote Mayor McLeod, "that so many of the men can congregate in one place and conduct themselves in so orderly a manner that the residents and authorities regret the short duration of their stay."

Some Hints About Harness

From the Rural Farmer.

A harness room is a necessity in every barn. In this room should be kept all harness, combs, brushes, sponges, oil, tools and a medicine chest.

Never put away harness until you have dried it thoroughly. Do not allow knots in the traces and examine frequently every part of the harness for weak and worn places.
